COUNCIL VOTES TO ABOLISH EDUCATION BOARD AND PUT 5 TRUSTEES IN CHARGE OF SYSTEM

House Approves $14,000 Suit Against Talmadge

MOVE TO IMPEACH STATE FARM HEAD BEATEN, 97 TO 22

DEPARTMENT FUND RAISED TO $325,000

House Disagrees to All Senate Appropriations' Amendments; Action by Conference Is Assured.

A special house committee's recommendation that suits be instituted to recover approximately $14,000 from Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, was adopted by the full house, voting 114 to 31, Monday afternoon. The same body, in its morning session, had voted to raise the annual appropriation to the department, cut in the senate to $200,000 to $325,000.

Although read to the house, the supplemental report of Representative W. D. Lanier, of Richmond, asserting that in his opinion Talmadge's misconduct justified impeachment, was rejected, 97 to 22, after Lanier had made a futile effort to gain the floor on a point of personal privilege.

Six Violations Charged.

Accompanying the report of the committee, which may be echoed in both houses today, is a report of the senate investigating committee finding Talmadge guilty of violating the law in six instances. The house report asks the governor to confer with the attorney-general with reference to instituting the recovery suit.

Before reaching the report dealing with Talmadge, which also criticized George H. Carswell, former secretary of state, and of Colonel Sam Tate and Captain J. W. Barnett, former and present chairmen of the state highway board, the house had voted to disagree to all senate amendments to the general appropriations bill. When the senate declines to recede, as it is expected it will do, Chairman J. W. Culpepper, of the appropriations committee, will ask for the appointment of a conference committee.

Lobbying Probe.

Included in the new matter which was offered Monday was a resolution signed by Stewart, of Coffee; Ross, of Appling, and Stanton, of Ware, calling for the appointment of a committee to probe charges of lobbying against the passage of the textbook commission bill.

The resolution pointed out that the house, by a vote of 185 to 1, passed the bill, that Governor Russell advocated it in his campaign and that there are only five more working days and the bill is still in a committee of the senate," the resolution said:

"Whereas, the state capitol apparently is infested with school book trust lobbyists trying to defeat this bill, and

"Whereas, the Georgia Education Association, through printed pam-

Lost Indictment To Free Confessed Georgia Killer

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 17.—(AP) A Georgia sheriff today asked police to release Ben Powell, 51, because a murder indictment returned against him 21 years ago was lost in a flood and there are no living witnesses.

"So," the sheriff, R. J. Griffin of Baker county, Georgia, wrote, "there seems to be nothing we can do."

Detectives of the homicide squad said Powell confessed to killing his brother-in-law, Neil Tonney, in Newton, Ga., in 1910, by beating him on the head with the butt of a revolver.

He was arrested here July 23.

LONG COTTON PLAN ATTACKED, PRAISED IN MANY QUARTERS

Governors of South Issue Varied Statements Both For and Against Proposal by Louisianan.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Governor Huey Long's proposal to prohibit by legislation the raising of "a single bale of cotton during 1932" had received comment today from only four of the governors of cotton-growing states to whom the proposal had been telegraphed.

Only one of the four was in accord with the Louisiana governor's proposal. Governor Ibra Blackwood, of South Carolina, said he was "heartily in accord" with the suggestion and added a suggestion that there be a cotton-growing holiday "every other year."

While Governor Richard B. Russell said he would not comment on the proposal until he had studied the plan thoroughly, he was sent a telegram from Meriwether county farmers saying a resolution had been adopted at a mass meeting in Greenville Ga., Monday, "earnestly requesting" that he attend the meeting. A telegram also was sent Governor Long that "mass meeting Meriwether county farmers, Georgia, unanimously indorse your cotton plan."

Governor B. M. Miller, of Alabama, was "not interested" in the plan. He said "we do not legislate what the farmer shall do and shall not do in Alabama. The farmer plants what he pleases."

From Nashville, Tenn., Governor Henry H. Horton issued a statement saying he would not attend a conference suggested by Governor Long and that the Louisiana executive's proposal "is impractical and un-American to tell the farmer what he can't grow."

Governor Bilbo, of Mississippi, also said he did not favor Long's plan.

Governor Parnell, of Arkansas, was on a fishing trip and could not be reached for a statement; Governor Carlton, of Florida, was not in Tallahassee today; Governor O. Max Gardner, North Carolina, refused to comment until he had received Governor Long's telegram.

Meanwhile a letter was mailed from Columbia yesterday to the federal farm board by Congressman Hampton P. Fulmer, democrat, of the seventh South Carolina district, suggesting that as an immediate step toward relief of the cotton grower the board take over the present crop and sign up the farmers "not to plant any cotton in 1932."

Governor Murray said he would "co-operate gladly in any and all methods that are at all practical," and added the suggestion that the government destroy all "bollies and immature" cotton now on hand.

LONG'S PLAN INDORSED BY MERIWETHER FARMERS

GREENVILLE, Ga., Aug. 17.—At a mass meeting of leading Meriwether county farmers here today, the proposal of Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, that the cotton-growing states enact legislation to prohibit the growing of cotton in 1932, was unanimously indorsed.

The group wired Governor Richard B. Russell, urging him to accept Governor Long's invitation to attend a meeting in New Orleans next Friday, declaring that "upon the success of this movement depends the salvation of the grower."

N. F. Culpepper and Judge H. H. Revill were authorized to wire Governor Russell as follows:

"The farmers of Meriwether county

Dry Law as Issue Foreseen by Capper

ALEXANDRIA, Minn., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Senator Arthur Capper, republican, Kansas, in a statement today, said he believed public demand would force prohibition into the next presidential campaign as an issue.

If it did, he said, "the republican party can be expected to take the dry side and the democrats to lean toward the wet."

He said he expected renomination of President Herbert Hoover by the republicans and naming of Governor F. D. Roosevelt, of New York, as democratic candidate.

Senator Capper is vacationing here.

Vigorous Opposition To Hike in Southern Freight Rates Expressed by Shippers as I. C. C. Hearing Opens Here

A part of the Monday afternoon crowd at the interstate commerce commission hearing on the proposed 15 per cent freight rate increase. Presiding over the hearing in the rear center is Interstate Commerce Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman. On his right is General H. H. Hannah, chairman of the Tennessee railroad and public utility commission and president of the National Association of Railroad and Public Utility Commissions, and on his left, Hugh White, of the Alabama railroad and public utility commission. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

Concerted opposition to higher freight rates marked the first day's session of the interstate commerce commission's inquiry into the southeastern attitude toward a 15 per cent increase in such charges by railroads of the United States. Hearings began Monday at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, with Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman presiding. It was believed that at least four days will be required to clarify the southeastern viewpoint, with night sessions looming as probable.

Particularly vigorous was the opposition expressed by Georgia peach growers' representatives and those attending the hearings in behalf of cotton and textile organizations in this state. The former contended that 500,000 bushels of Georgia peaches are being allowed to rot on the trees this season because of a poor market and high freight rates, while a note of warning was sounded by leading cotton representatives that higher freight rates would cause manufacturers to ship exclusively by truck.

W. D. Anderson, president of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, Macon, was one of the principal speakers in opposition to a proposed increase in freight rates in the southeast. Appearing as representative of the American Cotton Manufacturers for the states of Georgia, North and South Carolina, Mr. Anderson told the officials that more and more cotton in this area is being transported by motor truck. Southern cotton manufacturers, he said, are in no position to absorb the proposed hike of 15 per cent in freight rates in either raw or finish products, and asserted that if the increase is approved the mills will have to carry all of the burden, as the buyers will not assume any portion of it.

"Georgia farmers," Mr. Anderson added, "are in common with the rest of the farmers of this section. They are in the worst shape they have ever been in. It is my opinion that the increased rate in freight transportation will drive the farmers' nose even further into the ground than it is at the present time."

"Let me give the railroads a bit of free advice," Mr. Anderson suggested. "I am a director of the Central of Georgia railroad myself, but I see that the officials of the railways are killing themselves when they ask for this freight increase. In doing this they are the same as asking the manufacturers to use trucks for transportation. More trucks will be put on the road and the railroads will be the ones to suffer. Coal, of all things, should not be advanced. The people of the south now have natural gas and crude oil that can be had cheap and if the railroads insist on raising the coal rates a large number of the manufacturers will turn to these methods and leave coal alone."

Appealing in behalf of the railroads was W. R. Cole, president of the

HIGHER OIL PRICES SEEN BY TEXANS

Sterling's Declaration of Martial Law Expected To Stabilize Industry.

KILGORE, Texas, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Higher prices for midcontinent crude and possible stabilization of the American petroleum industry were predicted by oil executives tonight as the great east Texas producing area, placed under martial law by Governor Ross S. Sterling, ceased to gush its flood of oil.

Nearly a thousand Texas national guardsmen were on duty in four east Texas counties to enforce Governor Sterling's order for a complete shutdown of the 1,600 producing oil and gas wells in the area.

No resistance had been met. The larger oil companies closed their wells before the soldiers arrived today to carry out the martial law proclamation issued at 6 a. m.

Leaders of the industry, with few exceptions, hailed Sterling's action. They expressed the view that with flush fields of Oklahoma already shutdown by Governor W. H. Murray's martial law edict and curtailment measures impending in Kansas, midcontinent crude prices would climb and there was real hope of stabilization.

E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute and head of the Barnsdall Corporation, said at Tulsa:

"The action of Governors Murray and Sterling will prevent physical destruction of property and will enable the authorities of the states to put into effect proper and orderly proration. The stabilization of the petroleum industry will follow the complete and orderly proration of the east Texas field."

Governor Sterling, himself an oil man, predicted higher crude prices and estimated the Texas and Oklahoma shutdowns would take about 1,000,000 barrels a day off the market.

He said martial law in east Texas will not be lifted until the state railroad commission has issued proration orders under the new state conservation law and is in a position to enforce such curtailment orders. The commission will be unable to act until after a hearing starting a week from tomorrow.

Governor Murray, who originated the idea of dealing with overproduction by declaring martial law, sent a message of congratulation to the Texas executive, and commented humorously: "He's got about as many soldiers as fought in the whole Mexican War."

Murray, who is holding out for a price of $1 a barrel in the face of a top now of 52 cents a barrel, said he had heard nothing from oil men concerning an increase.

Frank Prior, president of the Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, Standard of Indiana subsidiary, said the Texas shutdown undoubtedly would serve to stabilize the industry. R. M. Young, of the Carter Oil Company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, declared it was too early to venture a prediction. Homer F. Wilcox, another leader, sounded a note of caution, saying the good effect might be only temporary.

The Sinclair Oil and Gas Company today posted a price of 25 cents a barrel for east Texas crude, meeting the advance announced last week by the Magnolia Petroleum Company. Crude prices in Pennsylvania also were increased today, partly in response to the midcontinent shutdown.

Jack Dempsey Seeks Divorce, Charging 'Mental Cruelty'

RENO, Nev., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, filed suit for divorce from his actress wife, Estelle Taylor, here today, ending a romance that began six years ago.

The complaint, filed after a complete breakdown of negotiations whereby Miss Taylor sought to have Dempsey buy back from her for $100,000 the house he gave her as a wedding gift, charged mental cruelty, but did not go into detail.

"If I thought there was one chance in the world for Estelle and me to continue together I would never have brought this suit," Dempsey said.

"I am fond of Estelle and I always will like her, but it just couldn't be. She had her life to lead and I had mine. We were too different. I had my work to do. She had hers. There seemed to be no use to try any longer."

Dempsey said he wanted to get the case over with in a hurry—"to get out of here and go to work."

Robert E. Burns, his counsel, was not certain, however, that the case would be settled quickly. He pointed out that Dempsey's complaint was not accompanied by an answer in Miss Taylor's behalf and that this would mean that trial of the suit would be delayed until such time as she does file one.

BATTLE LOOMING IN CUBAN REVOLT

Machado Remains in Santa Clara Where Rebels Are Massed.

SANTA CLARA, Cuba, Aug. 17.—(AP)—President Gerardo Machado, of Cuba, tonight abandoned plans for returning to Havana when indications in this province, the hotbed of the revolution, pointed tonight to the possibility of imminent conflict between insurgents and loyalists.

The presidential train maintained a full head of steam on the siding here, but the arrival of Senate President Clemente Vazquez Bello lent strength to the apparently authentic information that the president's return would be postponed. The senate president, like Machado, is a native of Santa Clara province.

Several brushes between infantry and insurgents occurred over the province today.

All roads are carefully watched.

Neither news nor rumor could be had of Colonel Roberto Mendez Penate and Colonel Aurelio Hevia, two leaders in the uprising who are said to be operating in this section.

Airplanes flying over the city today dropped newspapers carrying pictures of former President Mario G. Menocal and Colonel Carlos Mendieta, with members of their staff, who arrived in Havana yesterday after their surrender in Pinar del Rio province. They are imprisoned now in Cabana fortress.

A military order making it necessary to have passes to leave or enter Havana after 7 o'clock was revoked in so far as it concerned Marianao, a nearby suburb.

Dr. Octavio Zubizarreta, interior secretary, today wired all mayors throughout the island to send him the names of newspaper men, native or foreign, working in their territory.

Colonel Roberto Mendez Penate has made no attempt to seek amnesty, it was revealed at the provincial palace. The president's newest edict grants 24 hours more grace to the rebels in giving up their arms.

About 4,000 troops have been poured into this province to supplement

GEORGIA GIRL SEES COMPANION SHOT

Friend of Former Nellie Lamar, of Augusta, Mysteriously Assailed.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 17.—(AP)—R. Wallace Kolb, bachelor sportsman and wealthy bakery executive, was operated on late today in a hospital here for a bullet wound in the thigh inflicted early this morning when he was forced from an automobile in which he was riding with Mrs. Nellie Greene, who was the former Miss Nellie Lamar, of Augusta, Ga. The assailant, who was not identified, fled.

Mrs. Greene, who was granted a legal separation two years ago from J. Woodall Greene, Baltimore attorney, told the officers Kolb, who is 30 years old, was shot after he had obeyed the gunman's order to "stick 'em up." Mrs. Greene climbed over a fence and ran to a house near-by for help.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carey Lamar, of Augusta, and a cousin of Joseph Russell Lamar, justice of the supreme court under President Taft. She also is a descendant of L. Q. C. Lamar, a famous Georgia aristocrat.

Officers here said they did not believe robbery was the motive for the attack on Kolb. Detectives assigned to the case were hampered at first in their investigation because Mrs. Greene gave her name as Mrs. Margaret Reamy and insisted her companion was wounded in a "simple holdup."

Kolb told officers his attacker, armed with a nickel-plated revolver, leaped on the running board of his car saying, "I've got a good notion to blow your brains out." He was forced to get out of the car and was then shot.

Mrs. Greene said she had known Kolb for some time. The shooting occurred about 2 o'clock.

MRS. GREENE LEFT HOME IN AUGUSTA 12 YEARS AGO

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Nellie Greene, reported companion of R. Wallace Kolb, bachelor sportsman and wealthy bakery executive, when he was shot by an unidentified assailant in Maryland, was the former Miss Nellie Lamar, of this city. She left here 12 years ago following her marriage to J. Woodall Greene, Baltimore attorney.

MOTOR TAG WAR REPRISALS SEEN

Wilson Will Retaliate If North Carolina Officials Refuse Mediation.

License tag war clouds grew darker over Georgia and North Carolina Monday as highway patrolmen of the latter state were instructed to enforce the tag law on Georgia truckmen, and Secretary of State John Wilson, of Georgia, awaited further word from North Carolina before doing a little warring in this state's behalf.

The situation, brought about Saturday through arrest of a Mather Brothers' truckman in Gastonia, N. C., for failure to have a North Carolina tag, failed to clear up as Georgia officials had hoped, believing that North Carolina had confused this state's motor carriers act and motor vehicles act.

In Fayetteville, N. C., Captain Charles D. Farmer, head of the highway patrol of that state, ordered the arrest of all truck drivers from Georgia and Kentucky on failure to display North Carolina license tags. This order was issued after W. B. Goodwin, of Augusta, was fined $10 and ordered to buy a North Carolina license tag. Captain Farmer said that it had been brought to his attention that a North Carolina truck owner carrying beans to Florida had been arrested in Georgia and compelled to pay a $67 fine and license fee.

North Carolina has a statute requiring trucks from other states to purchase licenses to operate over North Carolina highways, but the law has not been enforced except in the cases of trucks from states where similar statutes are enforced against North Carolina trucks.

While the tag controversy between Georgia and North Carolina promised to grow warmer, it became known that correspondence is being exchanged between the Virginia motor vehicle commissioner and the Georgia public service commission in regard to a fine imposed on a Virginia motor carrier for operating in Georgia.

Retaliation measures involving Georgia and several other states, arising from the motor carriers act, have been adjusted satisfactorily during the past few months, and Secretary of State Wilson said that he still hopes to get the present tangle straightened out, although, if North Carolina fails to listen to reason, the "war is on."

Madison Police Head Killed in Gun Fight

MADISON, Ga., Aug. 17.—Assistant Police Chief Percy Q. McAdams, 33, was killed, and Will Mallory, 55, farmer, was dangerously wounded on a downtown street here shortly before midnight as the former sought to arrest Clark Stevens, negro mechanic, on a charge of drunkenness. Stevens fled the scene.

McAdams, who had been a member of the Madison police force about three years, was shot three times in the chest, and one bullet took effect in Mallory's back.

McAdams, a native of Madison, is survived by his mother, Mrs. Effie McAdams, of Madison, and three brothers, John M., Jesse M. and Ira W. McAdams, all of Atlanta.

Milwaukeeans Offered Nickel Beer, Free Lunch

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 17.—(UP)—Real beer at five cents a glass, with free lunch thrown in, brought the gay nineties back to Wisconsin today.

Bartenders blamed over-production for forcing the price down to five cents a glass, but entered into further competition with sumptuous free lunches. Many saloons advertised "roast chicken," "roast duck," and "fried perch" free to all who would buy pre-prohibition beer at five cents a schooner.

Wisconsin has no state prohibition law. Saloons operate openly in most cities and bartenders sell liquor to all comers, taking a chance on serving an occasional federal prohibition agent by mistake.

TAMMANY SEEKS PROBE OF GRAFT IN G. O. P. CITIES

New York Democrats Petition Roosevelt for Investigation in State Republican Strongholds.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Tammany Hall tonight opened its drive for a democratic investigation of alleged corruption in upstate republican cities in reprisal for the inquiry into the democratic government of New York city by the republican-controlled Hofstadter committee.

In a letter to Governor Roosevelt, Senator John J. Dunnigan, spokesman for the democratic minority of the committee, demanded in Albany that the state comptroller, a democrat, be given the same powers in his examination of alleged irregularities in other parts of the state as given to the Hofstadter investigators.

He referred in particular to the proposal that the committee be given the right to grant general immunity to witnesses. Governor Roosevelt has called a special session of the legislature next week to consider a bill extending that authority.

Senator Dunnigan asked the governor to urge the legislature to grant the same power to State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine.

Charges Irregularities.

With the letter the democratic senator sent a long memorandum listing alleged irregularities in various parts of the state, ranging from "a shocking dissipation of public funds," to "collective and individual thievery" and "the shortage of thousands of dollars collected by justices of the peace."

Most of the towns and cities named in the memorandum are controlled by republican officials.

As the Tammany demand was made public, the prospect was seen by many political observers of a possible widening rift between Tammany and the governor, who has been mentioned prominently as a potential democratic presidential candidate in 1932.

In some quarters here it was predicted that if Governor Roosevelt should accede to the Tammany demand he would so arouse the ire of republicans as to block passage of any bill at the special session.

But if he should refuse to comply with the request of his own party, political commentators said, the result would be dissatisfaction in Tammany circles and possible estrangement of the governor and his potential supporters in Tamman, a situation seen by observers as inimical to his indorsement by Tammany as a presidential candidate.

Whatever step the governor takes, it is considered certain by politicians in both republican and democratic parties that it will have some bearing upon the availability of a New York man as the 1932 presidential candidate of the democrats.

To Bring Up Matters.

In his letter Senator Dunnigan served notice that he would bring up at the special session "matters which far transcend in urgent importance the subject submitted by the republicans for your action." (The extension of the Hofstadter committee's powers.) He gave no intimation of what he meant by these urgent matters.

Senator Dunnigan said in his memorandum that an investigation of 4,000 justices of the peace had revealed "shortages amounting to many thousands of dollars, representing fines collected and pocketed by the judges themselves." He mentioned in particular cases in Westchester, Rockland and Nassau counties.

The five-page memorandum began with the assertion that proof of the irregularities listed could be found in the records of the state comptroller who had investigated them.

Senator Dunnigan said they revealed "such incompetence and indifference as to stamp the guilty officials as deserving of vigorous prosecutions."

While Brooklyn police today were investigating the death of Walter B. Mezick, wealthy contractor whose family claimed he had been murdered, it was disclosed a representative of the Hofstadter committee had asked that the statements of sub-contractors of the dead man, taken in connection with the investigation of his death, be forwarded to the committee. It could not be learned whether the committee has planned to call Mr. Mezick as a witness in connection with its inquiry of Queens building contracts.

The contractor's body was found on a refuse heap in Queens last night, with the throat slashed.

LYLE'S PROPOSAL APPROVED AS AID IN MONEY CRISIS

School Paper, Signed by Mayor Key in Council Chamber When Action Is Taken, Will Go to Assembly at Once.

AIRPORT BUILDING PLAN IS REFERRED

Finance Committee To Pass on Arrangement; Lobbying Hit; Atlanta Legislation Is Offered.

Abolition of the board of education and substitution of a board of trustees to operate and maintain Atlanta public schools was voted overwhelmingly Monday afternoon by council, and the paper was sent at once to the Georgia assembly.

The measure was the feature paper of one of the busiest sessions of council in recent months, during which more legislative measures passed through the hoppers than in the past several years. The move was regarded as an effort to aid in solution of the acute fiscal problems facing the city government.

Immediately after passage of the measure, of which Councilman George B. Lyle, of the 11th ward, was author, Mayor James L. Key signed it while sitting in the council chamber, thus breaking a precedent. Representative George A. Eckford, of Fulton, sent over for a copy as soon as he was informed of its passage, and copies were rushed to all other members of the Fulton and DeKalb delegations as well as to Senators Ed L. Reagan and John Wesley Weekes.

The measure provides for election of a board of five trustees from the four quadrants into which this city is divided for numbering purposes, the fifth to come from the city at large. They are to be named by council. The mayor and chairman of the schools committee will be ex-officio members of the new board if the legislature sanctions the change.

Other Matters Considered.

Many other matters were considered with the following results:

1. Reference to the finance committee of a proposal of American Airways, Inc., to pay 25 years' rentals in advance in order to furnish $35,000 to the city to aid in erection of a $50,000 administration building at Candler field, Atlanta's airport.

2. Adoption of an ordinance making it a dischargable offense for any employe to lobby for passage of any legislative measures not having the approval of council. Councilman Raymond Curtis, of the tenth ward, was author of the measure.

3. Adoption of a measure offered by Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, calling on Governor Richard B. Russell not to approve any measure imposing an additional burden on the borough treasury without conferring with a special committee composed of Mayor Pro Tem. G. Everett Millican, Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of the finance committee of council, and Councilman William M. Rogers, chairman of the charter revision committee. Passage of the paper was featured by an at-

Duffee-Freeman Open 3-Day Exhibition Of de Wolfe-Karpen Furniture Creations

Section of the Georgian room on display at Duffee-Freeman's furniture exhibition representing the concerted genius of Karpen, furniture maker, and Elsie de Wolfe, designer. These noted factors in the furniture world are personified in the Georgian and Louis XV living rooms of their joint creation featuring the elaborate public exhibition Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Exhibition of the Elsie De Wolfe-designed and Karpen-produced furniture was opened Monday night at the Duffee-Freeman store amid brilliant ceremonies participated in by a large and colorful gathering of Atlanta's admirers of household arts.

Monday marked the first of three nightly displays especially arranged for the public by the Duffee-Freeman organization. Because of the notable achievement of a collaboration in De Wolfe skill and Karpen craftsmanship, an artistic program has been provided in keeping with the occasion.

"Furniture styles and home decoration have attracted keen attention on a wider scale than is usual in fields of artistic appeal," Grady Duffee, of the Atlanta concern, said Monday in commenting on opening of the exhibition. "It is rare that such talented artists in their respective callings, as Miss De Wolfe and Karpen, are brought into concerted effort, and we are gratified in being able to provide for this city the opportunity of observing the results of this happy combination."

Nathan Karpen and the Karpen decorator, Sterling Baldwin McDonald, have come to Atlanta for the occasion, Mr. Duffee pointed out. A feature of the program Monday night was an address on interior decorating by Mr. McDonald.

A musical program directed by Mary Griffith Dobbs, harpist, added to the night's general artistry. The musical program included selections by Mrs. Dobbs; vocal numbers by Mrs. Charles J. Warner, soprano; numbers by Walter Bedard Jr., mandocellist; V. B. Griffith and Margie Griffith in a mandolin-harp duet; L'Ella Griffith Bedard, pianist, and an attractive offering by the La-Fontaine school of dancing. Refreshments served by the Atlanta Woman's Club offered another popular element in the evening's entertainment. This program is to be repeated for the public tonight and Wednesday night from 8 to 10 o'clock in token of the unusual accomplishment in the field of furniture creation.

The widely-discussed display is centered in two large rooms constructed for the occasion on the sixth floor of the Duffee-Freeman store. A Georgian and a Louis XV living room are the focal points of the exhibition. With the room appointments, the furniture floor arrangement and all the articles of furniture and drapery in the two rooms styled and designed by the decorator, famed in three of the world's capitals, and executed by one of the world's favorite furniture makers, something that justly won an ovation of admiration from the throngs attending Monday night has been achieved.

Another feature of the elaborate exhibition is the Duffee-Freeman "home of ideas," comprising a complete nine-room home, reproduced with model furnishing, on the sixth floor of the store. It contains a living room, library, dining room, two bedrooms, a breakfast room, kitchen and a drapery studio.

EX-BANK PRESIDENT SEEKS $1,000,000 SUIT

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Climaxing an 18-year fight to regain assets of the defunct La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank, its former president, William Lorimer, known for a score of years as the "blond boss" of republicanism in Illinois, sought today in circuit court for permission to sue the Chicago Title & Trust Company for $1,000,000.

Lorimer said that if Judge John R. Caverly allows the suit, it will be instituted to help him keep a promise to repay every cent lost in the failure of his institution.

He charged that the Chicago Title & Trust Company while acting as receiver for the La Salle bank took over the Rosehill Cemetery Company stock on which the bank had made a down payment of $289,000 before it closed. He charged the bank had not been credited with this down payment and that the cemetery stock is now in a $1,000,000 trust fund that rightfully belongs to the depositors of the defunct bank.

TRIPLE KNIFE MURDER DESCRIBED BY WITNESS

Man Tells of Two Being Tied in Chairs and Made Targets for Stillettos.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Police today revealed details of what they called the most brutal murder in Brooklyn crime annals, the killing of three men who were made targets for flung knives in a speakeasy cellar.

The victims, Charles Maturo, Charles Simminelli and Joseph Barberi, were found dead in the cellar Friday, their heads crushed and their bodies covered with knife wounds.

Now, police said today, an eyewitness has told them how it happened. According to this man's statement, two girls had been assaulted in the speakeasy and returned with six men friends, identifying Maturo, Simminelli and Barberi as the men who had attacked them.

One by one, the witness said, the accused men were taken to the cellar, where they were made to sit on a chair while the six avengers hurled knives and stillettos. Each murder was completed with blackjacks.

The eyewitness said that he happened to be in the place at the time and when he saw what was happening he slipped under a table and watched. Working on the information he gave, police expected to make arrests soon.

Rattlesnake 'Victim' Hailed by Worshipers

BIG SANDY, Tenn., Aug. 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Louis Guire, woman evangelist known in central Tennessee as "Sister Smithers," was hailed by worshippers today as a woman of godliness.

"Sister Smithers" recently was bitten by a huge snake which she held aloft at a revival, defying it to strike. She was painfully injured, but refused any medical aid.

Today, however, a farmer at whose home she was taken after the incident, reported the swelling in her limbs had gone down, and that a fever was subsiding.

She will continue her revivals on complete recovery, the farmer said.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The guns of the battleships Arkansas and Wyoming are roaring on the southerin drill grounds, 50 miles off the Virginia Capes today, as approximately 1,000 midshipmen, future officers of the navy, test their ability as gunmen in their annual short range target practice which will bring the midshipmen's cruise to an end.

Rear Admiral C. C. Bloch, in command of the squadron, said if weather is favorable the Arkansas and Wyoming will remain on the drill grounds until Saturday.

Girl Mounts Stage, Helps in Quieting Vociferous Crowd

Arising out of excess enthusiasm over an act on the stage bill this week, the audience at the Fox theater actually stopped the show for five minutes Monday afternoon.

The performance was able to continue only after the curtain had dropped and Enrico Leide, Fox orchestra conductor, had delivered a thirty-second speech, and an unknown girl in the audience had climbed to the stage and forcefully expressed her opinion of the occurrence.

The Flash brothers, roller skating experts, caught the fancy of the crowd, which packed the big theater to its utmost capacity. The two youths took several bows to the continued applause but couldn't give an encore. Then the audience decided not to let the next act go on. Harry Savoy, comedian and master of ceremonies, was effectively driven from the stage by the good-natured "razz." The next performer, a comedy pianist, was unable to do anything. The noise drowned him out.

Then the unknown girl from the audience climbed the steps to the stage, strode across to front center and delivered her opinion. She expressed the idea, in embroidered language, that "this is Atlanta, Ga., not Birmingham or some other suburb. Shut up!"

Then Conductor Leide stepped out, explained in a few words that the show had to go on, on schedule, and begged for quiet. Evidently the crowd respects Conductor Leide. One of the strangest incidents in Atlanta's theater history ended and—the show went on.

WOOLWORTH HEAD SEES ADVANCE IN BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Business soon will be dipping its pen into black ink instead of red, Hubert T. Parson, president of F. W. Woolworth Company, said today on his return from Europe on the Leviathan.

He noted a steady improvement in business conditions in Europe, he said, adding "you still hear pessimistic talk from the bankers but I am convinced the turn has come and that the rank and file of business is encouraged. This is true in Germany, England and, especially, France.

He backed his opinions with figures from the experience of his own company. "On June 1 of this year our company was $2,000,000 behind our June 1 figure of last year," he said, "but on August 1 we were only $696,000 behind our figure for the same period a year ago. . . ."

WEST VIRGINIA STRIKE PARTIALLY TERMINATED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 17. Miners who laid down their tools six weeks ago in response to a strike call issued by the West Virginia mine workers, were returning to work today in eight camps on orders of the union.

D. A. Scott, vice president of the union, said the strike was being continued at "five or six" camps, and would be continued unless the men were permitted to retain membership in the union and maintain union locals after returning to work.

The strike was ended at Hernsdale, Dry Branch, Birch Fork, Leeval, Darby and the mines of the Widen Coal Company at Laing, Eskdale and Sharon on Cabin creek. At each of those mines, the union said, the miners were permitted to retain union membership and maintain union locals.

Britain's Drive for Markets In East Threat to U. S. Cotton

Recapture of Oriental Custom Would Mean More Demand for Inferior Russian and Indian Staples.

BY EDWARD STANLEY.

MANCHESTER, England, Aug. 17. (AP)—Britain's moves to recapture its lost cotton markets in the far east are full of meaning for American growers.

Besides reconditioning its plant and sales structure, it means that Lancashire will want cheap cotton, for the far east—China particularly—is almost exclusively a cheap cotton goods market.

Whether this means that much less American cotton will be consumed remains to be seen. The short-staple crops of India and Russia are cheaper cotton and they are used for cheap cloth.

With the English mills urged on every side to abandon their traditional standards of quality and "go after the business," it is only reasonable to assume that such will be the result. That has been the case so far this year.

The Lancashire Cotton Corporation, which is the leading "rationalized" organization, consolidating around 80 mills, and aiming to become the biggest cotton mill unit in the world, controlling 10,000,000 spindles, has been by far the biggest user of Russian cotton imported into England. Its use of Indian cotton has been reported as running as high as 4,000 bales weekly this summer.

This corporation is leading the way toward recapture of whatever part of the market Japan now holds that can be gained back. It hopes to add a billion square yards of cloth a year to Lancashire's present export trade.

This giant organization, incidentally, is likely to become a model for mergers of other English mills. It is backed indirectly by the Bank of England, and it is said that many of the mills entered into the agreement at the urgent behest of their own bankers.

Not the least of Lancashire's troubles were incurred by its peculiar banking arrangements and by the period of stock booming which followed the war.

The Lancashire Cotton Corporation is perfecting its own sales organization in England and it is planning to extend this service to foreign countries. It already is operating its purchasing organization on the Liverpool market, buying in bulk, and claims for great savings in this direction are made.

It already has about 7,000,000 spindles under its control now and is negotiating for more than a million more. The English cotton trade has developed horizontally, with the various processes of making and marketing cotton cloth separated.

This concern is proceeding along the vertical line. When it is perfected it is intended to confine production within each mill to a narrow range of products, and to concentrate fiercely on cheap cloth.

To do this effectively means introduction of the automatic loom on a far greater scale than England now uses it, although the device was invented by an Englishman. Indeed, Japan gained much of its lead over Lancashire by use of the automatic loom, where one worker tends as many as 16 looms.

As an indication of the English company's ideas for the future, it is experimenting with automatic looms where as many as 40 are tended by a single operator.

Looking at Life
by The Observer

Declare Yourself a Moratorium.

Germany was facing a crisis. It threatened disaster, not to Germany alone, but to the whole civilized world. Then President Hoover stepped into the breach with a proposal for a moratorium and the whole complexion of things changed.

Individuals face crises, too. There may come a time in any life when we are at the end of our rope. And if the crash comes, it will affect not only ourselves but also those nearest and dearest to us.

You can arrange in advance for a moratorium which will avert such a crisis in your life. It can be done, quite easily, through the use of life insurance. Pacific Mutual has several plans, simple, inexpensive, absolutely sure, which will step into the breach should one of us, as an individual, become crippled, as Germany did.

Take for instance, the popular Pacific Mutual "5-Way" policy. If you become disabled through sickness or injury, it enables you to take care of those hospital and medical bills and all the other incidentals which crop up at such a time. If your disability continues for an extended period, your life insurance premiums are waived but the protection itself remains in force. And, best of all, these extra benefits do not in any way reduce your life insurance which continues in force for the benefit of your family—or for your own benefit if you live to attain retirement years.

There are other ways, equally attractive, all inexpensive, of arranging for a moratorium against those crises that are certain to come into every life. Right now, with the fine object lesson furnished by President Hoover's moratorium proposals, would be a splendid time for you to learn how you can arrange for your "moratorium." Why not phone me, or drop me a card, today, and let me place this information before you? There will be no obligation of any kind.

Work for 100,000 Seen in Program Of U. S. Building

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Treasury officials estimate work for 100,000 additional men will be furnished this winter and in the next two years by the government's $700,000,000 public building program, about $500,000,000 of which is to be expended outside of the District of Columbia.

In all, approximately 150,000 men will be given employment directly and indirectly during the winter and as more projects get under way the number will be increased. At present government building construction is providing employment for 32,000.

The increase of 100,000 in employed on public buildings will result from the getting under way of a number of large and costly buildings and additional small projects.

Work will start before winter on new buildings in Chicago, South Bend, Ind., Philadelphia, parcel post building and postoffice annex at New York, Detroit, St. Louis, Jacksonville and Miami, Fla., Chattanooga and Knoxville. The cost of these total more than $50,000,000 while in Washington it is expected that building totaling about $37,000,000 will get under way.

Graf's First Visit To Great Britain To Be Made Today

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin will leave tomorrow morning for Hanworth field, London, with 21 passengers, and if all goes well will make the first peace-time landing of a German dirigible on English soil before the sun goes down.

After debarking some of its passengers and taking on others, the big airship will nose upwards for a 24-hour cruise over Great Britain. She will land again in London Wednesday evening, tie up overnight and begin the homeward flight Thursday morning.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, veteran commander, will be at the controls. The Archduke Anton, of Hapsburg, and Princess Ileana, his bride, had intended to make the trip but cancelled their passage because the time was inconvenient.

The Graf's original plans called for the journey last month but it was postponed on account of the financial crisis. She flew over England some months ago but did not moor.

The dirigible returned from Essen this morning with 24 passengers after a week-end cruise and took off two hours later for a flight over Lake Constance with 39 passengers.

'BAMA JURY GATHERS DATA ON "BRIBERY"

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Montgomery county grand jury today received testimony from key witnesses in its investigation of charges of attempted bribery of a legislative official and bill tampering in connection with the passage of the Jefferson county license commissioner act.

Resuming its investigation after two recesses to permit assembling of evidence, the first witness called before the investigating body was Pete B. Jarman Jr., secretary of state.

Jarman was followed into the chambers of the grand jury by Representative Amzi Barber, of Jefferson county, who asked the grand jury to investigate charges his bill creating the license commissioner office was substituted, and Earl Speight, secretary of the senate, who reported to Governor B. M. Miller that he had been offered a bribe of $1,000 "to lose" the Davis anti-slot machine measure.

LABOR FEDERATION FAVORS WORLD COURT

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 17. (UP)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor voted today to favor the entrance of the United States into the World Court in accordance with the Root formula.

"An examination of the protocols of the World Court," said William Green, president, "leads the council to the conclusion that the interests of the United States are adequately protected. It is the opinion of the council that the senate of the United States would serve the cause of international peace and good will by prompt approval of the recommendations made by President Hoover providing for our adherence to the World Court."

A delegation of strikers from the Patterson (N. J.) silk mills was received by the council, which promised co-operation in the fight for higher wages and better working conditions.

PRESIDENCY OF CHILE RESIGNED BY MONTERO

Leader Steps Down To Conduct Campaign for October Election.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 17.—(AP) Acting President Juan Esteban Montero, of Chile, resigned today.

He was succeeded by Manuel Trucco, former director general of Chilean railways.

Montero explained he was stepping down in order to carry on his campaign as a private citizen. Manuel Trucco, minister of interior, will succeed him automatically.

It was expected tonight the cabinet would submit its combined resignation tomorrow and that it would not be accepted.

The election, to be held October 4, is for the full six-year term. Montero will have the support of the conservative, liberal, radical and union republican parties, the Union Civica and the Association of Professional People.

His acceptance of the nomination was expected to result in the amalgamation of opposition forces behind a single candidate.

The nomination was tended the acting president by a committee which waited on him at the presidential palace. A large crowd assembled in the plaza, shouting, "Hail our new president!"

"I have been hesitant about accepting the nomination until I was assured of the united co-operation of the people in aiding me to carry on the heavy responsibilities of office resulting from the grave situation the nation finds itself in," Montero said later in an interview.

"I shall give my best effort to lead Chile on to new prosperity and happiness if elected, and can promise everyone honest and constitutional government."

WIFE EXPRESSES FAITH IN WOUNDED SENATOR

Jersey Lawmaker Faces Impeachment as Girl Is Held in Shooting.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—As New Jersey officials today investigated the official conduct of State Senator Roy T. Yates, shot and seriously wounded last Friday in an apartment here, his wife and daughters publicly expressed their faith in him.

Cheered by the first encouraging news from his hospital bedside, Mrs. Yates said his recovery was "the only matter of concern" to her.

"We are praying day and night," she asserted. "After having seen him and talked to him, I am certain he will be spared to us for many years to come."

Meanwhile, Ruth Jayne Cranmer, in whose apartment the shooting occurred, was reported by Bellevue hospital to be recovered from the hysteria and bruises for which she had been treated. When she is discharged tomorrow morning, police will take her to headquarters to appear in the line-up. Later, she will be arraigned on a charge of suspicion on felonious assault.

Mrs. Hannah Cranmer, of Media, Pa., spent last night in her daughter's West 89th street apartment and went to see her this afternoon in the hospital. They talked a short time.

"I am sorry for them both," the mother said later. "That is the reason I am here. This was the result of drinking."

The Ruptured and Crippled hospital, where Yates is a patient, reported his condition as critical. Following an operation early Saturday morning, he has had three blood transfusions.

New Jersey officials were investigating the employment of Miss Cranmer by a commission of which Yates was chairman. Governor Larson has asked for the facts and a movement is under way to have Yates, a republican, impeached by the senate.

Records in the secretary of state's office show a railroad pass was issued to Ruth Cranmer, "committee clerk." Checks were found in her apartment in payment of expenses incurred as a special employe of the pension survey commission of which Yates was head.

Police learned a permit was obtained in 1928 by Yates for the gun found outside the apartment and with which the shooting was done. This permit was obtained in New Jersey and was not valid in New York. Although it had been renewed in 1929 and 1930, it was not renewed this year.

FOUR EXECUTED IN PENNSYLVANIA

BELLEFONE, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP) Frank Cantilla, alias the "Ace of Spades;" Frank Powell, Carl Crow and Joseph Parsi died in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary here today for a murder they committed three years ago. A fifth member of the bootlegging gang, convicted of killing Louis Hoffman on his father's Cambria county farm, is serving a life sentence.

The electrocutions today marked the second time in the history of Pennsylvania that four men have died in the electric chair for the murder of a man. On March 7, 1927, four Philadelphia gangsters were executed for killing a Philadelphia policeman while attempting to escape after robbing a bank in the Olney section of that city.

MRS. OSCAR W. BROCK REPORTED IMPROVING

The condition of Mrs. Oscar W. Brock, 2099 Hardee street, wife of the business secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, who was reported seriously injured in an automobile collision Monday, was said to be slightly better Monday afternoon at the private hospital to which she was taken after being given first aid at Grady hospital.

Mrs. Brock received severe cuts about the neck and face and probable internal injuries, it was said, when the car in which she, her husband and two others were riding, figured in a collision with a machine driven by Miss Annie McElroy, 787 Virginia circle. Mr. Brock was slightly hurt as were H. G. Brock, 1166 Ponce de Leon avenue, and Miss Annie Mae McGuire, 295 Wellington street. Miss McElroy was not injured.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Miss Edna Burdett, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Burdett, of 203 West Hamilton avenue, Tampa, Fla., was recovering in Temple University hospital today from a brochoscopic operation in which a small hairpin she had swallowed 13 years ago was removed from her left lung. Miss Burdett expects to return to her home tomorrow.

WOMAN EXONERATED IN 'TORCH' SLAYINGS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 17.—(AP) Prosecutor Albert J. Rapp said today that questioning of the three torch slayers who killed and burned two young couples near here last Tuesday had convinced him that Miss Catherine Keller, friend of one of the slayers, was not involved in the killings.

Dr. Edwin C. Ganzhorn, coroner, announced today that an autopsy on the bodies of the two girl victims of the torch slayers showed that each had been criminally attacked.

The autopsy was made by Dr. John C. Bugher, of the department of pathology at the University of Michigan. The findings showed that each of the two girls, Vivian Gold and Anna May Harrison, had suffered skull fractures. This, the coroner said, made it impossible to say whether they were conscious at the time the slayers applied the torch to the automobile in which their bodies with those of Harry Lore and Thomas Wheatley, were found on a country road.

LINDBERGHS AWAITING STORMS' ABATEMENT

TOKYO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The flying Lindberghs were just around the corner tonight from their vacation land of Japan, waiting at Petropavlovsk on Kamchatka peninsula for thunderstorms to wear themselves out on the kurile Islands.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife, Anne, dubbed "the little blue goose" by the Eskimo women at Aklavik because of her flying abilities, had hoped to fly the 897 miles tomorrow from Petropavlovsk to Nemuro on Hakkaido Island 613 miles north of here. Storms and reports of fog further north deterred them.

Interviews with the fliers in the Russian town, a center for the mining and fishing industries, indicated they were in good spirits and highly enthusiastic over their trip. Thus far they have flown across the North American continent to the northern tip of Alaska and on down across the ice-cluttered Bering Sea to Siberia.

Meanwhile Japan is excited and thrilled over the coming visit.

The Lindberghs' first contact with Japanese customs and people, outside of the few officials they have met elsewhere, will be at Nemuro, which tonight was said to have only two untenanted hotel rooms—held for the visitors.

Nemuro is not large, and the inrush of newspapermen, news photographers, officials and the merely curious has taken all the available accommodations.

There were 89 reporters and 27 camera men here tonight, and more coming. Two newspapers sent chartered airplanes to rush back pictures of the once Lone Eagle and his flying mate. One newspaper, determined to get every word from the lips of the American aviation oracle, sent an American girl stenographer to take a verbatim report of any interviews the Lindberghs give.

LAURA INGALLS PLANS START WITHIN TWO WEEKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Laura Ingalls, who gave up a theatrical career for aviation, announced tonight she might hop off by the end of next week on her long-distance solo flight across the Atlantic.

The 26-year-old native of Brooklyn flew for three hours over Floyd Bennett field today testing her plane. When she landed she denied she intended a surprise takeoff.

"I probably won't leave for two weeks," she said, "but I may get away late next week"

She said the weather was all that was holding her back, but she might fly to Boston some time this week.

Three other women have announced their intention of making trans-Atlantic flights: Ruth Nichols, who is recovering from injuries sustained on a first attempt and Elinor Smith, both of whom intend to fly alone, and Mrs. Geraldine Gray Loffredo, of Buffalo, who will be accompanied by a pilot.

The ambition of Miss Ingalls has been to be the first woman to fly solo to Europe.

HARRISON RENEWS TARIFF CHALLENGE

GULFPORT, Miss., Aug. 17.—(AP) In reply to published reports that Senator Dickinson, of Iowa, had accepted Senator Pat Harrison's challenge for a joint debate on the Smoot-Hawley tariff law, Senator Harrison today suggested an open forum debate.

"Until yesterday I had received no reply to my telegram of July 29 to Senator Dickinson and the republican national committee relative to a joint debate on the Smoot-Hawley tariff law.

"I have telegraphed today to Senator Dickinson and have sent a copy of the telegram to the republican national committee that I would be very glad to agree upon places and time for one or three debates and that we could leave details up to respective party organizations."

The only condition Senator Harrison has imposed is that the debate shall be in open forum and not as has been suggested, over the radio, one speaking from one point and the other speaking from another point.

ROSENWALD SCOFFS AT SMITH'S CHARGES

Bribery Accusation Termed Stale Afterthought of Attorney.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Julius Rosenwald's attorney today characterized as "a stale after-thought" Frank L. Smith's charges in an open letter that Rosenwald had offered him 10,000 shares of Sears-Roebuck stock as an inducement to abandon his campaign for the United States senate in 1926.

"The community knows Mr. Rosenwald; it also knows Frank Smith," the attorney, Leo F. Wormser, said.

The attorney said the letter, addressed to Professor Carroll F. Wooddy, of the University of Chicago, as a suggested additional chapter to a book written by Professor Wooddy about the 1926 senatorial campaign, was "relatively inconsequential" and, coming five years after the alleged incident took place, "a stale afterthought."

From Rosenwald himself no statement was forthcoming because his family, fearful the controversy might adversely affect his health, kept him ignorant of Smith's charges. He has been under care of a doctor for several months at his summer home in suburban Ravinia, mostly confined to bed.

"His physicians have issued strict orders that all controversial matters should be withheld from his (Rosenwald's) attention," the philanthropist's son, Lessing Rosenwald, said.

Smith, head of the Illinois commerce commission in 1926, was the successful republican candidate for the senate, but was refused his seat after a senatorial committee under the chairmanship of Senator James A. Reed, democrat, Missouri, reported their investigation disclosed his campaign had been financed largely by allegedly excessive donations by public utilities heads, especially Samuel Insull, Chicago power magnate.

Prior to its refusal to allow him a seat, the senate had rejected him as an appointee by Governor Len Small to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator William McKinley.

Professor Wooddy said he "had no comment to make on the details of the letter" but noted "with regret that Mr. Smith has selected as the moment for launching a reported new campaign for public office a time when Mr. Rosenwald's prolonged illness makes it difficult for him to speak for himself in the matter."

GAS TAX DISTRIBUTION ATTACKED IN FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 17. (AP)—John E. Mathews, leader of the big county bloc in the recent legislative sessions, announced today he will file suit tomorrow seeking to test the constitutionality of the new gas tax distribution act.

Suit, said Mathews, will be filed against Governor Carlton in Leon county circuit court, asking that the governor and other state officials be restrained from putting the new distribution into effect.

The act distributes 6 cents of the present 7 cents gasoline levy. It provides that 3 cents go to the state road department and 3 cents to counties; proportionately on the basis of area, population and money spent in construction of state roads.

MILLIONAIRE TO PAY $500 MONTHLY TO WIFE

B. Donnell, of Mrs. Searles' counsel.

Donnell said he expected further agreement soon regarding Searles' payments for attorneys' fees and witness costs in separate maintenance suits Mrs. Searles brought against him here and in New Jersey.

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA RAILWAY

Right after the war you got about TWO tire miles for one cent. Today you get nearer THIRTY

Why buy a Second-Choice Tire when First-Choice costs no more?

You expect bargains these days in everything you buy, but in almost no other article can you find such extraordinary value as in a Goodyear Tire.

Prices are the lowest in the history of the automobile — but, more than that, quality is the highest.

As an example, in 1918 the price of a 30 x 3½ cord (the commonest size) was $41.65. Now, a Goodyear balloon for the same make of car (size 28 x 4.75-19) sells for $8.55.

That's only about a fifth of the price; and it's putting it modestly to say that today's Goodyears will give three times the mileage.

HERE'S HOW TIRE VALUES HAVE SOARED IN RECENT YEARS

YEAR	29 x 4.40-21
1929	8.25
1930	8.25
1931	7.05

Right after the war you got about two tire miles for a cent. Today you get nearer thirty for a cent from Goodyears.

And that's not saying a word about the incomparably greater comfort and style and safety of the new standard All-Weather Tread Tire as Goodyear builds it now!

Isn't it short-sighted to risk delays and danger on thread-bare tires when the first-choice tire of the world can be bought at today's record-breaking low prices?

Of course it is! And when you buy new tires let your commonsense answer the question, "Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?"

SIX IMPORTANT FEATURES
GOODYEAR
ALL-WEATHER TREAD TIRE

1. Its center non-skid pattern is 10% deeper
2. Its shoulder non-skid pattern is 50% deeper
3. Riding ribs and outer non-skid blocks have outside bracing as on truck tires
4. Outer non-skid blocks are handsomely prismed into sidewalls
5. Cross sections are equal to Heavy Duty Requirements
6. Styled to 1931 motor car design

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 18, 1931.

ROOSEVELT'S COURAGE.

The fine courage of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in calling an extra session of the New York assembly to strengthen the hands of the legislative committee investigating municipal conduct in New York city, will strongly impress the country.

It is one of those examples, all too rare, of a man in a place of high responsibility, and with the plain prospect of higher advancement in public life, resolutely hewing to the line of duty in the public interest and no swerving to consult personal and political expediency.

The circumstances which have developed in the Seabury and Hofstatter investigations into judicial and administrative misconduct in New York city abundantly justify Governor Roosevelt's decision to leave no stone unturned to get at the facts.

Tammany Hall is responsible for the conduct of the city government. The officials are almost wholly of its making and responsibility for their good, or bad, behavior is naturally charged to the Tammany overlordship. Already Tammany judges have resigned under fire, been removed, and some condemned to prison. Other municipal officials are on the grill and are seeking escape through the court decision that the investigators have not the power to grant immunities and force witnesses to give essential testimony.

The legislature must supply the needed power to the committee and it is for that purpose that Governor Roosevelt has summoned the extra session to expedite a full expose of evil government in New York city.

The Tammany bosses and their followers are savagely opposed to the pending probe. They loudly cry that it is "persecution" and "a crucifixion of the democratic party of New York city." Such protests have had no effect upon Roosevelt. Not only does he feel his responsibility as chief executive to see the laws faithfully executed, but he has always maintained that an honest democratic party is the only kind entitled to respect and protection.

It is evident that Governor Roosevelt has held the balance of good and just government unweighted by personal political interest, but it is just as evident that the American people will back the fearless statesman who fights corruption wherever he finds it. They did it in the 70s in the case of Tilden and again in the 80s in the case of Cleveland, and again with Wilson in 1912, all of whom were confronted by like Tammany oligarchies and defaulters of duty as now confront Roosevelt.

The times are not benevolent toward official crimes or party perfidy, and Governor Roosevelt sets now an example of how honest and faithful government may be retrieved in both state and nation. For that exhibition he will stand before the people like Saul above his brethren.

The way to be sure to "get there" is to go through the air with the Lindberghs.

The legislature is about to wind up all but its loose ends.

Those western governors can shut down the oil spouters, but the political spouters defy them and win.

ACROPOLIS OF AVIATION.

Too much praise cannot be awarded to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for its persistence in pressing to consummation the creation of an adequate administration building at Candler field, our increasingly important Atlanta airport.

President Frank K. Shaw and the chairman of the chamber's aviation committee, Richard L. Hull Jr., so effectively combined their energies as to carry to success the project of their progressive fellow members. Councilman Joseph E. Berman, chairman of the council's aviation committee, co-operated wholeheartedly, until now the work of properly housing the activities connected with the aviation field is to be carried to prompt completion.

The city finances $35,000 of the cost, and the county commission adds the balance, $10,000 in cash and $5,000 in labor. These are most timely and profitable co-operations by those civic bodies.

Postal and commerce department authorities at Washington consider Atlanta the logical, eligible hub of present and future aviation developments in the southeastern section. They want government and commercial airplane communications centered here for the same reasons that long ago made this city the great hub of railway distribution.

The need for suitable accommodations at Candler field has long been indicated and could not be denied except to the great detriment of the aviation interests of the city. Now the lack is to be supplied and will go far to establish Atlanta as the acropolis of southeastern aviation distribution, east, west, north and south.

THE COLLAPSE IN CUBA.

The near collapse of the Menocal movement to overthrow the Machado government in Cuba should be welcome news in the United States, at least.

The Cuban people have had ample time since obtaining freedom and national standing to have learned the democratic and better method of reforming their government. Resort to the old revolutionary adventures against the military regimes of old Spain is the worst way for an independent Cuba to act.

The island of Cuba does not lend itself readily to revolutions under a republican system of governmental organization. It is largely a self-contained territory and when a revolutionist gets off on his wrong foot he finds it hard to gallop over a border into a safe refuge and must hide where he may in swamps or jungle until eventually captured.

There is a native inherited yen in the average Cuban to hold a government job and feed upon public pap. Hence it is that every unplaced Cuban who can afford a white collar is a potential and available revolutionist. But the successive failures of office-grabbing revolutions is slowly forming a new psychology in the island republic, and when the people over there settle down to creating government by ballots and not machetes, the sooner will their country become inviting to population and commerce, their industries revive, their capital investments increase, and Cuba become as she should, an orderly member of the sisterhood of American republics.

McBRIDE'S REAL WORRY.

The superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League states his conclusion that the people of the United States stand 3 to 1 in favor of retaining present prohibition laws.

That being true to him all need falls away from him to bother the party conventions of next year with demands for planks and candidates in favor of such prohibition as we now have.

No party and no president, by platform or personal prejudice, can successfully buck the resistance of three-fourths of the people to any modification of the 18th amendment or the Volstead act. Then why continue to make an issue of support of them by either party or any candidate for the presidency?

But Bre'r McBride, in the same breath, shouts that there must be "no pussyfooting" on the dry laws issue by any party or candidate. That is better evidence than all his vaporings that he does not believe that three-fourths of the people are beatifically happy over prohibition "as is." On the contrary, Mr. McBride is too intelligent and informed to so believe. His statement is buncombe.

At heart, he views with undoubted alarm the constantly rising tide of public opinion that present prohibition laws represent a mistaken public policy, are incapable of satisfactory enforcement, and will in time be changed to practical measures.

What flyers those Lindbergh turtle-doves are, to be sure!

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

More Babies, More Soldati.

The recent census gave Italy a population of over 42,000,000. In another twenty years, Signor Mussolini hopes the figure will be 60,000,000. The birth-rate of Italy has increased by 9 per cent in twenty-two months, thus giving the densest population of any country in Europe except Germany and Belgium.

It is recalled that Signor Mussolini pleaded for more babies a few years ago. Addressing an audience of women, he said then: "Ladies, Italy, to count for anything, should enter the second half of this century with a population not less than 60,000,000. Sixty million Italians will make felt the force of their strength in world history."

Statistics reveal that the population is 42,118,435, an increase of 3,407,859 over 1921. In ten years the population increase 6.1 per cent, behind only Russia and Germany, but the rate of increase has been greater in the few years since Mussolini inaugurated his campaign for large families. Since March, 1929, the birth-rate has been increasing steadily, the statistics show. The margin of births over deaths is almost twice as large as that of the nearest competitor, Germany. Fascist officials contend that the "more babies" campaign has been entirely responsible for the record. There were twenty-six children born for every 1,000 inhabitants in Italy last year, while the death-rate was 13.7 per thousand.

Where Pepys Was Rebuffed.

St. Dunstan-in-the-West, a famous English church, has given an excellent example of how to deal with old and dilapidated parish registers. Its records of christenings, marriages, and burials go back to 1558, the first year of Elizabeth's reign. Though no volumes are missing, the earlier ones were, in part, so decayed as to be almost beyond restoration, but the skill of the craftsmen in giving new life to crumbling paper approaches the miraculous. A restoration has been so finely done that these precious documents are now good for hundreds of years more.

London book lovers were invited to inspect the work of restoration at Bouverie House. Bouverie House was the appropriate place for the exhibition because of the traditional association of printers and publishers with the old Fleet Street church. Among famous writers mentioned in the records is Izaak Walton, who kept shop in Fleet street as early as 1614, and held a succession of parish offices.

Though St. Dunstan's does not mention Samuel Pepys, he mentions St. Dunstan's, noting in his diary a visit to the church where, during the sermon, he took the hands of two pretty girls. An incurable philanderer was Pepys, but candid withal, and he tells us that one of the damsels drew a pin in self-defense!

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

NOW IS THE TIME FOR REGULAR KIDS TO GET OUT INTO THE WATER.

Breathes there the dad with soul so dead who never to his kid has said, Sure Mike, the health department says the water's pure, so you can go in whenever and as often as you like.

I'm sincerely sorry about this question of water pollution. It is the one sour note in the modern version of "The Old Swimmin' Hole." When your dad and I were kids, children, we never hesitated to jump into any available body of water, indeed, I don't believe our parents or even the health board ever gave the question of the purity of the water any consideration.

As I remember it, all that ever worried your dad and me when we took a fancy for a little swim was (a) whether there was time for our hair to get good and dry before we showed up at home, and (b) whether we were likely to get "cramps" if we went in so soon after dinner or when we were all warm and flushed from a long trudge or run in the hot sun. These qualms do not bother regular kids nowadays, I suppose. You see, regular kids have regular folks, and regular folks don't mind if a fellow gets his hair wet now and then. The "cramp" legend is no longer a bar to enjoyment of swimming.

I want all our young readers to get this. If I were your dad or your doctor and you asked me I'd say it is quite all right for you to go in swimming whenever you want to, provided the water is pronounced pure by the local health authorities. No matter how cold or how deep the water may be, I assure you it is O. K. to swim in. No matter how warm you may be when you reach the swimming place, I assure you it is perfectly healthful to jump right in for your swim, just as healthful as it is to take a cold plunge or shower after brisk exercise, if you enjoy one.

Stay in as long as you wish and go in as many times a day as you wish, and half an hour is plenty of time to wait for a hearty dinner to get along out of your way before you engage in such vigorous exercise as swimming.

I am assuming you are not a dumbbell. I take it you are getting a fair education. Every boy or girl of school age who receives a fair education knows, of course, how to resuscitate a person rescued from drowning. If you are such a dumbbell that you don't know precisely how to do that, then I say you have no right going in or near the water at any time, or going on it in a boat.

urgently request you to attend the meeting called by Governor Huey P. Long at New Orleans, Friday, for the protection of cotton growers of the south. In the opinion of those attending today's meeting here, Governor Long's suggestion is the most important step that could possibly be taken for the benefit of growers."

The Meriwether county delegation also wired Governor Long of its action. All other Georgia counties were urged to take similar action at once.

SOUTH CAROLINA GOVERNOR IS IN ACCORD WITH PLAN

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Governor Ibra C. Blackwood today expressed himself as being "heartily in accord" with the suggestions of Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, for legislative action to control cotton acreage. At the same time he added the further suggestion that there be a cotton-growing holiday "every other year." His office sent the following telegram to Governor Long:

"Re telegram, Governor Blackwood absent from office on vacation. Over long-distance telephone advises he is in accord with your sentiments and better still if constitutional that laws should be passed prohibiting planting of cotton every other year. Governor Blackwood will co-operate to the fullest and if possible attend meeting in New Orleans Friday."

ALABAMA "NOT INTERESTED" IN PLAN, SAYS MILLER

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Governor B. M. Miller said today Alabama is "not interested" in the plan of Governor Huey Long, of Louisiana, to prohibit by legislation the raising of "a single bale of cotton during 1932."

"We do not legislate what the farmer shall do and shall not do in Alabama," Governor Miller said in discussing the plan. "The farmer plants what he pleases. The plan is no more practicable than the federal farm board's suggestion to plow under every third row as a means of reducing the cotton crop and raising the price of cotton.

"Through wise supervision from farm leaders, Alabama this year reduced its cotton crop 10 per cent and increased its food and feed crop 12 per cent. That's sound farm management. We will continue our plan, with stability of farm prices an inevitable result."

PLAN IS UN-AMERICAN, SAYS TENNESSEE EXECUTIVE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 7.—(AP) Governor Henry H. Horton today termed as "impractical and un-American" the cotton proposal of Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisana.

"It is impractical and un-American to tell the farmer what he can't grow," said Governor Horton. "He ought to be allowed to raise whatever he pleases so long as it is of benefit to the community."

The governor will not attend Governor Long's conference.

PROPOSAL NOT RECEIVED BY NORTH CAROLINA CHIEF

SHELBY, N. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Governor O. Max Gardner, at his home here, today had not received the proposal of Governor Huey Long, of Louisiana, that the cotton states pass laws prohibiting the growing of cotton in 1932.

He declined to discuss the proposal pending receipt of Governor Long's telegram and study of it.

ARKANSAS GOVERNOR ABSENT FROM CAPITAL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 17.—(AP)—A telegram from Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, containing his cotton reduction proposal was received at the governor's office today but Governor Parnell is on a fishing trip and could not be reached for a statement. He will return to the city Wednesday.

CARLTON IS ABSENT FROM FLORIDA CAPITAL

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Governor Carlton was not in the capital today and could not be reached for a statement on Governor Long's plan for a meeting to map out legislation to correct overproduction of cotton in the southern states.

J. C. Huskisson, secretary to the governor, said the Louisiana executive's telegram would be forwarded to Governor Carlton.

COUNTER PLAN OFFERED BY SOUTH CAROLINIAN

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—An act by congress to regulate the cotton acreage in 1932 was proposed today by Representative Hampton P. Fulmer, democrat, of the seventh South Carolina district, as one means of raising the price of cotton.

In a letter addressed to the federal farm board, Representative Fulmer suggested that as an immediate step toward relief of the cotton grower the board take over the present crop and sign up farmers "not to plant any cotton in 1932."

Representative Fulmer termed the board's proposal that every third row of cotton be plowed up "absurd and radical."

FEDERAL DESTRUCTION OF PRESENT CROP URGED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 17.—(AP) Governor Murray, in a telegram to James C. Stone, federal farm board head, today recommended government destruction of all immature cotton placed on the market this year to improve prices and to prevent waste.

The telegram said:

"The proposition of plowing up every third row of cotton is not possible in Oklahoma, because it violates the constitution in that it is a destruction of private property without due process of law and without compensation.

"My suggestion would be, in view of the small demand for bollies and immature cotton, for the government to destroy all such cotton now on hand and to discourage the picking and ginning of it this fall."

TWO MORE STATES REJECT BOARD'S PLAN ON COTTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The farm board's cotton destruction plan today was rejected by two more states, Arkansas and Oklahoma, bringing to at least seven the number of governors opposed to plowing under every third row of standing crop.

Counter proposals were presented by these states to add to the long list already offered as emergency measures to reduce supplies and increase prices.

Another state, New Mexico, replied, declining a definite answer pending a conference of cotton growers and farm leaders to be held August 29.

In view of Chairman Stone's indication that ten of the largest cotton states must agree, abandonment of the board's suggestion now seems certain.

Must Honest Men Use a Horse and Buggy Because Bandits Have Cars?

By Robert Quillen

Newspapers in various cities are printing a series of full-page advertisements in which readers are urged to pay their doctor bills.

The advertisements are prepared by an agency and paid for by local physicians.

Failure to pay the family physician is a custom as old as the practice of medicine.

The grocer, the ice man and the dry goods merchants must be paid promptly, for the need of their good will is constant; but money spent to keep the doctor in good humor may be wasted, for it is possible that he never will be needed again.

Moreover, his right to pay is open to question. In the hour of need he was an instrument of providence, deserving of undying gratitude; but when the patient is well again there is the possibility that he might have recovered without a doctor, and, in any case, it shouldn't take a day's wages to pay for one short call.

Many and varied are the reasons why the doctor is last of all servants to be paid, but chief of them and merged with all others is the fact that nobody can pay fare cheerfully if he has already had the ride.

The doctor loses much because he can't adopt the tactics of a collection agency without loss of dignity, and the use of anonymous advertising to plead his case is justified and commendable.

Yet it is advertising, and advertising in any form has always been looked upon as an unethical practice followed only by charlatans and quacks.

It isn't a matter of ethics, however, so much as a matter of good taste.

A practicing physician who advertised his skill would seem as vulgar and as absurd as a writing man who said: "I am wise and witty and you should read my stuff to improve your mind."

Yet a publisher can praise a writer's work without offending good taste, and physicians could accomplish much by means of unsigned advertisements without in any way endangering the dignity of their profession.

The need of intelligent advertising by physicians should be obvious to everybody.

The character of our civilization is determined by advertising.

Styles, customs, standards, faiths and follies are created and nurtured by newspaper and magazine advertisements.

Trace the origin of the average man's opinion of a motor oil, a radio, a mouth wash or a light ray and you will discover that he absorbed it from an ad.

And since the devil is fought best with fire, and the public is constantly tricked and trimmed by means of the charlatan's pseudo-scientific advertising, honest physicians could render no higher service than to harness this modern method of instruction in the interest of truth.

Shall honest men surrender all right to the air because fakers broadcast bosh?

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 17.—Leslie Howard remains in Hollywood and will free-lance, thus securing parts which are to his choice and which cannot be secured if he is under contract to any one company.

The English actor was given tempting offers by M.-G.-M. but they were casting him in parts which made graceful foils for lovely ladies rather than genuine acting vehicles. Howard has accepted the role of "Gallagher" in the story of that name to be made soon by Columbia—a newspaper tale which gives plenty of opportunity to the leading man.

The feature-player system in Hollywood is far more dangerous than any other route. A capable actor bolsters up weak moments for a beautiful star. He is like an able accompanist to a great musician. He may collect a good salary but he won't advance in point of art. Marion Davies considered Leslie Howard the best leading man she has had in Hollywood. He turned down an offer to play opposite her again because he felt the type role would not give him the best opportunities.

Hollywood receives shocks of this sort from time to time. Although money, in the main, is the ruling deity in all cases. Steichen refused $3,000 a week to glorify the motion picture with his master photography, his amazing conception of form and rhythm. He would rather work in his own way. But Lonsdale, who was so coquettish in his original dealings with the motion picture industry, has come to earth and to the studios, prepared to work under the usual gruelling conditions which are the author's lot in Hollywood.

By that I mean, time clock methods more or less, and a definite amount of dialog turned out on an assigned subject whether inspiration burns or not.

The clairvoyant rage may die down a bit as a result of some dire prophecies on the part of the newest high-priced seer to become popular hereabouts. The seer in question—a palmist and horoscopist of international renown—charges $100 a visit. When victims object loudly, he has been known to forecast for $50—the sliding scale of prices possibly being for shorter readings.

Miriam Hopkins, recently arrived in Hollywood from New York, made the conventional visit to the famous man. He prophesied a terrible accident for her when she will be in her late thirties. Then went on to say soothingly, "but you will recover from that and have several useful years, after which you will be completely helpless as the result of illness or accident, thus terminating your career."

Miriam Hopkins is the gayest and most vital creature in the profession at the moment. Athletic, vibrant, temperamental, she suggests eternal youth. It took the consoling influence of her friends and the repetition of many clairvoyant prophecies which didn't come true, to pick her up after the fatal visit. And there has been quite a drop in the futurity market—nobody wants to be depressed by such prognostications.

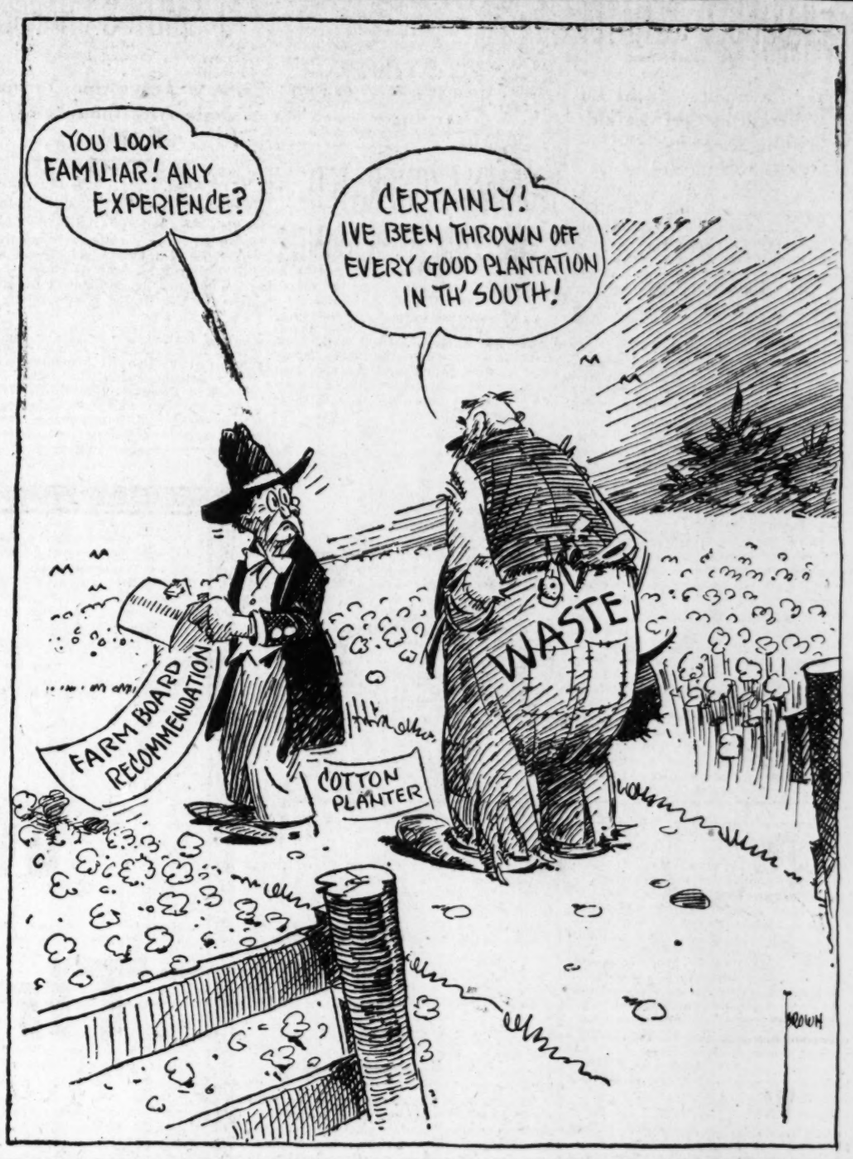

Marian Marx—who was Marian Benda of the Follies—is contributing the most exquisite color note to the local luncheons with a tailor suit of myrtle blue angora, closely fitted to her slender height.

With it she wears a blue cap and the shoes are a deeper shade of blue calf. Needless to say this type costume is best seen on a beauty who has allowed the beach tan to come at will. And it's a welcome variant from the eternal white affected by the brown-skinned ones.

Evelyn Brent, who has declared a pogrom on studio eyebrows—(the kind they pluck into a weird line foreign to your own) is coming back for her beach summer with natural brows. They are thick and beautifully curved like bird wings and, if producers allow them to remain, they contribute an added lyrical quality to one of the most truly beautiful faces in the profession.

An Old Hand Applies for the Cotton Destroying Job

Interest was expressed in the proposal advanced by Governor Long, of Louisiana, which would prohibit growing any cotton next year, but no board officials would comment.

Meanwhile, the Chinese government began negotiations looking toward the purchase of farm board wheat for the relief of flood sufferers in the Yangtse river valley.

An informal inquiry was made to the state department to learn the amount of wheat available on credit terms. No definite proposition was included, however, either as to terms or quantity.

The governors of Arizona, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee and South Carolina are apt to be heard from directly on the board's cotton destruction plan. Most of them, however, have commented informally expressing opposition.

There has been no indication whether the board has considered an alternative. Nor has there been any settlement on the amount of advances to be made to members of the American Cotton Co-operative Association who handle this year's crop through the central agency.

Last year an advance of 90 per cent of the market value was made. The prospective bumper crop of 15,584,000 bales is the main obstacle in the way of settlement. Discussions will be resumed tomorrow with the return of E. F. Creekmore, vice president and general manager of the A. C. C. A.

The name of Dr. Tait Butler, of Memphis, Tenn., editor of a farm publication and identified with cotton co-operatives, was being mentioned here today as a possible appointee to the vacancy existing on the board.

Governor Miller, of Alabama, has appealed to Secretary of Agriculture Hyde for the appointment of a "real southern leader."

Senator Soaper Says

With gas down to 10 gallons for a dollar in some areas, many find it handier to buy a supply than to peer into the tank with a lighted match.

Painstaking examination of the many Wickersham commission reports fails to disclose a silver lining.

DIXIE SHIPPERS OPPOSE RATE HIKE

Louisville & Nashville railroad, who acted as spokesman for the southeastern carriers. Mr. Cole was on the witness stand virtually during the entire forenoon session, and was subjected to rigorous cross-examination by attorneys representing chambers of commerce, industries, agriculture and traffic bureaus.

Poor Return Claimed.

Mr. Cole declared that at the existing rates the railroads of the southeast are not making a fair return upon their investments, as well as upon an unprecedented volume of traffic during the period from 1926 to 1929. He adedd that "heroic measures have been taken to meet the emergency," but that, in his opinion, only an increase such as has been applied for by American carriers can put the railroads on the road to normal and legal profits. Mr. Cole stated, on cross-examination, that he believes the proposed 15 per cent increase is the absolute maximum which would measureably relieve the situation, "although the level of rates so produced would fall far short of the statutory rate of return."

William C. Bewley, of Macon, general manager of the Georgia Peach Growers' Exchange, said that higher freight rates would result disastrously for Georgia peach growers.

"General conditions," he pointed out, "have been very unfavorable during the last several years. Very little, if any, profits have been made since 1927. If the proposed rate increase should be allowed it is safe to say that many growers will try to get out of the peach business. Those who find themselves unable to get out will endeavor to find ways of disposing of their crops without shipping them by rail, in order to avoid the exorbitant transportation costs."

C. E. Cotterill, attorney for the Southern Traffic League, was chief counsel for cross-examination of Mr. Cole during the carriers' spokesman's time on the witness stand. He catechized the rail executive along lines tending to show that considerable suspicion has been expressed throughout the country that the railroads purposely have caused operating losses for the purpose of demanding higher freight rates. The southeastern rail representative denied this, but added that "methods of operating are far from perfect."

Harry T. Moore, traffic manager of the Atlanta Freight Bureau, appeared to protest the proposed increase in coal freight rates.

FREIGHT RAIL HIKE CALLED "RANK DISCRIMINATION"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The railroad proposal to increase freight rates was called "rank discrimination" in favor of the United States Steel Corporation by F. A. Ogden, of Pittsburgh, in testimony today before the interstate commerce commission.

Ogden, representing the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, was the first of a group of witnesses opposing rate increase on raw materials used in making steel.

The existing rate on iron ore, he said, gives a "tremendously high return" to the railroads.

"It looks to the layman," he added, "like an absolute out and out tax, and is in no sense a matter of reasonable pay for service."

Spokesmen for the Youngstown, Ohio, and Buffalo, N. Y., Chambers of Commerce, the National Paving Brick Manufacturers' Association and the United States Fisheries Association also appeared today in opposition to the increase.

Three Hearings.

Three hearings on the railroads' plea for a 15 per cent general advance in freight charges were in progress in various sections of the country. Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman opened hearings for the south at Atlanta and Commissioners E. I. Lewis and William E. Lee at San Francisco. Commissioner Meyer, presiding at the hearing here, was assisted by Commissioner Claude R. Porter, who recently concluded hearings at Portland, Maine. Lewis and Lee held hearings at Portland, Ore., last week.

Witnesses here today reiterated statements made by other shippers last week that the railroads would lose business by increasing rates.

Steel companies on the Great Lakes have not appeared at any of the hearings thus far. Ogden said these companies were not protesting because they would not have to pay an increase on water rates while interior points would have a double increase. This was due, he said, to the fact plants on the lakes get their ore by rail from the mine to the loading point on the lake, thence by water to their plants. Interior plants, he said, must ship by rail to the lakes, thence by water to another lake port and from there by rail to their plants.

Pittsburgh plants, he said, would have to pay 40 cents a ton more for iron ore than Great Lakes plants if the increase were granted.

Lack of Business.

He said the railroads' troubles did not result from low rates but from lack of business. An advance, he claimed, would send more business to trucks and other means of transportation.

J. V. McMahon, of the Youngstown (Ohio) Chamber of Commerce, opposed an increase in rates on any of the raw materials for making steel. He said Youngstown industries already were having trouble meeting competition and an increase in freight rates would aggravate the situation.

F. M. Renshaw, of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce, said Buffalo industries did not object to the railroads obtaining an increase but that they did object to the eastern class rate revisions and a 15 per cent increase both being allowed.

The eastern class rate revision becomes effective December 3 and it tends, the interstate commerce commission says, to give the railroads more revenue. Renshaw said the dual increase would "create an unreasonably high rate level" and cripple industry in his section.

Pangborn, Herndon Pay Fine in Japan

TOKYO, Aug. 18.—(Thursday.)—Clyde E. Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., American around-the-world fliers, paid fines of approximately $1,000 each here today for taking pictures of Japanese forts near Hakodate.

They appeared before authorities at 10:30 a. m. with the money.

that the actress might bring suit for divorce in Los Angeles, or file an answer and cross-complaint in Reno and attempt to win the decree in the local courts.

She has 40 days in which to answer Dempsey's complaint. So far as is known she has not engaged an attorney here.

Dempsey will leave Reno probably the latter part of this week for Portland, Oregon, where on August 24 he begins a barnstorming tour that will take him through the northwest and into the east boxing four-rund exhibition bouts. Reports are that the former champion is making the tour in an effort to recoup a dwindling fortune.

Thus far he has scheduled only eight or ten exhibitions and will be able to return to Reno at almost any time to testify in the divorce case.

ESTELLE WILL SEEK WRIT IN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Estelle Taylor, motion picture actress, today instructed her attorney to file in Los Angeles courts a divorce suit against Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, almost immediately after she received word that Dempsey had instituted a divorce action at Reno, Nev.

The action and counter-action brought to a head weeks of sparring between representatives of the two over a property settlement.

Miss Taylor's attorney, Joseph Scott, said Miss Taylor will claim cruelty, the identical charge made by Dempsey. Scott declared her petition will demand an account and division of property.

While the property negotiations were under way between Scott and Dempsey's attorney, Robert E. Burns, Miss Taylor announced she wished the former champion to pay off a $40,000 mortgage on their home here or give her $100,000 outright. Dempsey's counter offer was not revealed, but Miss Taylor called it "absurd."

"If there's going to be a divorce in this family," she said, "I'm going to be the one to get it."

BOERSE WILL REMAIN CLOSED UNTIL OCT. 2

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Prussian minister of commerce decided today that the boerse will not be opened before October 2.

During the shutdown some "over the counter" trading continued with prices generally lower than the closing prices on the last day the boerse was open.

GERMANY TO GAIN FINANCIAL RESPITE

Obstacles in Way of Short Term Credits Expected To Be Swept Away.

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A temporary financial respite for Germany in respect to her foreign engagements is expected to be one of the principal results of the conference of international banking experts, which will terminate its work within the next few days.

It was reported today that difficulties concerning the prolongation of short term credits probably will be overcome soon.

Germany's total in short term credit, including that in branches of German banks abroad, is $1,250,000,000, and short term credits to German industry aggregate $500,000,000.

The Sir Walter Layton report, which is being considered by the experts, recommends economy by Germany and continued confidence in Germany on the part of lenders.

Despite efforts to arrive at an agreement under which short term credits might be prolonged, it was reported that today's session of the world bank committee adjourned without results.

The principal difficulty was understood to be the question of bringing about liquidity of foreign credits in Germany without affecting German currency.

The monthly payment of the unconditional annuity under the Young plan was made August 15 by the German government to the Bank for International Settlements in conformity with the new financial plan. The payment — 51,000,000 marks (about $12,750,000)—was not divided among creditor governments as it is ordinarily, because all of them, except Jugo-Slavia, have renounced their shares for the Hoover year.

COUNCIL VOTES TO ABOLISH BOARD

tack by White on "a majority of the Fulton county delegation," who, he said, "seem to have been two-timing the taxpayers of Atlanta and Fulton county."

4. Millican offered every piece of legislation yet presented to the Georgia assembly affecting Atlanta and on which council had not expressed itself with the following results:

A. Proposed election of the city clerk by the people was voted down by council 31 against to 1 for.

B. Council reaffirmed its stand that both motorman and conductor should be placed on all street cars and one-man car operation abolished by a vote of 25 for to 7 against. Recent an ordinance to force the Georgia Power Company to place two men on all cars was passed and now is in litigation.

C. A 12-ward division plan as a substitute for the six-ward reduction measure which Atlanta voters approved was disapproved by a unanimous vote of council. William G. McRae, of Fulton, is author of the paper.

D. Disapproved a proposal to force election of all department heads now named by council committees by council by a vote of 11 for and 24 against.

E. Unanimously disapproved a general civil service bill for city employes.

F. Approved unanimously a proposal to permit council to regulate establishment of outdoor markets and parking on Atlanta streets.

G. Frowned on a proposed drastic revision of the firemen's pension laws by a vote of 2 for and 28 against.

H. Voted against a proposed civil service bill for waterworks employes, 13 for and 17 against.

I. Disapproved unanimously a proposal of the Atlanta board of education to force the city to give 30 per cent of its gross receipts to schools instead of the 26 per cent minimum as at present.

J. Unanimously approved a proposal seeking to force Fulton county to contribute to Atlanta schools the same pro rata amounts on a population basis as it gives to county schools. It is estimated that Atlanta would get $500,000 a year if the measure is approved.

Key Overridden.

5. Overrode Mayor James L. Key for the first time this year, when it passed over his veto a measure authorizing the Pryor street mission to solicit money, clothing, etc., on the streets for relief purposes.

6. Referred to the finance committee of council letters from attorneys for Wiley Melton, former auditorium custodian; Dr. S. D. Warnock, former city physician, and T. Frank Calloway, former councilman, all of whom pleaded guilty of charges growing out of the city graft probe. The letters contended that none of them owed the city anything; that they had not taken any city money. The letters were filed in answer to notices of City Attorney James L. Mayson that the city was preparing to sue them for sums alleged to have been obtained. Mayson filed the letters with council.

7. Filed a resolution passed last week by the Atlanta board of education putting council on notice that the board would not run a deficit, would not expend any monies except those regularly set up for schools and which was considered an ultimatum that unless council found necessary funds, schools would be closed soon after the opening September 8.

Paper's Possible Progress.

If the assembly approves the school changes and the governor signs them, the board of education will cease to function the first Monday in January, 1932. Friends of the paper pointed out that there is yet time to pass the paper since it can be offered in the house for the first time, read a second time Tuesday, read and approved Wednesday by the house and transmitted immediately to the senate for first reading. Friday it could be given the second reading in the senate and Saturday the final reading and passage. Unless there is virtually unanimous approval of all delegations concerned it could not be handled fast enough, however, to insure its passage.

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, Monday night would make no comment on council's action, and W. W. Gaines, president of the board, could not be reached for a statement.

E. R. Sweat, first vice president, who is in New Jersey on a vacation, wired Millican as presiding officer of council as follows concerning the proposal:

"People of Atlanta will not stand for Lyle resolution. Solution to school problems have already been offered to the legislature (referring to the proposal to force allocation of 30 per cent of receipts for schools instead of the present 26 per cent). The citizens of Atlanta feel they have good schools and they want petty politicians to lay off."

Message is Read.

Millican read the message to council, after Lyle had asked council to pass the measure "for the best interests of the citizens of Atlanta."

Alderman James E. Bowden, of the fifth ward, rapped the school department, charging that teachers are carried on pay rolls of high schools at $203.50 a month and paid $1.50 an hour for work in the administrative offices. Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the thirteenth, asked City Attorney James L. Mayson if a suit to recover one of the two salaries would hold. Mayson replied that the only way to tell would be to try it.

Millican said the 30 per cent levy for schools would give them 50 per cent of the gross receipts of the city, and would force slashing 100 firemen, 100 policemen, 100 sanitary department employes and many others from the payrolls in September of this year, if approved. He said every other department of the government would be crippled, adding "it just cannot be done on the present revenue of the city."

He based his estimate on the fact that interest and sinking fund on outstanding bonds, free textbooks and other special appropriations carry the percentage the schools now are receiving to at least 43 per cent.

Text of Lyle Paper.

Text of the Lyle paper follows:

"That the provisions of the charter of the city of Atlanta, as codified in Sections 373, 375 and 377 of the city code of 1924, be and the same are hereby repealed, and in lieu thereof the following is hereby enacted:

"That the mayor and chairman of the school committee of council, ex-officio and five members to be selected as hereinafter provided, shall hereafter constitute the board of education of said city. Four of said five members shall be selected from the residents of the four quadrants into which the city of Atlanta is now divided under the plan prepared by the planning commission now on file in its office. The fifth member shall be selected from the residents of the city of Atlanta at large.

"Said board, as above provided, shall constitute the board of education, and take over the management of the affairs of said board of education, the election of teachers, and expenditures of all appropriations made to said department.

"The four members from said quadrant and the fifth member from the city of Atlanta at large shall be elected by city council on the first Monday of November, 1931, and shall serve for a period of four years beginning the first Monday of January thereafter, or until their successors shall have been elected.

"The provisions of this act shall take effect on the first Monday of January, 1932, and all contrary charter provisions, ordinances and rules providing for different methods of administering the affairs of the public schools of the city of Atlanta, election of teachers, salaries and appropriations to said board, are hereby repealed and the entire management of the public schools of said city shall be committed to the board of education as constituted under this amendment.

"On the first Monday of January, 1932, said board herein provided for, shall take charge of the school system, property, employes, and all matters connected therewith and, if it deems advisable, shall make such changes with reference to the curricula, division of schools, maintenance of the several departments, etc., to the end that the city shall secure the most efficient management and operation of the public schools of the city of Atlanta consistent with proper economy.

"Approved:

"Charter Revision Committee.

"W. M. ROGERS, Chairman."

Building's Approval Seen.

There was every indication that council will sanction the proposal paving the way for erection of the $50,000 administration building. Council suspended business to hear from two Dallas, Texas, men, Raymond E. Buck, attorney, and C. R. Smith, vice president of the aviation company, both of whom explained the contract, saying they were willing to make the investment in Atlanta because of their faith in its aviation future.

Councilman Joseph E. Berman, chairman of the aviation committee, made a strong plea for immediate action, but officials agreed to hold the offer open until the next council session, in order that the finance committee might have ample time to study the proposition.

The Curtis measure was aimed at lobbying activities in which it was charged many employes were engaged in attempting to force through the general civil service bill. None of them so engaged in the past can be attacked under the paper, but future lobbies are thus under council ban.

"We were told by a majority of the members of the Fulton delegation that they were friends of the taxpayers and that they would not vote to saddle additional burdens on the people," White said in presenting his paper. "I am beginning to think we are being two-timed. There are many papers now in the assembly hoppers which mean direct increase in governmental expense and consequently an indirect increase in taxation.

Asks for Committee.

"The city now has all the expense it can stand. In fact, it cannot meet its obligations even now. I favor an equitable civil service paper, but I oppose the one now in the assembly. I do not believe the governor of Georgia would approve many of the measures now pending, and am asking this council to establish the committee to keep him informed."

Millican announced he would urge passage of all papers approved Monday by council and defeat of all measures not approved by it. He said he will be especially active in the effort to push through the school reforms.

In voting to file the board of education resolution which was regarded as an ultimatum, White said "it doesn't amount to anything. They have said the same thing hundreds of times, but always run a deficit. Throw it in the basket. It doesn't amount to a row of pins."

Mechanic Hurt at Candler Field In Auto Crash on Way to Hospital

Painfully injured when he slipped and fell from a cranking stand while spinning the propeller of an airplane at Candler field, J. L. McFarland, of Hapeville, chief mechanic for American Airways, Inc., experienced another harrowing accident when the ambulance in which he was being taken to the Georgia Baptist hospital struck and overturned another machine at Piedmont and Forrest avenues. McFarland was admitted to the hospital, though his condition is not serious, according to attendants.

The injured man was taken to the hospital in an ambulance of the Williams Funeral Home, at Hapeville. When the speeding machine reached the intersection of Piedmont and Forrest avenues it crossed a red light, police said, and crashed into a car occupied by two negroes, overturning it. John Brooks, driver, suffered a sprained ankle. His companion escaped unhurt. Only slightly damaged in the collision, the ambulance proceeded to its destination. It was driven by Paul T. Donehoo.

After the accident Donehoo said he believed McFarland to be seriously injured and that he was rushing him to the hospital with all possible speed. He said that Brooks stopped his auto at the intersection and then started again suddenly, darting into the ambulance's path.

In a collision at Spring and Cain streets between a car driven by Mrs. J. T. Williams, of 981 Oak street, S. W., and a motorcycle operated by P. G. Smith, of 2261 Peachtree road, Smith was thrown to the pavement and severely bruised. No case was made in either accident.

Chinese Leaders Mourn at Bier Of Mme. Soong

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A notable group of Chinese men and women, all of them educated in America, gathered tonight at the bier of their mother, Madame K. T. Soong, to do homage to the woman who had exercised a powerful influence on modern China.

Harvard University and Wellesley and Wesleyan, the latter at Macon, Ga., are the American institutions at which the sons and daughters of this remarkable woman were educated. Their training fitted all to occupy leading positions in the affairs of China.

Mme. Soong, who knew the old China but lived through the revolution to see her sons and daughters reach posts of influence, reared all six in the Christian religion, to which she subscribed all her life.

It was through her influence and in her home that the president of China, Chiang Kai-shek, was baptized a Christian.

The six children, whose reunion tonight was their first in more than two years, are:

T. V. Soong, vice chairman of the nationalist government.

Mme. Sun Yat-sen, widow of the first president of China.

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the present president.

Mme. H. H. Kung, wife of the nationalist minister of industry.

T. L. Soong, secretary of the ministry of foreign affairs.

T. N. Soong, who holds a minor government position.

The three boys were educated at Harvard and the girls at Wellesley and Wesleyan, Macon, Ga. The family could easily afford such educations, for it is reputed one of the wealthiest in China.

Also present tonight were President Chiang, Minister Kung, Mme. Chiang Hseuh-liang, daughter-in-law of the war overlord of Manchuria, and other high officials of the nationalist government, all gathered to participate in the nation's tribute.

Mme. Soong will be buried tomorrow in Hungjao cemetery beside her husband, C. J. Soong, who died in 1918, one of the leading civilian supporters of Dr. Sun Yat-sen in the 1911 revolution and the years following.

JOHN W. L. BROWN, 73, DIES IN CARTERSVILLE

Was One of North Georgia's Wealthiest Farmers and Businessmen.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 17.—John W. L. Brown, 73, one of northwest Georgia's leading farmers and wealthiest business men, died early Monday at his country home, Forest Hills, just west of Cartersville. Funeral services are announced for Tuesday afternoon at the home, and interment will follow in the family lot in Oak Hill cemetery in Cartersville.

Mr. Brown was a son of the late Judge James R. Brown, of Cherokee county; a nephew of Georgia's war governor, and a first cousin of ex-Governor Joseph M. Brown, of Cobb county. In his own right, he was prominent politically and has served his district as state senator and Bartow as representative on more than one occasion.

He was one of the organizers and first officers of the State Agricultural Society, and while he had other interest his chief delight was farm and live stock raising. His Bartow county farm has around one thousand acres and is one of the show places of this section of Georgia.

Mr. Brown was twice married, his first wife being Miss Cornelia Field, of Cartersville, by whom he had one son. Some years after her death he married Miss Pauline Newnan, of Perry, and they had three children, all of whom, with their mother, survive. The children are, James, Lewis and Julian Brown, and Mrs. Pauline Brown Nunnally. His stepmother, Mrs. James R. Brown, of Atlanta; a brother, James Emerson Brown, of Kalamazoo, and one sister, Mrs. Frances DuBose, of Washington, also survive.

MONTEZUMA, Ga., Aug. 17.—(AP) Dr. C. H. Richardson Sr., 78, a prominent physician and businessman in this section for 40 years, died at his home here Monday night after a long illness. He was a steward in the First Methodist church of Montezuma.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the First Methodist church, the Rev. A. J. Thomas officiating. Interment will be in Felton cemetery at Montezuma.

NEGRO LEADER OF BAND ADMITS MAIL THEFTS

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Inspector L. A. Stone, of the post-office department, announced today the arrest and confession of a negro who Inspector Stone said is the leader of a band of mail-box thieves operating out of Chicago.

The negro was docketed as James Going.

Inspector Stone said Going's arrest followed the preliminary hearing last week of Robert Lee Burns, negro, who confessed participation in mail-box robberies.

Burns, officers said, after signing his confession, asked that he be protected from other members of the gang, who, he said, had threatened him.

Inspector Stone said a quantity of life insurance policies, money orders and trade certificates were found in Going's baggage. He was lodged in the jail at Valdosta.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Lucile Pharr, of Grayson, Ga.; three brothers, Wingfield Webster, of Miami; Julian Webster, of Maryland, and Hunt Webster, of Eatonton, and one sister, Mrs. Love Webster Dance.

PEACH COUNTY JOINS ROOSEVELT MOVEMENT

Club Is Organized With Election of Louis L. Brown as President.

FORT VALLEY, Ga., Aug. 17.—Fort Valley and Peach county citizens met in the Peach county courthouse and organized a strong Roosevelt-for-President Club and elected officers as follows: President, Louis L. Brown Jr.; vice president, W. H. Harris; second vice president, Noble Bassett; secretary-treasurer, Miss Wilma Orr.

Resolutions offered by Mr. Harris were adopted, setting forth the strategic need of the speedy return of the nation to democratic principles of government.

Whereas, depression grips the nation, partly as an inevitable result of the destruction wrought by the World War, but more largely through the uneconomic and unbusinesslike policies of the republican administration, in suppressing trade by high tariffs when trade was most needed, in encouraging the use of the cash resources of the people in stock speculation instead of in productive enterprise, and in its boomerang farm relief program, unwisely planned and disastrously executed, necessarily resulting in bringing farm products to new low price levels and almost destroying the value of farm lands, and

Whereas, the only hope of the nation is in a speedy return to those democratic principles of government expounded by Thomas Jefferson, under which governmental functions are not to support the people, but are solely to guarantee to every person the right of life and liberty, and an equal opportunity in the struggle of life, with assurance of his enjoyment of the fruits of his labor, and where business enterprise is allowed to grow without favoritism and without pernicious governmental interference, and

Whereas, it is essential to the further material and spiritual progress of this country that artificial efforts to benefit one class of citizens at the expense of others should be dissipated in the clear light of that fundamental democratic doctrine of equal opportunity and equal rights to all, special privilege to none, and

Whereas, democracy's opportunity for saving the nation from further disaster flowing from the maladministration of national affairs lies in Georgia's adopted son, Franklin D. Roosevelt, that most forceful personality that has crossed the horizon of American statesmanship in this generation, that able and matchless leader of the masses of the people of this nation;

Be it therefore resolved, that the Peach County Roosevelt for President Club pledge its best efforts to the nomination and election of Franklin D. Roosevelt as president of the United States.

Resolved, that while we enthusiastically favor the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt as the democratic candidate for president, believing him to possess those outstanding qualities of statesmanship and that sincere and keen human sympathy with the struggling masses of the people, that are needed in the discharge of the duties of that high office, and that with him as its standard-bearer the democratic party will win a sweeping victory, yet, first of all, we are democrats, and we pledge our unqualified support to whomsoever may be nominated as the democratic candidate.

Week's Leaf Sales in Georgia Bring $1,079,606 to Growers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Marcus McWhorter, chief statistician of the department of agriculture, Monday said Georgia tobacco growers sold 15,730,108 pounds of leaf last week at an average price of 6.86 cents a pound. The week brought a total of $1,079,606.88 to growers.

The third week of the season last year saw 31,405,929 pounds sold at an average of 9.68 and the previous week this year 11,622,807 at an average of 7.56.

Sales for the same period last year totaled $3,039,844.68 and for the previous week this year $878,113.48.

The third week of the season is usually the heaviest in total sales but department officials would not venture an opinion this year as the crop was late maturing and growers have held their leaf off the market on account of low prices.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN MOBILIZING IN U. S.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 17.—The Savannah Morning News quotes Miss Nina Jones, of the democratic headquarters in Washington, as saying that "throughout the country democratic men and women are mobilizing for victory in 1932." Miss Jones was here today on her way to Waynesboro, Ga., to spend her vacation.

"Democratic women especially," said Miss Jones, "are showing interest in organization earlier than ever before," and this, she believes, augurs well for the success of the party.

"Their increased interest, I believe, is due in large part to the leadership of Nellie Tayloe Ross, vice chairman of the democratic committee. Then, too, women are recognizing as never before their responsibility as citizens in the present economic crisis. The republican party is clearly on the defensive.

"Southern women especially should be keenly alive to the responsibility of taking their places alongside the men of their party in its councils and on its committees and work throughout the ensuing months. They should realize that women of other states are measuring the part that southern women as democrats are taking in their party. There is a great deal of comparison being made along these lines all the time, by journalists and students of public affairs. Many requests come to national headquarters for information dealing with the position of women in the party organization, and, be it said to the credit of the democratic party, that in most states women have taken their part shoulder to shoulder with men. That they shall do so in every state is the hope of party leaders."

CLUES FOUND IN PLOT TO DYNAMITE WHARVES

Effort To Destroy 100,000 Barrels of Rosin at Brunswick Probed.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 17.—(AP) Discovery of ten gallons of gasoline hidden near the wharves of the Southern Railway, where 15,000 barrels of rosin are stored, following the discovery early Sunday morning of 75 sticks of dynamite on the Coast Line wharves, where a like amount of rosin is also stored, led police to believe Monday that well planned plot had been made to destroy all of the rosin on these two wharves, as well as approximately 75,000 barrels now on the wharves of the Downing Company.

Chief of Police J. E. Register, who is conducting the investigation, said today it was his opinion that three men, seen in the vicinity of the Coast Line wharf early Sunday morning, had planned to first set fire to that wharf, by explosion of the dynamite, and then when all of the attention was attracted to that fire, it was their intention to ignite the Southern wharves. Between the two are the storage wharves of the Downing Company, and the men undoubtedly were of the opinion that once the blaze got under headway it would spread to the adjoining warehouse and wharves. In all over 100,000 barrels of rosin are believed to be stored on the three wharves.

The police chief also believes the premature explosion of a charge of dynamite Sunday morning caused the failure of the men to succeed in their efforts. After his investigation he said it appeared as if plans had been made to ignite the fire simultaneously at three points, and he believes a man was stationed at the three places, all to start the fire when a signal was given. Evidently one charge of dynamite exploded before the other two men were ready and they all then made a quick getaway. This charge partly wrecked one barrel of rosin and then fizzled, ten gallons of gasoline which had been scattered around the barrel failing to ignite.

The two gasoline cans in which the fuel was transported to the wharf have been located, while the third, a 10-gallon can found at the Southern wharves, completely filled, is in the custody of the chief. They are all new, showing that they had not previously been used, and this has given to the officers one clue upon which to work.

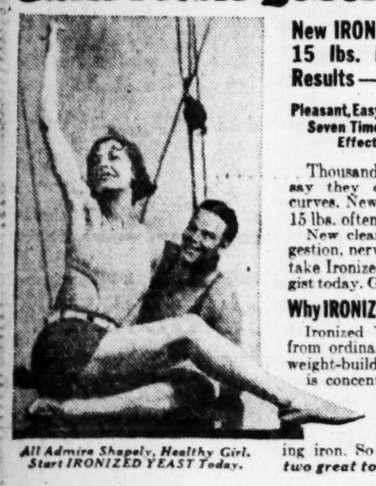

The watchman at the Coast Line wharf says he saw three white men pass in the vicinity early Sunday morning. A negro working near by also told officers that he observed three men, believing to be white, walking down the railroad tracks shortly after midnight.

Chief Register has also ascertained the source from which the dynamite was procured, and this offers another clue on which he is working.

GROWERS OF COTTON TO TRY DAIRYING

SPARTA, Ga., Aug. 17.—According to County Agent S. D. Truitt, here, the farmers of Hancock county, who have already entered the dairy business will hold on to this side line to their farming and gradually increase it on account of the low price of cotton. On account of the excellent pasture lands which abound in this county the agent thinks the present slump in cotton will cause many more farmers to enter the beef cattle business along with dairying.

DIVERSION BATTLE WILL BE RENEWED

Harris Expected To Offer Substitute to W. & A. Bill Today.

In the face of a recent senate vote overwhelmingly defeating an attempt to divert 15 per cent of the state highway funds to payment of past due appropriations, diversion advocates today will renew their effort to put some of the highway revenue into the general treasury of the state, it was said Monday.

Renewal of the diversion fight is expected to come in the form of a substitute offered by Senator Roy Harris, of the 18th, to the Western & Atlantic railroad rental discount bill. Senator Harris Monday afternoon had nearly a score of senators pledged to sign the substitute bill with him, and he believes that he will obtain several additional signatures this morning. The new proposal involves reallocation of the state highway funds, one cent a gallon to go to paying back appropriations, during the next four years.

The senate Monday took up a number of general bills in an effort to speed the legislation to the house in time for passage in that body before the end of the session Saturday night. One of the bills passed during the morning was a measure to place Fulton county in a separate senatorial district. The house recently received an adverse committee report on a similar bill. The senate bill is by Senator E. L. Reagan, of the 35th.

Payment of Life Policies.

Life insurance companies, burial associations and fraternal organizations would be required to fulfill terms of their policies with cash payments rather than merchandise, under a senate bill passed by the senate Monday. This bill would eliminate the policy of providing a funeral in case of death of the insured person.

The senate also adopted senate bills raising child abandonment from a misdemeanor to a felony, and adding a number of roads to the Neill-Taylor highway map.

On the recommendation of the rules committee, the senate set the Western & Atlantic railroad rental discount bill and the congressional redistricting bill as special orders of business for today. The railroad rental bill would authorize sale of five years of rentals in order to realize more than $2,000,000 to apply on unpaid appropriations. The congressional redistricting measure came back to the senate for concurrence with house amendments. It is probable that the reapportionment measure will find its way to a conference committee, where, it is believed, it will be amicably adjusted.

The senate adopted a resolution by Senators John Wesley Weekes, of the 34th, and Alpha A. Fowler, of the 39th, designating the brown thrasher as the official bird of Georgia. This bird won a majority of the votes cast in an election conducted by the school children with the co-operation of the Audubon Society.

The finance committee of the senate Monday afternoon adversed a bill amending the next income tax act, but approved a bill exempting women's clubs engaged in charitable, religious and humanitarian activities from taxation.

Compensation From Undertakers

The senate adopted a bill providing for misdemeanor punishment of persons, firms or corporations engaged in life insurance or industrial life insurance business who receive compensation on the employment of undertakers. Another bill passed by the senate authorizes the motor vehicle commissioner to adopt officially a theft-proof automobile license tag.

Senator W. H. Duckworth obtained passage of a constitutional amendment removing the obstacle to hearing in the appellate courts of cases delayed in arriving from the lower courts. The bill provides that if a bill of exceptions to the court of appeals or supreme court fails to get on the calendar for the term to which it is returnable, it is automatically returnable to the next succeeding term and shall be passed on.

The senate passed a motor carriers bill offered by Senator Hamilton McWhorter, who explained that the measure merely perfects the present act governing contract haulers for hire. The senate bill creating a board of examiners for contractors also passed.

Roads Added.

Under the bill offered by Senator F. B. Hand and adopted by the senate with numerous amendments, the Neill-Traylor state-aid road map would have added to it the following roads: Moultrie-Albany, Hinesville-Glenville, Claxton via Glenville, Lane's Bridge, Reidsville-Piney Bluff, Thomasville via Metcalf-Florida line, Monticello-Jasper-Forsyth, Moultrie via Pelham-Turner schoolhouse, Dawson-Bronwood, Buckhannon-Tallapoosa, Cuthbert-Morgan, Preston via Brookville-Cuthbert, Moultrie via Pelham-Bainbridge, Wadley, Davisboro and Bartow via Pervis' store, Cuthbert-Arlington via Edison and Carnegie, Claxton-Hinesville, Montezuma-Vienna, Monroe-Madison via Bostwick, Bodwon-Alabama line, Buford-Norcross, Monroe-Watkinsville, Winder-Watkinsville, Claxton-Glenville, Monroe-Madison via Bostwick, Decatur-McDonough, Ellijay-Dahlonega, Cairo via Calvory-Florida line, White Gap road, Trenton to Alabama line, Roy City-Valdosta, Valdosta-Clyattville-Florida line, Colquitt county line-Halina, Danielsville-Lexington, Lexington-Crawfordsville, Griffin-Warm Springs, Cordele-Leesburg-Albany via Crisp county dam, Dicks Hill-Clarksville-Toccoa via Walker's lime kiln to Hollywood, McDonough via Luella-Griffin, Monroe via Jersey-Covington, Rome via Silver Creek-Seney-Rockmart, Savannah via Fort Argyle-Clyde-Flemington, Conyers-Lawrenceville via Loganville, Oglethorpe-Reynolds, Barnesville-Woodbury via Meansville and Molena, Carnesville-Athens via Ila, Toccoa-Carnesville via Mize, Leesburg-Cordele, Toccoa-Homer via Currahee, Valdosta-Fargo-Moniac-St. George-state line, Cochran via Ainsley-Perry, Hinesville-Pembroke.

Highway Diversion Asked.

An appeal for diversion of highway funds so that a large payment may be made on school debts this year and heavy payments continued each year until the debts are paid, was made Monday in a telegram from B. W. Mauldin, chairman; J. M. Paulk, J. E. Forsyth, W. H. Robinson and J. B. Roddenbery, trustees of the Cairo school district, to Senator W. H. Duckworth.

"We, as trustees, positively cannot do what is expected of us nor what should be done for these children without the full amount of money that has been appropriated us by the state in the past few years. In fact, if this is not paid we go further backward. We will have to take out of the children's heads dollars to pay obligations that must be paid. We are sure our desperate dilemma is the desperate dilemma of scores and hundreds of boards of school trustees all over Georgia," the telegram said.

"We earnestly request of you to do all in your power to secure as early payment as possible by the state of the past-due obligations to the schools. We do not recommend any particular plan, but are firm in the opinion that if you cannot raise money for these obligations in any other way without increased taxes the legislature should divide the present 6-cent gas tax."

House bills prohibiting further county participation in state road work and exempting $15 a week retired or pensioned employes from garnishment process were adopted by the senate.

False Arrest Charged by Girl In $25,000 Suit Against Manget

John A. Manget, Atlanta capitalist, Monday was named defendant in a $25,000 damage suit filed by attorneys representing Miss Ethel Abner, former resident of the Churches Home for Girls at 248 Capitol avenue, one of several institutions established by benevolent and church organizations in Atlanta. Among other things, the suit alleges that Manget caused the arrest and detention of Miss Abner; that the defendant held the plaintiff up to "scorn, humiliation, ridicule and disgrace" at a time when the plaintiff, an orphan, was "penniless and unemployed."

The suit grew out of a visit paid Miss Abner, her attorneys contend, by a young man to whom she was engaged. This visit, it is set forth, was in conformity with rules of the home where the girl stayed, but as the result of certain charges of impropriety made by the matron it is alleged that Manget, who is chairman of the Churches Home for Girls, summarily ordered her to leave the place and that he "unlawfully" caused her arrest and detention by city police.

The suit charges that Miss Abner's release was effected after several hours, after the police department learned that "the defendant had given directions that the plaintiff be arrested and locked up for several days, and had then left the city without preferring any charges against her."

It is further charged that Manget, in a letter to Miss Abner, ordered her to "leave the home in disgrace, stigmatizing her by a repetition of the false charges made by said matron, without any investigation thereof," and that the defendant moreover wrote a letter to the girl's fiance in which the latter's efforts to defend Miss Abner were termed a falsehood.

"The casting out in disgrace of a penniless girl in the manner hereinbefore alleged, by the defendant, was an act of unspeakable cruelty," the suit sets forth, "and was in direct conflict with the very purpose for which said homes were organized and are being maintained by the good men and women of the city and county.

"The unlawful, malicious and spiteful acts of the defendant as aforesaid, could only have originated in the mind of a self-righteous bigot and professional reformer, inoculated with the idea that his own petty opinions, based on no facts, were more important than the altruistic and Christian impulses motivating said homes, which he seems to so conspicuously mismanage."

HOUSE VOTES TO SUE TALMADGE

phlets and otherwise are trying to defeat this bill, and

"Whereas, a number of the leaders of the Georgia Education Association are on the pay roll of the taxpayers of this state and are working against the interests of the taxpayers of Georgia in trying to defeat this bill:

"Therefore be it resolved by the house of representatives of Georgia that a committee of five members of the house be appointed by the speaker to investigate the activities of all persons lobbying against this bill and also to investigate the activities of the present Georgia Education Association and its affiliations and connections with any publisher or publication of school books."

Power of Committee.

Under the resolution, which will be acted upon today, the committee would be given power to compel the attendance of witnesses, conduct hearings and report back to the house Saturday.

Debate on both the amendment to raise the appropriation to the department of agriculture, and on the committee report asking that suits be brought against Talmadge to recover over $10,000 lost in a hog price stabilization movement in south Georgia, was spirited.

Representative Culpepper, a member, defended the committee's report. He declared that no one had been white-washed and that, in its limited time, the committee had covered every phase of the investigation which the resolution directed it to inquire about.

"Why," asked Stewart, of Coffee, "didn't you take time enough to find out about $65,000 of state funds which have been lost in the banks."

Didn't Have Time.

"We didn't have the time but it isn't too late. We knew $65,000 was lost and lost by the highway department."

Stewart asked Culpepper if the committee felt that Talmadge should "dig down in his pocket and pay this $14,000 back."

"I think any state official who illegally spends the state's money ought to be held to a strict accountability," Culpepper replied and the house applauded.

As it disagreed to the senate amendments to the appropriations bill, the house, with one accord, voted unanimously to disagree to all 42 senate amendments to the reorganization bill. Upon the senate refusal to recede, Representative J. T. Colson will ask for the appointment of a conference committee. It is evident now that these two measures, along with the redistricting bill, will be tied up in conference, and in all probability, until the small hours of Sunday morning.

Originally, the house fixed the Talmadge appropriation at $255,000 and $265,000 for 1932 and 1933 respectively. This marked a cut of $100,000 under budget figures. The senate, which was at the time making an investigation of the department, sliced the house figures to $200,000 for the next two years.

Meantime, a farm bloc, which showed its strength Monday, was formed. It protested that the senate cut, as well as the first house cut, was made because of personal enmity to Talmadge. Many members contended that, notwithstanding what Talmadge had done or had not done, the department ought not to be crippled. This view the house accepted.

MRS. M. M. ECKERT DIES AT RESIDENCE

Mrs. Martha Marshall Eckert, 80, descendant of many famous southerners, died early Monday morning at her residence, 330 Sutherland terrace, after a prolonged illness. Funeral and interment will be held at Covington, Ky., where the body was sent Monday night.

A native of Faquier county, Virginia, Mrs. Eckert was a daughter of John Marshall and Mary Grant Marshall, direct descendants of the John Marshall who was once chief justice of the United States supreme court. On her mother's side, she was related with the John B. Gordon family, her grandmother, Betty Gordon Grant, having been a descendant of General John B. Gordon, Confederate leader and a former governor of Georgia.

The plantation of the Marshall family, in the early days, adjoined that of George Washington, first president of the nation. An ancestor of Mrs. Eckert, Captain Thomas Eckert, operated the first steamboat on the Ohio river. Her husband, the late Thomas Henry Eckert, died five years ago.

Surviving Mrs. Eckert are two daughters, Mrs. Daisy E. Bagwell and Miss Alpharetta Eckert, both of Atlanta, and two sons, L. L. and T. A. Eckert, of Fort Thomas, Ky.

MRS. LA FOLLETTE UNDERGOES KNIFE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(UP) Belle Case La Follette, widow of Senator Robert M. La Follette Sr., underwent a major intestinal operation successfully at Georgetown hospital here today.

Both her famous sons, Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr., who succeded her husband as senators from Wisconsin, and her other son, Philip, now governor of Wisconsin, and holding a place her husband once held, are coming to Washington at once, according to the family physician, Dr. Wallace M. Yater. They were notified of the operation and decided to come, he said.

Her age makes her condition questionable, Dr. Yater said, adding, "we hope she will get over it."

The operation was performed by Drs. John Lyons and James Cahill.

Mrs. La Follette, who is 72, is known in Wisconsin and in Washington as one of the most trusted political advisers of her family. She went out and campaigned in the old days with her husband, and since her son has been senator, she has lived here and followed his work closely. Senator La Follette was married a few months ago, and has spent most of the summer in Wisconsin.

Members of the La Follette family said tonight there was believed to be no cause for alarm, although the age of the patient will require her to take some time to recuperate.

PICTURE AT RIALTO FUNNY AND CLEVER

Every now and then a picture comes to town without any particular fanfare of trumpets. It sneaks up on you, so to speak, and if you're not especially keen you'll miss something awfully good.

Such a picture is "Everything's Rosie," which is at the Rialto this week. For sheer enjoyment for 80 minutes or so this can be safely recommended to any one.

It is funny, clever and funny some more. Of course, there is a lot of the good old hokum, but what good show was ever made without it? It is packed with clever gag lines and has that pleasant taste of nice, happy, clean entertainment that sticks with you so happily when you are leaving the theater.

The cast is headed by Robert Woolsey, he of the long cigar and the horn rimmed glasses. This time he is without his partner, Bert Wheeler, and, without any disparagement offered to Bert, Bob seems to gain something by being on his own.

And the leading lady is just about as exquisite a young blonde thing as you'd care to meet. Anita Louise is her name—must be a newcomer. She'll go far, beyond a doubt.

The story is of a carnival faker and the waif he finds in a slum. Of that girl in later life and the effort her foster father makes to settle down as a small town businessman and give her a real home. An effort that fails—but the girl finds her happiness even if "Doc" moves on. And don't forget, in giving credit, Evelyn. You'll have to see the picture if only to meet Evelyn.

There is a screamingly funny comedy and the newsreel to round out as good a piece of amusement as comes our way in weeks.

—RALPH T. JONES.

Thousands Flock To Visit Plymouth Home of Coolidge

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

PLYMOUTH, Vermont, Aug. 17.—Ex-President Coolidge's birthplace and present summer home is making an astonishing record as a mecca for pilgrims. Without looking up figures for comparison, it seems likely that more persons make visits to Plymouth than to any other place associated with any other American, living or dead. It would be interesting to get the figures as well as the facts that would make fair comparison, with Thomas Jefferson's Monticello, Mr. Hoover's birthplace at West Branch, Iowa; Woodrow Wilson's birthplace at Staunton, Va.; as well as Mount Vernon, Wakefield and others.

A Coolidge neighbor who acts as volunteer guide says the number of visitors is "two to four hundred a day and up to six hundred on Sundays." The figures seemed surprising, but it turned out the guide was practicing a characteristic New England trait of understatement. The register for visitors, kept in the room in which Mr. Coolidge was born, showed 111 signatures on the day the writer of this dispatch counted them. It was then about 4 in the afternoon. Nearly all the signatures read "and family," and less than half the visitors sign the register.

One, at least, of the aspects of Plymouth that allure tourists is the drama that attended the swearing-in of Mr. Coolidge to office. "Their first question," the guide says, "is 'Where is the room where his father swore him in by lamp light after midnight?'" The guide added "and their second question is 'When will he run again?'"

The Plymouth neighbors, having a firm faith in self-interest as the dominating motive of man, think firmly that Mr. Coolidge will run again and be elected again. They cite evidences which, to their shrewd though not completely informed eyes, support their confidence that their neighbor will "choose to run" again. They ignore the obstacles to Mr. Coolidge being the republican candidate in 1932—obstacles residing in Mr. Coolidge's own mind, in the minds of the republican party leaders, and in the very nature of the situation. However, "again" might mean as late as 1936, for Mr. Coolidge was only 59 last Fourth of July.

As to Mr. Coolidge running in 1932, that could happen only as the result of one eventuality. Consider, for example, what would be the reaction of the country and of the republican party if by any tragic fatality President Hoover should pass away as suddenly as President Harding in the midst of his term. The immediate result would be, of course, that Vice President Curtis would become president for the unexpired term. The public, however, would instantly look beyond that. Mr. Curtis would not be nominated for president next year, because no party will nominate a man more than 72 years old, as Mr. Curtis will be in 1932. It is a fair surmise that much of the public and most of the republican party would turn with spontaneous insistence to Mr. Coolidge. To the appeal associated with Mr. Coolidge's dramatic first induction into the presidency, the public would add another and even more compelling attraction, the association of Mr. Coolidge with the recent golden age of prosperity, "the time of peace wherein we trusted."

Other than Mr. Coolidge, the republican party is not very rich in alternative candidates if any fatality should happen to President Hoover. The democrats are much more rich in presidential timber. Any one can name from five to fifteen democrats sufficiently well known to make appropriate and acceptable presidential candidates. As to the republicans, however, about the only one beside Mr. Coolidge who would come strongly to the front of the public mind in such an emergency as the president's death, would be Mr. Coolidge's Amherst classmate, Senator Dwight Morrow, of New Jersey.

Mr. Coolidge may never be president again. The overwhelming probability is he will not. But on the evidence of the amazing tide of visitors to Plymouth, he is entitled to feel that large numbers of his countrymen would be glad to have him president at any time he might "choose to run." So long as he lives he will be in the public mind as a kind of permanent vice president to whom much of the country would turn in great emergency.

Judging by his appearance and his ease of mind, his years should be long in the land. Just now he has gone back for a few days to his permanent winter home in Northampton. He was at Plymouth for four weeks. The visitors wore out the paint on the floor of the little sitting room in which his father swore him into office. Mr. Coolidge ordered a new coat of paint to be put on the floor. When the paint is dry he will come back to Plymouth.

RUSSIA AND MANCHURIA SAID NEAR CONFLICT

Message Says Soviet Citizens Held in Harbin Not Permitted To See Consul.

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—(UP)—The newspaper Tageblatt tonight published a radio message purporting to reveal a serious new conflict between soviet Russia and Manchuria.

The message, said to have been intercepted by a Berlin station, reported that several soviet citizens had been arrested in Harbin, Manchuria, and were not permitted to communicate with their consul.

The message said that, if the Manchurian government "continues its provocations" the soviet government "is ready to draw conclusions." The soviet at one time threatened military action against China and there was severe fighting along the frontier because of China's seizure of the Chinese Eastern railroad, which runs through Manchuria.

The seizure was made on charges that Russia used the railroad organization for distribution of communist propaganda. Although a military conflict was averted and soviet influence was restored in the railroad administration, the controversy has never been definitely settled.

Defeat Inevitable for Sovietism, Says Rail Executive on Return

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The soviet experiment was said today by Frank W. Noxon, secretary of the Railway Business Association, to be headed for inevitable failure "because the country lacks a reserve and because Stalin is spending money like a drunken sailor."

Mr. Noxon, who is also president of the Chamber of Commerce of Alexandria, Va., returned today on the liner New Amsterdam with a party that had made an extensive tour of Russia.

He said from Finland to Turkey every government that has not recognized the soviets has posted "bright young men" along the Russian border to fill the traveler with wild tales about the land of the soviets.

The stories he heard from such men about forced labor in the lumber camps of Russia, he said, he found to be without foundation.

Railroad agents became indignant, he explained, when Americans ask for first-class railroad accommodations, and tell them "we have no classes in Russia. Do you want hard of soft?" Mr. Noxon said that meant sleeping car berths of plain boards or berths equipped like those of American Pullmans.

He said he found the "soft" railroad accommodations luxurious and also saw luxury in hotels, where "the fare was cosmopolitan, with shovels full of caviar at luncheon, dinner and even breakfast."

He said Russian prisons are called by a word signifying "a place where a man is turned into an honest and industrious comrade."

"There sojourners discipline one another," Mr. Noxon continued. "There wouldn't be any cells if they had not been inherited from the czars, for whom apology is tendered. The doors are all open and the men wander at will."

These jails, as well as all hotels, have radio loud speakers in every room, Mr. Noxon asserted.

"We were schooled to expect an extinguished religion, but we saw scores of churches in which the Greek Orthodox church holds service," he said.

The chief complaint of Mr. Noxon was that travelers were forbidden to take photographs, even of bridges and buildings pictured on cards sold by the soviet government.

101 Ranch Show Fails To Move Despite Writ

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP) Officials of the 101 Ranch Wild West show today temporarily gave up efforts to move the stranded outfit to Oklahoma headquarters and turned to the District of Columbia supreme court to seek a broadening of an injunction to restrain interference by employes.

Harry G. Barger, representing a trustee who was granted the injunction last Saturday, said he would return to court late today to ask for "further redress."

Norman B. Landreau, attorney for the troupers, meanwhile moved to obtain a suspension of the injunction which would allow the property to be sold or held.

PRESIDENT HOOVER RETURNS TO CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—President Hoover returned to the White House shortly before noon today after spending a quiet week-end at his Virginia mountain retreat.

Accompanying the president in his car were Theodore Joslin, one of his secretaries; Charles D. Hilles, republican national committeeman for New York, and Wilbur Forrest, of the New York Herald Tribune.

Mrs. Hoover remained at the camp.

LABOR NEWS WRITER WOUNDED IN KENTUCKY

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Doris Israel, correspondent for The Federated Press, was shot in the left leg near here late today and was taken to a hospital at Pineville, in Bell county. His condition is not serious.

Officials said Israel told them he was beaten and chased out of Harlan. He had been in the Harlan county coal fields for some time furnishing news to radical labor newspapers.

The bullet entered his leg below the knee.

PREJUDICE CHARGED TO CALDWELL JURORS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Affidavits filed today in criminal court charged "bitter prejudice and hatred" to certain members of the jury that recently sentenced Rogers Caldwell, financier, to serve from one to three years on a fraudulent breach of trust charge.

Caldwell's attorneys filed the documents in support of their motion for a new trial, which was scheduled to be heard today. The state, however, asked additional time to study the affidavits and prepare answers, and Judge Chester K. Hart granted the postponement, setting the hearing for August 29.

Six affidavits were filed. Among the signers were Paul Stewart and J. L. Carney, jurors. Both quoted S. J. Ayers, a fellow juror, as saying in the jury room:

"You would give a man in a house breaking and larceny case three years, and now you only want to give a man three years who has stolen a million dollars."

Ayers was quoted further in Carney's affidavit as saying after the trial:

"Rogers Caldwell ought to be hung. He has robbed enough women and children."

E. A. Alley, another juror, was described by W. L. Reed, a citizen, as exhibiting "a bitter prejudice and hatred against Rogers Caldwell and Luke Lea," in discussions before the trial.

A third juror, Carter Hough, was quoted as saying before the trial that Colonel Lea, Governor Henry H. Horton and Caldwell "had ruined the city of Nashville, state of Tennessee and the entire south." These words were ascribed to him in an affidavit by Sam Levy, Nashville businessman, who said Hough's entire conversation reflected great and unusual hatred and prejudice against Caldwell, Colonel Lea, Caldwell's father, James E. Caldwell; Governor Horton and others.

FAST PROGRESS MADE IN TRIAL OF LUKE LEA

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—With the state's case near completion, the trial of Colonel Luke Lea and three others, charged with conspiring to defraud the Central Bank & Trust Company here of $1,300,000, tonight appeared about to enter its second phase.

W. S. Coursey, special investigator for the prosecution, who had been expected to occupy the stand for considerable time, went through with his direct examination in short order this afternoon and his cross-examination was well advanced when court recessed for the day.

Coursey offered no new evidence, his testimony being directed toward explanation and linking together of the mass of figures and book entries which the prosecution has placed in the trial record by means of other witnesses.

B. R. Williams, cross-examining Coursey for Wallace B. Davis, president of the defunct bank and one of the alleged conspirators, devoted his time to the bill of indictment, seeking to explain away, through Coursey, many implications laid down by the state.

A. Y. Arledge, for Lea, said tonight that cross-examination of the witness for the Tennesseeans would very probably be brief. In addition to Lea and Davis, Luke Lea Jr. and E. P. Charlet, officers of the Tennessee Publishing Company, a Lea concern, are also on trial.

Lea is alleged to have obtained $825,000 through illegal loans backed by improper collateral; $214,000 through failure to pay for or return a portion of an $875,000 batch of bonds delivered to him by the bank and the balance of the slightly more than $1,300,000 total through posting of valueless stocks and bonds for illegally issued certificates of deposit and cashiers' checks.

Coursey is expected to be the state's last witness, although Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles said it might be necessary to recall one or two witnesses to enter tag-ends of documentary evidence in the record.

Defense counsel were holding a conference tonight to consider whether they should depend on explanations brought out through cross-examination of state's witnesses or should present evidence themselves. The elder Lea himself was expected to prove the chief defense himself, should the latter course be decided upon. Counsel said no announcement of the decision would be made until after the state rested.

E. C. Pryor, Nashville, Tenn., real estate appraiser, was on the stand when court opened this morning. He had testified Friday and Saturday that Lea's companies had issued $1,600,000 in bonds against real estate worth slightly more than $600,000.

GANGSTERS' BODIES SAID IN QUARRY

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, said tonight he had received information that the bodies of several mysteriously missing gangsters were at the bottom of a water-filled rock quarry near Chicago.

"The quarry is 100 feet deep and filled with cold water from springs in the bottom," Roche said. "We are sending a diver to the place tomorrow to obtain an estimate on the cost of making a complete search."

Among the suspected gangsters who have disappeared in recent months, Roche pointed out, are Leo Mongoven, reputed lieutenant of George (Bugs) Moran, the former North Side gang leader, and Tommy Abbott, who was reported to have been kidnaped by rival liquor runners.

IDAHO TOWN MENACED BY FOREST FLAMES

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 17.—(AP) Changing winds today saved the village of Ione, Wash., threatened by forest fires, but as the flames withdrew residents of Forest, Idaho, moved belongings from homes and prepared to flee before a raging crown fire.

Aid was rushed to Forest from Winchester, Idaho, but the fire had a long start. One residence was reported destroyed.

The telephone operator at Forest said she expected the wires to burn down any minute. A crown fire fanned by high winds often leaps through tree tops 300 feet a minute. The village was saved from burning last month after every citizen fought fire all night.

Ione was saved from destruction by combined efforts of nearly 1,000 fire fighters and a shift in the wind, which stemmed the tide of flame after it crept to within a quarter of a mile of Ione.

Miss Peggy Brown, Mr. Johnson Wed at Impressive Ceremony

Marked by distinctive charm, was the marriage of Miss Peggy Brown and Clee Jones Johnson, which was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock at the Cascade Baptist church. The impressive ceremony was performed by Dr. F. McConnell Davis, pastor of the church.

The church was handsomely decorated with palms interspersed with baskets of white lilies and gladioli; graceful seven-branched candelabra holding burning white tapers were placed in the center and at each end of the altar. The pews for the family and close friends were marked with clusters of lilies tied with white satin ribbon.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Merritt Duncan and Miss Hattie Jones rendered an appropriate program of music, Miss Jones singing "Because" and "All For You." During the ceremony "To a Wild Rose" was played. The march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was used for the entrance of the maids and groomsmen, but as the bride entered, this changed to the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin." Mendelssohn's march was also used for the recessional.

The maid of honor, bridesmaid and matron of honor, were gowned alike in becoming models of apple-green satin, fashioned in the new closely fitted lines and reaching the floor. They wore green satin slippers and long lace mitts in corresponding shade, and carried arm bouquets of pink roses and asters. The charming little flower girl, Miss Barbara Brown, wore a flock of shell-pink satin fashioned in empire style with long skirt. She carried a muff of blue delphiniums and tiny pink rosebuds.

The groomsmen, Charles A. Hodgson and C. Manley Brown entered first and were followed by Miss Berta Johnson, bridesmaid, and A. S. Moore, who were followed by Mrs. Jack Rushin, the matron of honor, and Richard F. Brown, and by Miss Ann Senn, maid of honor, who entered alone, and then came the little flower girl.

The bride entered with her grandfather, Richard N. Fickett, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Leslie Palmer. The bride was never lovelier than in her exquisite bridal robes of ivory satin, fashioned along the slender closely fitting lines. The veil of tulle was fastened with clusters of orange blossoms. Her slippers were of white satin. Her arm bouquet was of bride's roses and swainsona showered with valley lilies.

Following the ceremony the bridal party and close friends were entertained at a reception at the home. The groom's mother, Mrs. Sidney Johnson; Mrs. Joseph Gregg Senn, Mrs. Ralph Bouligny, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. Richard F. Brown and Mrs. C. Manley Brown, assisted the bride's mother in entertaining.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a motor trip to the mountains of western North Carolina. Mrs. Johnson's going-away suit was a smart tailored model of blue, with accessories to match. After September 1, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home at 840 Gaston street.

Culbertson on Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

The Principles of Hand Valuation

When the deal is completed and the players pick up their cards, the question of the eventual Declarer and the final declaration is still a matter of doubt. No matter how strong a hand may appear, unless it contains absolute control, under any circumstances, the holder must recognize that one of his opponents may be the Declarer.

This condition imposes upon the players a triple standard of card valuation.

1. In defense
2. At own declaration
3. In support of partner's bid

It follows that the Opening bid, unless it is Pre-emptive, must show, at the same time, preparedness to attack and the probable limit of the opponents' strength since it must be futile, if not disastrous, to make an aggressive move when you may be overwhelmed by the adversaries' attack with partner unaware of your defensive weakness.

The first step is, therefore, to measure and convey to your partner information as to the strength held against a possible adverse bid. This is done in accordance with the standard table of honor-tricks, which assigns to the various combinations the probable minimum trick-taking value in defense and explains why, for example:

Spades A Q 3 2
Hearts Q 3 2
Diamonds K Q 2

is an Opening bid, whereas

Spades K J 10 9 3 2
Hearts 3 2
Diamonds 4 3 2

is not, although both hands are equally strong in attack.

Rebids by the Opening bidder and Raises of partner's declaration, after a certain minimum of defensive strength has thus been shown, convey the possibilities in attack and may be based on distribution or additional honor strength, always bearing in mind the opponents' chances of scoring at their declaration if they have not dropped the bidding.

The rules for counting the Declarer's hand and revaluing it in support of partner's bid thus supplement the standard table of honor-tricks when a side has secured the bid and the valuation shifts to playing-tricks. Trump length in the Declarer's hand, ruffing ability in the Supporting Hand, as well as uncounted honors and length in side suits, assume definite values absent against opponents' declaration. Thus, spades A K 5 4 3 2 is worth, at best, 2 tricks in defense but 5 tricks with spades as trump.

Several honor combinations, such as K Q J, A J 10, K Q 10, Q J 2, are assigned defensive values, which apparently will materialize only if they survive the third round. This is so for several reasons:

1. Opponents are more likely to have two possible losers in a suit in which they hold one or more high honors than three losers in a suit in which they lack the A K Q.

2. The honors in question may promote nines and tens in partner's hand which separately have no value.

3. The opponents may be forced to establish that suit which frequently proves awkward or impossible, even under trump protection.

The full value of touching honors, such as A Q J, K Q J, K J 10, Q J 10, which cannot always be realized in defense, is almost surely developed in offense. These combinations are, therefore, rated higher in the Declarer's or the Supporting Hand than against opponents' bid.

Below are given the rules laid down for determining the trick-taking power of a hand in suport of partner's suit bid:

THE TRUMP LENGTH AND HONORS ARE VALUED:

Trumps	Tricks
Three small or less	0
Four small	1-2
Five small	1
Six small	2
Add for Ace or a King	1
Add for a Queen (sometimes 1)	1-2

THE LOW CARD AND HONOR-TRICKS IN SIDE SUITS ARE VALUED:

A four-card length is worth 1-2 trick.
A five-card length is worth 1 trick

THE RUFFING TRICKS ARE VALUED

	With 3 of partner's trumps	With 4 or more
A doubleton (two cards of the suit)	1-2 trick	1 trick
A singleton (one card of the suit)	1 trick	2 tricks
A void (the absent suit)	2 tricks	3 tricks

The ruffing tricks do not increase in value with five trumps for the reason that it is unjustifiable to assume that the Declarer holds more than three losing cards of the suit of which the Dummy holds say a singleton.

TODAY'S POINTER
Tricks.

Tricks is the common unit of measure, the stuff from which all bids (and plays) are built. There are three distinct kinds of tricks—honors, low cards in four-card or longer suits and low cards in hort suits. Low-card tricks are of value at some bids only and not at others. The "ruffing" or short suit kind of a trick, for instance, is of value only in the Dummy and only as a Supporting Hand to partner's trump bid. The same hand if played at notrump, where short suit tricks are non-existent, would have a totally different value.

Again, a low card established in a long side suit might be as good as an Ace at notrump but is worthless if the same hand is played at opponents' trump bid. Only honors are sufficiently stable to be used as a general yardstick for all hands and for all bids.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

They don't agree about the ever-present problem of petting, the boys and girls themselves don't agree and of course the older people and the younger people don't agree on such a question. A young man of twenty wants to console with my correspondents as follows: "You seem to get a good many letters from girls who are distressed over their failure to become popular. They seem to conclude that it is due to their refusal to pet. I am sorry to say that this is undoubtedly the principal reason. I know rather well the attitude most of the boys take, and they are a wild lot these days." But he concludes: "Tell the girls to find one of the rarer sort who does exist, one who is satisfied with a clean, wholesome friendship. She may never marry him but she will have had the satisfaction of his companionship. There are a lot of boys looking for such girls and they are trying to be worthy of them."

Here is another who says: "The girls are responsible for all the petting or for nine-tenths of it. They expect it and we have to put it up. I don't make but one date a week because I can't find many girls who are interested in good serious friendship without any petting and necking and incessant talk about it. I'm fed up with these wild ones."

And another: "Boys go to see two kinds of girls. They go to see one kind because they pet and they go to see the other kind because they don't pet. Petting doesn't touch popularity. Girls attract boys or they don't attract them and they don't know when they are attracted by a girl whether she is the type to pet, or not. I don't believe a girl loses anything worth having by refusing to pet."

The crowning comment comes from a professional woman of forty. Says she: "I'm tired of hearing that the girls who are willing to pet with any boy that comes along are not the girls those same boys will want to marry. It must be a mistake, for certainly the old maids of my acquaintance are not the guilty ones."

Girls, the boys are agreed on one point. It is this: They respect the girl who says "hands off" more than they respect the girl who say "anything for popularity." CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

And Here's the 'Inside' on the Lady Who Started Funny Hat Business

BY HARRY FERGUSON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(UP)—Now that it is definitely decided that women are going to stick to those hats that cover only half the head and tilt down over the nose, it becomes necessary to investigate the lady, dead these 111 years, who invented them.

Well, according to the biographers, that wasn't no lady; that was the Empress Eugenie.

She probably didn't realize while galloping through the Fontainebleau woods in the retinue of Napoleon III that her hats and gowns would adorn the Parisian boulevards nearly eight decades later and consequently spread to all points of the globe.

And if modern women adopt Eugenie's code of conduct as well as her hats, the world is going to become a tumultuous place.

When Eugenie left Madrid and went to Paris to charm the third Napoleon into marriage, she was tired of the court dance and rode horseback. She was a young lady who knew what she wanted. So before you could say "second empire" she designed the type of hat for which you husbands and fathers will be getting bills September 1.

She had a few ideas about dresses, too, and after she married Napoleon all the ladies of the empire suddenly became aware of how really exquisite the queen's taste in clothing had become. That started a vogue, and the end is not yet, as you can readily see by walking down the street any sunny afternoon.

Now, the empress' hats and gowns somehow lend the impression that she was a prim, demure young thing, but history fails to justify such an assumption. Painful as it is to say so, the empress was a hell-raiser and quite the life of the party in old Madrid.

History chronicles the fact that she was jilted at the age of 15 by the Duke of Alba, a fickle fellow who then married Eugenie's sister, Francesca.

The future empress had novel ideas as to how a broken heart should be mended. She bought a horse and proceeded to gallop through the streets of Madrid, shouting the Castilian equivalent of "Whoopee!" A fuming black cigar, clenched between her teeth, lent an added fillip to her midnight rides.

Biographers whisper that Eugenie looked on the wine when it was red, and yellow, too. She acquired a small, sharp dagger and kept the grandees in a constant state of trepidation for fear she would give them a playful diz in the ribs. She frequented the bull fights (of which ladies were supposed to have only second-hand knowledge) and tossed gifts to the most handsome toreadors. There were reports of outrageous evening strolls with a handsome page boy.

In the midst of this Eugenie decided to enter a convent. She was black-balled—unanimously. There was nothing much left to do, she reasoned, except to go to Paris and marry Napoleon. It took her three months to put that across, and one of the first persons to receive a wedding announcement was the Duke of Alba.

Eugenie died in 1820, quite calmly, everything considered, and without the least hint that her hat styles would be the rage of 1931.

THE FORKHORN TWINS LEARN QUICKLY.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who to his lessons is attentive
—Old Mother Nature.

It isn't enough to attain knowledge. Unless you retain it, it is useless, and the time spent gaining it has been wasted. Attain and retain if you would live long and prosper. That is the law of life as laid down by Old Mother Nature for all her children.

The Forkhorn twins were taught this day after day by Mother Forkhorn the Mule Deer. "Safety lies in being unseen, and in that only while you are little," she would tell them over and over. "Even when you are big enough to follow me out into the Great World you will find it still true. Later there will also be safety in your legs, but until that time hide at the first hint of danger and remember that one who moves is never well hidden."

So the little Forkhorns grew and learned and heeded all that Mother told them and for some time that thicket was their home. When they were big enough to move about a little Mother warned them that whenever they saw anything moving no matter what it was, they must at once lie flat and remain so without moving until she signaled them that all was well. So it was that many times they did this thing even when there was no real need. They did it when the first rabbit they had seen came into the thicket and he passed close to them without suspecting that they were there. They did it when they caught sight of a hawk sailing overhead. It was all good practice and Mother Forkhorn was proud of their obedience.

Then came the wonderful day when Mother told them to follow her and led them out of the thicket into the Great World. They were not afraid. Why should they be with Mother right with them? They had yet to learn what a dangerous place the Great World is for little folk and at times even for older folk. But Mother knew and this was for her an even more anxious time than when they had lain helpless in the thicket. Over and over she told them what they must do if danger should appear.

So they followed Mother and learned other things. She showed them how to jump over a log, jumping with all four feet together and landing the same way. This was fun and they looked for logs and fallen trees to jump over, not guessing at all that they were being taught a most important lesson. Sometimes Mother would jump over something so high that they had to go around it and they were filled with admiration for the way she sailed up and over, and longed for the time when they could do likewise.

"We Mule Deer are not runners, but jumpers," she explained to them, "and we are safest in rough country, where there is much to jump over and those who run fast but cannot jump cannot easily follow us. The better you can jump the safer you will be."

INSTALLMENT XXXIII.

So the winter passed. Sam was in Palestine now, watching the work done by the new Jewish farmers. Later, he would be in England. She knew, because once a week as had been agreed, Joe Dixon wrote him giving all details of the work, and once every two weeks Sam wrote—a letter to his father—a letter to Joe. He did not write to Sally. She had not asked him.

One afternoon a large car drove up to Winsteads, and a thickset, kindly man and a rather handsome, very much dressed lady alighted. Mr. and Mrs. Reinert. He'd been long intending to give Winsteads the once-over, he told Sally, who had received them. So she was Sam's wife, eh? He congratulated Sam. "And you, too, Mrs. Sam," he added bluntly. "They don't come any better than Sam Winstead, let me tell you!"

They wished to be shown over the dairy, and Sally accompanied them, calling on Joe Dixon at his office. The dairy buildings were some distance from the house and grounds, the Winstead estate being a very large one. It was part of Joe Dixon's duties to show visitors about, and he did so now, evidently pleased to answer Mr. Reinert's keen and intelligent questions. Mrs. Reinert wasn't so much interested, she admitted. She proposed that she and Mrs. Sam should sit in the car and wait.

This, then, was the woman whose daughter Lowndes had married! Highly colored. Fairly good features. Hair most artfully "touched." Elaborate dress in the height of the mode. Sally wondered if her daughter was like her? The man was . . . well, a better specimen. Unaffected, good-humored, kindly. The Winsteads liked him, Sam had said. Sam liked the girl, too. Possibly because she resemble her father.

Mrs. Reinert chatted—or rather chattered—steadily. Winsteads was such a beautiful place! Mr. Reinert was a friend of Henry Winstead's. All of them—herself, her husband, her daughter Gertrude—liked and admired Sam immensely. She and Sam had been married a little over a year, hadn't they? Just before her daughter Gertrude married Mr. Jennings. She knew Mr. Jennings? She had met him? Such a chrming young man—so well connected—and so perfectly devoted to Gerty! It was positively thrilling to see him watching Gerty! And as for her, she doted on him. A love match. What did anything matter as long as young married people loved each other? That's what she was always saying to Mr. Reinert.

And this silly and pretentious woman was Lowndes' mother-in-law!

Mr. Reinert came back from his inspection of the dairy, and climbed in beside the chauffer after shaking hands warmly with Joe Dixon.

"Rather a nice person, your superintendent," said Mr. Reinert affably.

"Manager. Joe was Sam's roommate at Tech, and he was best man at our marriage. Very well connected, and his wife comes from a fine family. They are Virginians," said Sally, with a hint of mockery.

"I knew he was a superior person the minute I saw him! Such perfectly charming manners and such a delightful voice!" She added: "I adore the south! It is so romantic!"

Something between a snort and a grunt came from the front seat. Sally decided she liked Mr. Reinert, and when he met her eye she smiled. She showed them over the rose gardns that were Sam's special pride and hobby, and gave them tea in the living room. Everything Mrs. Reinert saw was "romantic" and "so enchantingly southern" until Sally felt sick; but her liking for the husband grew, he was so direct, so unaffected, so honest.

He had known Henry Winstead for years—indeed, his father had known Caleb. A hard man, but true to his word and faithful to his friends, was Caleb. Henry was even a better financier—you might call Henry a wizard, he told Sally. Always a quiet, silent sort of chap, Henry—even more so since his wife's death. He had been mad over his wife, poor fellow! Sam was very like his mother. Very like.

"They're all one-woman men, the Winsteads are," said Mr. Reinert. He glanced at Sally speculatively. "You've got one of 'em, and from what I hear, the best of 'em all." He added deliberately: "When a boy gets himself a lovely girl that he's in love with, and a girl marries a handsome fellow that's a credit to his name and his wife—why, I say God bless 'em both."

"Thank you, Mr. Reinert," said the lovely girl that Sam had gotten.

Henry brightened when Sally spoke to him of Mr. Reinert. He liked Reinert.

"Ask them to come here to dinner one night, Sally. You wouldn't mind, would you? And, by the way, his girl and her new husband are staying with them, are they not? Jennings, isn't that the name? You might ask them, too."

His daughter-in-law looked at him reflectively. What could she say? Henry's first request couldn't be refused, without apparent ungraciousness. So far as he knew, there was no reason why Reinert's daughter and her husband shouldn't be received by her. She couldn't explain, so she said politely:

"I am sure Mr. Reinert will be delighted to come. He said he wanted to see you outside of your office. Of course I will include Mr. and Mrs. Jennings in the invitation."

She hoped Lowndes and his wife would find it impossible to accept, but Lowndes found it impossible to refuse. Gertrude liked Sam, and she wished to meet the girl who was one of the Rutherfords of Oakleigh. Mr. and Mrs. Reinert, too, were pleased to say yes.

On the appointed Wednesday night, then, Sally found herself presiding at Henry Winstead's table with Mr. and Mrs. Reinert and Mr. and Mrs. Lowndes Jennings for guests. She had not seen Lowndes, nor heard from him, since the night she had visited his rooms. The thought of meeting him had been most unwelcome, but at sight of him her nervousness vanished, and she was able to greet him without the slightest feeling of perturbation.

He was as handsome as ever, the glance of his long gray eyes as devastating as ever, but he did not appeal to her in the least. He aroused no emotion in her—not even resentment. He meant nothing to her.

Gertrude was very pretty, something of what her mother must have been once, but tempered by her father. Unlike her mother, she was simply dressed, and she looked charming in her yellow frock, her fair hair, her eyes keenly gray, something of her father's will and force accentuating her. No chattering, no gushing "so romantic" like her mother. You saw that this young woman knew what was due her, and would claim and demand it.

Sally was unaware how lovely she herself was. Henry thought he had never seen his daughter-in-law quite so beautiful as she was tonight.

She maddened Lowndes. Because he had always meant to do exactly what he had done—marry wealth—he had been able to put her aside; but he had loved her, and now that he saw her again, out of his reach, and in her right element, his old passion for her revived. Circumstances for which neither of them was responsible had forced them apart, had forced him to an unlovely role, had forced her to marry Winstead . . . whom she didn't love, she couldn't love . . . because she had loved him. Lowndes felt that, despite fate itself, Sally belonged to him.

It was still pleasant to walk in the garden after dinner. Just then the gardens had many late roses. The fountain and lily ponds Sam had installed added the magic of water reflecting and tinkling. Gertrude clung to her father's arm. Mrs. Reinert held Henry's, and Sally found herself walking beside Lowndes. A fountain tinkled its silver laughter and the heavy heads of winter roses nodded to the moon. Again she had a shock of surprise at herself for her lack of all emotion. Her breathing was even, her heart did not skip one calm beat.

BREAK of the DAY
By Ralph McGill

Major league ownership is seen as the best solution for the struggling Knoxville franchise which seems to be in the throes of the death rattle at present.

Bob Allen, who used to own the Little Rock and Nashville franchises, was sitting out in the grandstand at Spiller field Monday. He admitted that a major league ownership might solve the matter but he did not seem so enthusiastic.

In fact Bob Allen's presence was downright suspicious. He looked fine and healthy. He said he was resting and having a great time with no worries. He was, he said, enjoying watching a game without giving a hoot which way it went.

"We've got what amounts to about three major-league-owned clubs right now," said Allen. "But I don't know, the league says it is against it."

This seemed a gentle bit of irony. The league would not let Washington buy in at Atlanta but did let Washington buy in at Chattanooga.

And when Fay Murray, who owns the Minneapolis Millers, which in turn has some sort of tie-up with the Cubs, bought in the Nashville club, who objected? Not a soul.

C. W. Somers, who owns the New Orleans ball club and who used to own the Cleveland Indians, has just a few ball players of his own. The rest are Cleveland's. It is doubtful if he owns more than 11 ball players.

Bob Allen said that he was not contemplating entering baseball. But his presence looks suspicious. It would not be at all surprising if he were not around getting personal opinions from the owners regarding his taking over the tottering franchise.

SPILLER IN FAVOR.

R. J. Spiller, of the Crackers, thinks a major league club would make a go of it.

The Cracker owner is a bit soured on the league's attitude. And you can't blame him. He was all set to step out and take rest easy on a farm, hooking his thumbs under his galluses and entertaining his many friends.

And then his brother owners blocked the deal, raising such an objection that Clark Griffith, the Old Fox of Washington, welched on the deal.

"We've got two major league ownerships now and the league might as well have another one," he said. "We've got to do something about it. It begins to look as if there are just seven cities interested enough to support a baseball team. Some major league club would do well with one. They would be able to at least break even financially and develop players.

Meanwhile Knoxville continues to fight to retain the franchise they took when Mobile gave up the ghost. The league can, if it chooses, simply take the franchise and put it somewhere. Knoxville should be wig-wagging to some major league club right now.

MACON MAY.

Jimmy Jones, of the Macon Telegraph, finds that there is to be some effort to bring the franchise to Macon should it be available this winter.

If Jimmy Jones tries for it he will probably get it. Jones made Macon a sports town. He developed the Macon baseball team interest until near 100,000 fans per season were going in the gates. He has been sports editor for Macon and south Georgia so long that they swear by him and never at him. If Jimmy goes after the franchise he will get it.

Brooklyn did well with Macon. Some other club might do as well. Or better. One of the best plants in minor league baseball is waiting for an occupant.

THE "LITTLE TOWN" PROBLEM.

Bob Allen, who was successful at Little Rock for a number of years, was perhaps the best judge of a ball player in the Southern league.

He made some money at Little Rock by developing young ball players. He sent up more good young players than any other owner during the period he was head of the Travelers.

"Small cities can get by only by developing young players," said Allen Monday. "The small cities like Little Rock and Mobile would draw no more people with a pennant-winning team than Atlanta would with a team in the second division."

This reporter kept pestering Bob Allen with questions as to his intentions about getting back into baseball.

"I'm just having a good time," said Allen blandly. And that was all.

BECKETT'S CHAMPIONS.

Howard Beckett, one of the better golf teachers, was at the Tate Estates Lodge Sunday getting a lungful of the cool air and an eyeful of the mountains.

While cooling off with Mr. Beckett the conversation turned to golf. Which wasn't strange at all.

Bobby Jones and Jack Dempsey were the two great champions of the modern days as selected by Howard Beckett.

"You know why," he said, "because when they got into competition they were 'killers.' They were a thought ahead of their opponents and they had the greatest competitive instinct that has been seen in years. Any great champion must have that 'killer' instinct when he goes into competition. He can't be great without it."

The theory certainly holds. Tilden had it in tennis. Cobb, who was the greatest of all ball players, had it in baseball.

OF ALL SAD WORDS.

Bob Weiland, the pitcher whom the White Sox offered the Crackers, was refused when he did not make a good spring record, being knocked out of the box often.

Louisville took him. He won 11 and lost 8 for the Colonels and the White Sox took him back.

His latest exploit was to beat Washington two games in succession for the White Sox. All of which makes the Cracker officials feel very sad indeed.

HO, HUM.

And so Estelle was cruel to Jack. Mentally cruel.
Maybe she made him go to see all the movies she was in.

LED BY HELEN, SEEDED STARS DEFEAT RIVALS

Mrs. Moody Coasts Into Second Round at Forest Hills.

By Henry McLemore,

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(UP)—Paced by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, 15 of the 16 seeded stars of the 44th annual women's national tennis singles championship moved serenely through the first round of play today.

As was fitting, Mrs. Moody, champion of them all, scored the easiest victory. With all her shots working like a charm, the great Californian required but 21 minutes to eliminate Miss Edith Sigourney, of Boston, 6-0, 6-0. Mrs. Moody would have accomplished her task in even less time than she did, had she not been wild at the start and handed the Boston girl many points by overriding the baseline and chopping simple shots into the net.

Miss Helen Jacobs, seeded No. 2 in the American group, and Miss Betty Nuthall, of England, defending champion and seeded No. 1 of the overseas delegation, who are expected to meet in the semi-finals for the honor of losing to Mrs. Moody in the championship round, both scored easy wins.

EASY VICTORIES.

Miss Jacobs eliminated Miss Mae Ceurvorst, southpaw star from Wichita, Kan., 6-2, 6-2, while Miss Nuthall defeated Mrs. B. F. Stenz, New York veteran, 6-2, 6-1.

Of the two victories Miss Jacobs' was the more impressive. The Berkeley girl made few errors and her stroking was above reproach. On the other hand, Miss Nuthall, despite the one-sidedness of the score, was chased about quite a bit by Mrs. Stenz. What is more, Betty's usually dependable forehand failed her time and again, and she was very slow afoot.

The lone seeded player to pass from the picture was the Baroness Levi, of New York and Rome, who bowed to Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia. Baroness Levi's loss can hardly be classed as an upset, however, as Miss Hilleary is fourth in national rankings.

BRITONS ADVANCE.

Miss Nuthall's six British companions, Miss Phyllis Mudford, Miss Dorothy Round, Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, Mrs. Shepherd-Barron, Miss Joan Ridley and Mrs. J. P. Pittman, all advanced into the second round.

One of the features of the first day of play was the advance of the California brigade. In addition to the two Helens, the far western state placed Miss Bracyn Wheeler, Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, Miss Dorothy Weisel and Miss Josephine Cruickshank in the second round.

California did not make a clean sweep, however, for two of its most promising youngsters, Miss Alice Marble and Miss Bonnie Miller, were eliminated. Miss Marble, who played wildly, was defeated by Miss Mary Greef, of Kansas City, while Miss Miller was trounced by Miss Mianne Palfrey, of Boston.

STOCK BELIEVES CLUB WILL STICK

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Returning to Knoxville tonight after a conference in Chattanooga with Milton Stock, manager of the Knoxville Smokies, Councilman W. N. Smithson expressed continued optimism over prospects for retaining the Knoxville Southern Association franchise, but declined to discuss details of his talk with Stock.

The councilman said both he and Stock were confident that satisfactory arrangements could be made to keep the club in Knoxville, although necessary financial negotiations remain to be completed.

"Mr. Stock is highly pleased with the reception Knoxville has given the club," Smithson said. "He believes, as I do, that Knoxville will support Southern league ball. We have only to close financial arrangements. That, of course, has been and continues to be our biggest problem, but I still am convinced that Knoxville will not allow such an opportunity to slip through its fingers without a fight."

Poreda, Hunt Sign For Boston Match

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—(UP)—Stanley Poreda, young New Jersey heavyweight, was matched today to meet Babe Hunt, Ponca City, Okla., in a ten-round bout at Boston arena on August 27.

The Jersey battler takes the place of Walter Cobb, Hutchinson (Kan.) bone-crusher, who is unable to fight Hunt because he is under contract to Jimmy Johnson to box on the Campolo-Schaaf card in New York.

JIM BRITT KILLED.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 17.—(AP)—James Birse, 27, of Valois, a suburb, one time flyweight boxing champion of Canada, was killed yesterday in an automobile accident on the Quebec highway. He was to have been married September 12. To boxing fans Birse was better known as Jimmy Britt.

Umpire Is Ordered To Leave the Park

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 17.—(AP)—And now the umpire has been waved to the showers.

Because three personal letters failed to cure Arbiter "Ziggy" Sears' yen for engaging the cash customers in joint debate, President Alvin Gardner, of the Texas league, meted him out a five-day suspension.

Sears, a 70 shooter at golf, sought solace in a links tournament while his technique at public speaking rusted with disuse.

McDuffie, Swanson Draw in Good Battle

Standing toe to toe and slugging, mixing those tactics with flurries of close work designed to maim, Jimmy McDuffie and Ray Swanson battled to another draw in the six-round feature bout of the fistic card at Roby's arena Monday night. The boys brought the fair-sized crowd to its feet on several occasions with fine rallies. The bout was a worthy feature of a good card.

Spencer Carter won a booed decision from Frankie Caldwell in the semi-windup affair, also a six-rounder. Caldwell started slowly but came back in later rounds to gain much of the lost ground.

Battling Knight beat Young Bozo, Battling Bozo's young brother, in the first of the six-rounders. The clash was full of action.

Leesburg Is Victor In Play for Title

LEESBURG, Ga., Aug. 17.—The Leesburg Yellow Jackets defeated the Cordele Bulldogs on the local diamond today, 7 to 6, and thereby won the Southwest Georgia league championship. It was Leesburg's fourth win from Cordele in a scheduled seven-game play-off. Leesburg will play Thomasville, the winner of the first half of the Big Four league. This series will probably start Thursday. The game was witnessed by a very good crowd.

GRANT DEFEATS 2 OPPONENTS; REESE FORFEITS

Phalanx of Stars Advances in Newport Tennis Tourney.

By Bill King.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The most threatening uprising of the current tennis campaign, one of the most revolutionary in many years, was checked temporarily in the nick of time today by the nation's top ranking players, Champion Johnny Doeg, and Francis X. Shields, runner-up in last year's title play and members of the 1931 Davis cup forces.

The pair, top seeded in the historic Newport casino play, had to fight to the last ditch before gaining the third round by scoring scanty victories over mediocre opponents.

Doeg had one of the most trying sessions of his career in overcoming Karl Kamrath, Texan, in an overtime match, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6.

SQUEEZING THROUGH.

Shields, strong enough to advance to the final round of the British championship, was barely able to squeeze Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, out of the tourney by a 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 margin.

Doeg opened impressively against Kamrath. He burned over his service but its accuracy failed to daunt the cool Texan, who handled Doeg's drives with such skill that he squared the match by taking the second set with seeming ease. Doeg's determined last stand, which he was able to maintain with several timely placements, threatened to break down several times during the 14-game battle for the deciding set.

Four other seeded players also gained the third round as well as the British Davis cup stars, Frederick J. Perry and G. Patrick Hughes, who although unseeded, were given favorable positions in the draw.

Perry waded through Lloyd Nordstrom, of Portland, Ore., 6-2, 6-4, and then wore down his second round opponent, Herbert T. Bowman, of New York, 7-5, 6-3.

HUGHES SCORES.

Hughes defeated Louis Hobbs, of Newport, given a place in the draw when Morles, of Cuba, failed to appear, by a 6-3, 6-4 margin and then played steadily against the experienced Jake Hess, of Fort Worth, Texas, for a 6-2, 7-5 victory.

Sidney Wood, another member of the United States Davis cup expedition, opened with a 6-3, 6-3 win over Carl Gray, of New York, and then abruptly checked Frank Parker, of Milwaukee, the 15-year-old winner of last week's national boys' play, 6-2, 6-3.

Parker made a sensational gesture in his opener, defeating Lucien Lacoste, of San Antonio, veteran of several major tennis wars, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1.

George Lott, Davis cup doubles player, overcame Eddie Yeomans, of Washington, 6-4, 6-2, and Eugene McCauliffe, of Yonkers, N. Y., 6-2, 6-4.

Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, won from Charley Greene, of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-3, and then defeated Dick Murphy, of Utica, N. Y., 6-3, 6-3.

GRANT RISES.

Wilmer Allison was the other seeded star to gain the third bracket, on a 6-1, 6-2 decision over Bernard Law, of Narragansett Pier, R. I., and a 6-2, 6-0 walkaway from Lindley Tiers, Princeton sophomore from Cooperstown, N. Y.

Bryan Grant Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., swept into the third round by defeating Jock McLean, Newport, 6-2, 6-1, after having gone into the second round by beating W. C. Thompson, New York, 6-4, 6-4, earlier in the day.

Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, seeded sixth, did not move a racquet during the day, gaining the second round on a default by Billy Reese, of Atlanta. Johnny Van Ryn, another member of Davis cup forces, did not have time to attempt to advance beyond the second round match which he gained by defeating Keith Werner, of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2.

Mate Races Today In Saratoga Feature

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—In an effort to prove he deserves to rule the three-year-olds of the turf, A. C. Bostwick's Mate, badly beaten in the Saranac handicap, will make his second start of the Saratoga meeting in the $3,500 Kenner stakes tomorrow.

The twice conqueror of Twenty Grand as a three-year-old finished a badly beaten colt in the Saranac, which was decided over a mile, but tomorrow the distance will be three-sixteenths of a mile farther—a factor that should favor the son of Prince Pal. He will be asked to meet the same class of colts that showed him the way home in the Saranac with the addition of Mrs. Katherine E. Hitt's Sun Meadow, which outgamed Jamestown to finish second back of Twenty Grand in the Belmont stakes.

Neither will Mate be asked to give away so much weight as the lightest weighed of the six overnight starters are Rocky News and Blenheim with 113 pounds each.

Athletics Are Beaten By Grand Rapids, 4-3

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics took a 4-to-3 beating in ten innings at the hands of the Grand Rapids all-stars in an exhibition game here today.

The score:

Philadelphia	110	000	100	0—3	9	1

BENNETT SOLD.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Newark club of the International league today announced the purchase of Outfielder Fred Bennett from Fort Worth of the Texas league. Bennett, a right-hand hitter, will join the Bears Saturday.

Oh, Please! Give Gabby Just a Little of the Credit For St. Louis' Success.

By William Ritt.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(Central Press)—Having mauled, not to say massacred, Brooklyn's pitching staff right in their own back yard, the St. Louis Cardinals have now advanced to such a distance over their rivals that Gabby Street, the reformed catcher, can take the conduct of current ball games a bit easier and join his slender arch-rival, Connie Mack, in contemplation of world series matters.

That is, the Cards are about "in."

As the St. Louisans all but clinch their second straight pennant we note with surprise many experts crediting their chain-store system for it all.

Why not give Mr. Street some of the credit?

When Gabby took control for the 1930 season, the Cards were no better behaved group of major league athletes than were to be found elsewhere. To make matters more difficult, the Cards had become accustomed to seeing their managers booted out after one season's labor.

There was nothing about Gabby when he first took over the reins to make him look any better—if as good—as Rogers Hornsby, Billy Southworth, Bill McKechnie, Bob O'Farrell, all of whom remained but one season at the head of the Cards.

But Gabby, the reticent, quiet, understanding sort of manager, has changed all that. Now headed for his second pennant in his second year as pilot, Gabby carries a contract to pilot the Cards in 1932 in his hip pocket.

DON'T BELIEVE IT.

You can't make your correspondent believe the chain store system is solely responsible for that.

True, many of the Cardinals were plucked from Red Bird outposts, but while you may be able to put a star diamondeer into a big league uniform not every one can make him play big league ball.

The chief asset of the chain store system to the Cardinals has not been, as one might believe, the development of stars. Ability to replace ailing or failing athletes at a day's notice has made their farms a decided help to the Cards.

SENSE OF HUMOR.

One winning virtue of the Cardinals is their sense of humor.

Your correspondent happened across Gabby Street the day after Flint Rhem's now famous disappearance and his reappearance with a story that he had been forced to partake of forbidden beverages in huge quantities by a group of rough customers.

Was Gabby greatly annoyed or upset? Not so you could notice it. His comment chiefly concerned the excellence of the dessert which he was eating, and the next day's ball game with the Brooklyns. He thought some of the stories written by New York scribes concerning the incident very amusing.

Mr. Street, you see, knows how to keep his shirt on.

PLAYER RECALLED.

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Detroit baseball club today announced the recall of Gerald Walker, outfielder, from Toronto of the International Association. Walker is a brother of Harvey Walker, Tiger outfielder.

DEMPSEY, WIFE IN DIVORCE WAR

Jack Sues for Divorce and Estelle Prepares for Fight.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 17.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey filed suit for divorce today and his wife, Estelle Taylor, immediately sent word from Hollywood that he had entered himself "in another battle of the century."

Jack Dempsey

Jack charged Estelle with "extreme cruelty." Estelle replied that she would contest the suit, start another suit and thoroughly air the domestic difficulties of the former heavyweight champion.

Attorney Robert E. Burns filed the suit in the name of William Harrison Dempsey after he had negotiated fruitlessly for weeks with attorneys for Miss Taylor. No specific allegations of cruelty were enumerated, the case was not placed on the court calendar, and the time of its hearing was indefinite.

Dempsey, who is now a boxing promoter, said he hoped the case could be disposed of immediately. If it isn't, he probably will have to commute to Reno from many of his $500,000 worth of boxing shows in several western states this fall.

Miss Taylor, one of Hollywood's most beautiful brunettes, said that she would file a divorce suit in Los Angeles, "where the case should be fought." She declared she would fight Dempsey's suit strenuously.

WALKER KAYOES GAGNON IN FIRST

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Mickey Walker, former middleweight champion, knocked out Jack Gagnon, Boston heavyweight, in 37 seconds of the first round of their 10-round bout here tonight.

Walker, giving away 42 pounds to the roly-poly Boston battler, dropped Gagnon with a hard right to the chin 18 seconds after the opening bell. Gagnon staggered to his feet and Walker dropped him again, this time with a left hook and for the full count.

The first blow was perfectly timed and powerfully propelled, and as it lashed across Gagnon's long chin the entire thumb of Mickey's right glove was split from tip to wrist. The impact burst the leather and padding, broke the bandages binding the thumb and sprained or broke Mickey's thumb knuckle. Gagnon went down sideways, falling like a toppling chimney, slowly and clumsily. He took a count of nine and ware barely up.

Mickey was on top of him as he rose slowly and uncertainly from the floor. He waited until Jack had reached full height, then stepped in like a tiger. The left swished from Mickey's hip and landed on Gagnon's chin with the crushing force of a pile-driver and the paralyzing effect of a blackjack. There was no doubt of the tremendous force behind the blow.

Jack rocked sideways, his arms dangled limply and he slowly sagged to the canvas. He rolled over, tried hard to rise, but his brain was fogged and control of his muscles was gone. And thus he was counted out.

There was a mild demonstration and some skeptical booing from the crowd at the sudden ending, and some shouts of derision and unbelief.

KELLY CHECKS ATLANTA BATS AS MATES SLUG

Chick Hurler Steadies After Bad Start To Win Game.

By Roy White.

With Harry Kelly pitching great baseball except for two innings and his mates driving three Cracker hurlers from the mound, Memphis defeated Atlanta, 12 to 6, Monday afternoon at Spiller field and went back into second place in the league standing as Little Rock lost to Birmingham. It was the first of a three-game series, the second of which will be played at 8 o'clock tonight.

Kelly got away to a bad start in the initial frame when two errors and four hits gave the Crackers three runs. Two singles and a stolen base gave Atlanta another in the second, but after that it was a string of zeroes for the Cracker run column until the eighth rolled around.

Kelly's best inning was the fifth when four pitched balls retired the Crackers in order. Two were infield outs and another was a fly to the outfield.

VETERANS SLUG.

Tex Jeanes and Frank Brazill, two veterans in the Southern league, led the attack on Blethen, Gregory and Carithers. They secured four hits each. Waddey, Hutcheson and Reese shared second honors with three hits each, two of Waddey's being doubles and the third a triple.

In addition to hurling an excellent game, Kelly contributed his share of hits with three singles, one of which drove in two runners. Kelly walked three batters but none of the free passes figured in the Cracker scoring. He struck out three batters and caused nine others to fly out to the outfield where Hutcheson and Jeanes had a busy afternoon.

Memphis started the scoring in the first inning with two runs and four hits. Another was added in the second. Berger and Kelly singled in the fourth and Waddey's double drove Berger across the plate. Two singles and an outfield fly added another in the fifth. Waddey's double and four singles gave the Chicks three more in the seventh, when Blethen was driven to the showers.

GREGORY GOES IN.

Gregory relieved Blethen but Memphis continued the steady bombarding and he was nicked for five hits in one and one-third innings. Carithers then took up the work but was unable to halt the heavy Chick artillery and two more runs were added in the ninth. The bases were left crowded as the inning ended.

Atlanta overcame the Memphis lead in the first inning. Barron singled, went to third on Sheehan's infield hit and scored on Barnes' single. Sheehan scored on Reese's error of Chapman's grounder and Chapman scored on Ryan's single; Barron's single, his theft of second and Barnes' single scored another in the second.

After Memphis had piled up a 10-4 lead in the eighth inning Kelly eased up a bit and Atlanta scored two more in the last of the eighth. Barnes doubled and scored on Shirley's single. Shirley went to second on an infield out and scored on Ryan's single.

LEE IN LINEUP.

Hal Lee, new Cracker outfielder, was in the lineup, and drove in one run with a long fly to the outfield. He had four putouts but failed to hit safely.

Ryan played a good game and shared hitting honors with Barnes with three hits each. Red Barron secured two singles, stole a base and scored two runs.

Peerson, the new Cracker shortstop secured from Brunswick, worked out with Atlanta but was not in the lineup. He looks good and will be given an opportunity to play during the Memphis series, Manager Dobbs stated after the game.

Lou Gehrig Slugs Way Into Big Six

With three hits in three times at bat, Lou Gehrig blasted his way into baseball's big six yesterday. While Lou was getting a pair of doubles and a single off Vic Sorrell, of Detroit, Bill Terry pounded out six hits in ten times at the plate to pass Chuck Klein, who got only three hits off the Pittsburgh pitchers.

O'Shocker, Steinborn, Jones and Zarnas To Appear on Mat Here

TWIN FEATURE PROGRAM SET TUESDAY WEEK

Great Card To Be Put on at Spiller Field.

Two headline matches, and both of them so much so that they will be two-hour-limit bouts, will go on at Spiller field next Tuesday night in the wrestling program for the evening.

Pat O'Shocker, the red-headed shock from Utah, will meet Milo Steinborn, the strong German, in the first match.

And in the second Paul Jones, the Texas hook scissors king, will meet Jack Zarnas, of Ohio, who weighs 210 pounds and who is rated as a tough man in the front ranks of the heavyweights.

WANTED HEADLINER.

"I was unable to get either O'Shocker or Jones to wrestle in a semi-windup," said Charley Rentrop, matchmaker.

"I promised O'Shocker a headline match if he won his match here two weeks ago. He did that all right and so I couldn't go back on him.

"Then I had Jones signed and when I told him Zarnas was his opponent he would not go on in an hour match, saying that Zarnas was too tough to meet in a short one.

"There was nothing else for me to do, so I gave them both two-hour matches. It is a genuine double-header feature program and the first time such a card has been offered at regular prices."

A GOOD CARD.

There is no doubt but that the card is a good one. O'Shocker beat Charley Fox in his first appearance here a week ago. He looked great against a tough man. O'Shocker has a new hold, a leg strangle, which is a punishing hold.

The red-head is a former Utah University man and has been wrestling for about eight years. He is one of the most formidable men in the game.

O'SHOCKER FAVORED.

O'Shocker will be the favorite over Steinborn. The big German, whose strength makes him dangerous at all times, is not popular. O'Shocker must beat him to get a shot at another man higher up.

The matches will go on at regular prices. Ladies wil be admitted to any seat in the stands for $1.

Pajama Meet Slated For Women Golfers

Keeping pace with the "pajama idea," Atlanta's women golfers will stage a one-day medal play "pajama" golf tournament this morning on the Druid Hills course.

Every Tuesday is observed as women's day at the various local courses and the novel event is the feature for this week.

Mrs. Clarence Bradley, Druid Hills representative, and Mrs. O. B. Keeler, president of the Atlanta Woman's Golf Association, will be in charge of the tournament.

Race Track To Help Jobless of Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Chicago Business Men's Racing Association, which operates the Hawthorne track, has joined the White Sox and Cubs in the movement to aid Illinois' unemployment.

John Schank, president of the racing group, has announced that a plan will be worked out to contribtue $25,000 or more to Governor Emmerson's fund for the unemployed, and it is expected that Chicago's other tracks will joined in.

The Cubs and White Sox will play a charity game September 9, with the total receipts, which are expected to reach $50,000, going into the governor's fund.

Northwestern University already has advanced $100,000 to the fund and will be reimbursed when the Wildcats meet Notre Dame in football on Soldiers' field October 10.

CUBS MOVE BACK IN SECOND PLACE BY DOUBLE WIN

Boston Bows Twice; Bob Smith Hangs Up Another Victory.

By L. S. Cameron.
United Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(UP)—Continuing a late-season spurt which Manager Rogers Hornsby believes will win the National league pennant, the Chicago Cubs today won their second successive double-header from Boston, 6 to 0 and 3 to 2. The Cubs passed the New York Giants and moved into second place, 8 1-2 games behind the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bob Smith

Pat Malone pitched three-hit ball to win the opener, with the Cubs pounding Cunningham and Cantwell for six runs in a fifth-inning assault. Bob Smith outpitched Zachary, Frankhouse and Brandt in the second game, allowing eight hits while his mates made 15. Both teams scored their first runs in the eighth and the Cubs added the winning tally off Brandt in the tenth.

New York and St. Louis divided their second double-header, the Cards winning the first game, 6 to 5, and the Giants taking the second, 7 to 5. St. Louis' four-run rally in the eighth broke a deadlock in the first game and enabled Sylvester Johnson to win his game despite New York's three-run rally in the ninth. The Giants trailed throughout the second game until the eighth when they batted around to collect five runs.

REDS, ROBINS EVEN.

The eighth-place Cincinnati Reds evened a four-game series with Brooklyn by winning a double-header, 4 to 1 and 8 to 3. The Reds pounded Watson Clark for three runs in the eighth to win the first game and clinched the second with a five-run attack on Phelps in the third. Johnson and Carroll were the winning pitchers, holding Brooklyn to five and six hits, respectively.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia broke even in a bargain bill, the Pirates winning the opener, 4 to 2, and the Phillies taking the second contest, 3 to 0. Pittsburgh made only 15 hits in the two games off Blake, Elliott and Collins, and scored their only runs in the second inning of the first game when they pounded Blake for four runs. Larry French held the Phils to six hits in the opener but Brame was less effective and lost the second game.

YANKEES LOSE.

Only two games were played in the American league with Detroit defeating the New York Yankees 8 to 2, and Boston beating Chicago, 3 to 2.

Detroit clinched the game against New York with three runs in the first and Vic Sorrell coasted to victory, allowing only seven hits.

Boston scored three runs off Caraway in two innings, but could do nothing with Weiland and Moore during the remainder of the game. Weiland retired 20 batsmen in order before allowing his first hit in the eighth.

FOOTBALL IS HERE.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Plebe football practice started today at the Naval Academy here and 250 answered the call. Head Coach Johnny Wilson, who was in charge, said it was the lightest squad to turn out in a number of years. The practice period was brief and including passing, punting and limbering up exercises. The varsity squad reports September 9 for its initial fall practice.

ATHLETE'S FOOT Germs
No Kill - - - - No Cost

Ringworm germs, the cause of Athlete's Foot, dig in before they start the trouble. Then only do you see and feel the symptoms—itching, redness, soreness etc. And then no surface germicide can reach them. That's why germicides in general fail to end this trouble. Countless people are thus disappointed.

"RING-ROUT" is different. It first removes the outer skin, in a gentle way, with no harm to the real skin. Thus it gets down where the germs lie, then kills them instantly. High authorities certify to that.

Results are so sure that we guarantee them. The germs, however deep, are killed, else we return your money.

If other ways have failed with you, come to us for "RING-ROUT" with our warrant. It offers the right method for ending this very common and contagious trouble.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Grantland Rice

The British Challenge.

It has been a long time since the British threw as much strength into golf and tennis invasions as they will muster in the next few weeks. They have Phil Perkins and Cyril Tolley ready for the golf test at Beverly, and these two will be well backed up by Somerville, the Canadian champion, another serious threat.

They have Fred Perry on hand for the tennis championship at Forest Hills, which starts a week later, and he is the strongest British tennis entry who has been over here in many years. He was good enough to do his part in the Davis cup matches and good enough to win the eastern championship from a good field. This will be the most open tennis championship ever held in the United States, as any one of several can win, and Perry must be included in this list.

Perry still has three weeks left in which to get acclimatized and obtain all the practice any one needs. Shields and Vines are still two of the leading choices, but the British invader has a better chance than any visiting star from England has shown in a long while. He is a keen competitor with a good head, and these are two qualities that can't be thrown through the window.

The Babe Returns.

Babe Ruth used the week-end to take his old seat on the home run throne, with Gehrig, Klein and Averill still in close pursuit.

The Babe, being close to 38, is no longer a kid, but he is still hard to surround and haul down. It took him four months to catch Gehrig and then take the lead, and there are still more than five weeks left for the final check-up.

After 19 years the Babe is still swinging with the same smooth freedom he knew in his younger years. His batting duel with Al Simmons is another feature of the American league race, so Ruth is a headliner in two of the main sideshows that will help carry public interest on to the finish, though the two pennant races are just about over now.

The Big Scramble.

Bill Burke, the open golf champion of the United States, has to go to the post tomorrow to see what he can do about battling for the P. G. A. crown next month. This P. G. A. scramble at Providence, where Tommy Armour will step out in defense of his title, would be the hottest of them all if most of the stars slip safely into the match play frame. Bill Burke, Hagen, Horton Smith, Ed Dudley, John Golden, Sarazen and several others have all won big tournaments this season and it will be doubly interesting to see whether Hagen can return to the top and how Burke will fare in a match play war.

Only 10 of the 75 starters at Gedney farm can survive from a list that includes Burke, Sarazen, Farrell, Diegel, Mehlhorn, Golden, Manero, Cruickshank, Wiffy Cox, Barron and other capable entries who are good enough to crowd some of the luminaries out. When only one out of seven can take the barrier you can see how tough the going is in a high-class field.

Bill Burke is naturally more than anxious to carry a combination of skill and a stout heart to Providence, and barring some ragged break he is playing quite well enough to get by safely, in spite of the keen competition he must face. It means something to have both the United States and the British open champions hooked up in one show. And Hagen's entry will add just as much interest for the veteran has turned in one of his best years and is always at top form in match play where he holds a record of more than 20 consecutive P. G. A. victories over a five-year stretch.

Grove and Marquard.

Nearly 20 years ago Rube Marquard, the tall and willowy left-hander of the Giants, hung up a modern record of 19 straight wins. Now Bob Grove, of the Athletics, has run

AMATEUR MEET CERTAIN TO BE BIG SCRAMBLE

Bobby Jones' Absence Leaves Title Wide Open in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—If ever a national amateur championship was a wide-open affair, it is the 1931 classic which will start over Beverly Country Club, located in Chicago, on the last day of this month.

Bobby Jones is no longer the dominating factor of the amateur championship. George Von Elm has passed on to the money class of golfers. The championship has been a Jones party for so many years it seems almost an impossible task to think of anybody else winning the title. Who will it be?

This Beverly course is going to prove a tartar to many of the match play stars in the qualifying round. The course is long, with narrow fairways, well-trapped greens and large putting surfaces. The fairways are watered, and it will take a long straight hitter to master par on this 18 holes.

Will the course be too long for George Voigt? Can Dr. Willing master the Beverly greens like he did those at Pebble Meach? Will Phil Perkins be able to continue his flashy golf at Beverly? Perkins got as far as the semi-finals of the western amateur which was played over the same course last year, but lost to Johnny Lehman, who also beat the former English champion in the amateur at Merion. Will Lehman continue to be his jinx?

Jimmy Johnston has always played good golf in Chicago and maybe he can repeat his 1930 victory in California. The old warhorse, Chick Evans, will make another bid for the title which he has held twice.

The Beverly course is a bit long for Chick, but the Chicago veteran wants more than anything else to make a great showing in a championship in front of a Chicago crowd. Maybe this will be Chick's year and the bitter disappointments of the past ten years will be overcome.

How about the youngsters in this championship? Was Charley Seaver's golf at Merion last year a flash in the pan or will he be able to duplicate his performance last year? And

GOLF for GIRLS

By Glenna Collett

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of instructive golf articles written by Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, national champion and America's best known woman golfer, for Central Press Association and The Constitution.)

I have been asked many times by those desiring to better their game if I actually pause at the top of the backswing—that is, just before the backswing becomes the return or downswing.

Glenna Collett.

All I can say on this point is: I wait for the clubhead to return of its own free will. By no means do I wilfully stop action of the club.

If there is a fractional pause it is because I simply hold off coming back with the club until in my mind I am satisfied that I have the "right feel" of the club ready for the return. Then, I hit right on.

There is one point on which I am very careful. That is this: Above all, I try to avoid snatching the club back, hurrying it forward in natural eagerness to get the clubhead down and at the ball.

On my swing I try to bear in mind that, coming back, the clubhead has a certain definite distance to travel. This distance must not be hurried.

When I have that fact fixed in my mind, I find the swing is smooth and rhythmic with the ball behaving itself accordingly.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The stock market got off to a bad start at the beginning of the new week today.

Sponsors of the bull movement last week had expected that they might encounter a little resistance this week, but had not counted on any such adverse psychological influence as the suspensions of the large Toledo banks.

Several popular shares lost 2 to 5 points. Selling was fairly heavy for a time in the late morning, but the list turned dull thereafter, and recovered a little in the early afternoon. A fresh sag occurred in the last hour, and the general market finished around the day's lowest prices. Transfers aggregated 1,317,690 shares in a quiet session.

The bond market also worked irregularly lower.

Leading commodities, influenced by stocks and foreign markets, were also depressed. Cotton lost about a dollar a bale. Wheat finished 3-8 to 7-8 of a cent a bushel lower, largely in sympathy with Liverpool. Corn sagged 1-4 to 3-4 of a cent.

While the suspension of the Toledo banks was not altogether surprising to well-informed Wall Street banking circles, it was obvious that bull pilots of the stock market had laid their plans without taking the situation into consideration. While the only real repercussion here was psychological, the effect was bad enough to discourge bulls from making further efforts. With professional support withdrawn, the market flopped back heavily.

The loss as measured by the average for 90 shares amounted to 3 points, or nearly half of the net gain for last week of roughly 7 points. It was the most severe break since July 29, when the average lost 3 1-2 points in response to the reduction of United States Steel's annual dividend basis to $4 from $7.

Business and industrial news remained rather meager. Closing of the east Texas pool pending the making effective of new Texas oil conservation law strengthening the belief in petroleum circles that the industry is negotiating a turn for the better. Oil stocks, however, were unable to advance against the general downward trend.

Among conspicuously weak groups in the stock market were the chemicals. News that the Chilean nitrate combine has cut prices since the collapse of the European sales cartel adversely affected Allied Chemicals, a maker of synthetic nitrates. The stock lost 5 points net, after getting down 6 points. Electric Autolite dropped more than 4 points on news of the Toledo bank closings, but reduced its net loss to 3 3-4, when it was learned that it had very little money in the suspended institutions. Willys Overland, also a Toledo stock, sagged only 1-4 of a point to a price of 3 3-4. That company also made a similar announcement.

Among miscellaneous issues losing about 3 to 5 points were United States Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Case, Eastman, General Railway Signal, New York Central, Westinghouse, and Union Pacific. Losses of a point or two were numerous.

Foreign exchanges were generally steady to firm.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 15 points down at 6.35. Receipts, 15; shipments, 695; stocks, 164,822.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Cotton was lower today under liquidation or reselling by buyers of late last week.

December contracts sold off to 7.12 or 25 points net lower and closed at 7.18 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 18 to 22 points.

The opening was barely steady 15 to 17 points lower in response to the showing of Liverpool. There was some covering and trade buying which absorbed the initial offerings, but the selling increased and prices worked gradually lower. Enough buying developed to cause slight rallies from time to time, but it was supplied on bulges of a few points, and the market was comparatively quiet with prices responding to correspondingly small orders.

The action of the stock market probably encouraged some selling of cotton through Wall Street and local sources, and there was some New Orleans selling here although very little hedging was reported in the local market. October declined to 6.92 while March sold off to 7.41, making net losses of 23 to 27 points on the general list, but closing prices were 5 or 6 points up from the lowest on a renewal of covering and trade buying.

The tropical storm reported south of Jamaica toward the end of last week was said to be central this morning between Porto Rico and St. Croix moving northwestward. It was reported to be of small diameter and probably of moderate intensity, and evidently caused no apprehension.

Liverpool cables said the decline in that market had been due to local and Bombay liquidation, but that the demand for cotton cloths from China was maintained. Port receipts today 6,744 bales. United States port stocks 2,733,434. Exports today 23,685, making 83,396 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS OFF 23 TO 24 POINTS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Cotton worked toward lower levels in today's moderate trading. Cables were much lower than due, the decline abroad being attributed to fresh political disturbances in India. To the poor cables were added an easier stock market and liquidation by recent buyers. Following an opening decline of 15 to 17 points prices continued to ease off until around midsession they showed losses compared with the previous close of 27 to 28 points. After mid-session the market was slightly steadier on the appearance of a storm in the southwest Gulf of Mexico which it was thought would bring considerable rain. The market fluctuated narrowly within the earlier range most of the afternoon and appeared to be without definite incentive in either direction. The close was steady. The general market showing net declines for the day of 23 to 24 points.

Liverpool came in 11 to 12 penny points worse than due and private cables reported that there was local and Bombay selling, as well as hedging. Manchester cabled that the cloth demand from China was being maintained.

Port receipts 6,500; for week 12,259; for season 44,368; last season 229,970. Exports 15,620; for week 25,795; for season 79,326; last season 119,607. Port stocks 2,728,434; last year 1,631,428. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 31,542; last year 32,081. Spot sales at southern markets 6,822; last year 20,074.

Coffee, Sugar, Rice.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Raw sugar was quiet today and as no sales were reported prices were nominally unchanged at 3.50 for spots duty paid.

Futures were irregular, with the near months relatively firm on covering by nervous shorts, while the later deliveries were easier under liquidation and hedge selling by houses with European connections. The market opened unchanged to 2 points lower and at one time was 1 to 4 points below the previous close. The closing was 4 points higher to 2 points net lower. Sales were 46,800 tons, including considerable exchanges from the near to the more distant positions. September closed 1.42; December and January 1.40; March 1.41; May 1.47; July 1.51.

Withdrawal demand for refined was fair but new business was light. Prices were unchanged at 4.75 for fine granulated with resale granulated available at from 5 to 10 points less.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—A higher opening in coffee futures today on some covering and trade buying was followed by rather irregular fluctuations with prices easing slightly in sympathy with an easier turn in Brazilian exchange. Brokers' Views

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—In relation to the quality of its news background the week's opening session tends to confirm previously indicated conclusions with respect to the market's internal strength and prospect for autumn recovery.

Further constructive effort was suspended out of consideration of restraining influence of local banking difficulties in a midwest city. Selling based upon recent fairly extended gains among leading stocks made little progress after requirements of a technical correction was met, however. Moreover, an apparent drive designed to seize upon unsettling news as a means for testing market was rebuked by an effective shrinkage of offerings.

DOBBS & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The failure of three large savings banks and trust companies in Toledo, involving deposits of $80,000,000, to open their doors today and decision of 11 savings and loan companies not to pay withdrawals, marked developments in the banking situation in Ohio that cannot be lightly dismissed.

Weakness in industrial leaders followed upon the news, and losses of 2 to 5 points were registered in such pivotal stocks as United States Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, etc. Electric Auto-Lite, with headquarters in Toledo, was weak, and at its low registered a loss of more than 4 points from Saturday's close.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Surface reason for abrupt reversal of the trend was the bank situation in Toledo. There was also rather pessimistic analysis of the English financial situation by a well-known statistical organization which possibly may have had some effect upon sentiment.

The interestin fact about the market, aside from weakness in the industrials, was sharp decline in the rails which disclosed the same thin markets which have prevailed in those stocks for weeks. They gave ground substantially on a relatively small turnover and at the close the Dow-Jones rail average was at a point where action will be closely watched, inasmuch as further declines will again threaten the June lows.

BEER & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The reports of large middle western banks closing was presumably responsible for a good deal of the selling which came into the market today though the swift advance last week had carried to a point calling for a setback soon in any case.

As we advised against buying on Saturday and this morning after the advance that had been made we would now counsel awaiting another rally before selling as far as the general list is concerned and in the event of further marked weakness in individual specialties would buy for another trading turn.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Being at a logical reaction point after a week of sharp advance today's market proved very sensitive to the news of the important banking failures in Toledo, Ohio. Professionals were again active on the decline and the easy manner in which Allied Chemical, Atchison, United States Steel, Case, American Can and New York Central slid off was suggestive of a somewhat weakened technical position resulting from last week's short covering.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 17.—Cotton was lower today due to selling induced by reactionary foreign markets and easier stocks. Weak Liverpool, where much liquidation from Bombay was reported probably on account of unsettled political conditions, gave us a poor opening. The early selling met with a good demand and the market held steady until stock market turned reactionary. This encouraged fresh selling and cotton values gave way further selling down to net losses of $1.25 a bale in New York and $1.40 in New Orleans. Profit-taking by early sellers rallied market a little in late trading but final sales were only a few points above lows. Worth Street reports material increase sales cotton goods notwithstanding decline raw cotton.

BEER & CO.

NEW YORK, Au . 17.—With most of the bullish factors which appeared in the latter half of last week having been discounted, the market this morning declined on poor Liverpool cables and a report that tropical hurricane had moved inland over the Yucatan peninsular with diminished intensity. Two additional tropical disturbances were reported today, one near the Barbadoes and the other near Porto Rico, both very small and of moderate intensity, neither of which affected the market perceptibly. The market continued dull during the afternoon, with a minor rally near the end, closing with net losses for the day of 6 to 8 points on active months.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 17.—Cotton averaged from 18 to 22 points lower in featureless trading due to easier tone of stock market and local selling. Weather details over the week-end showed heavy to light rains in Oklahoma, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and showers in other states. Purely a weather market with stocks and political advices playing a prominent part.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The market was practically lifeless all day long with the exception of the first few minutes on the opening, when the market registered a decline of approximately 15 points on lower Liverpool cables. Liverpool cabled that the decline was due principally to liquidation. It is quite natural to see our market ease off in view of the rally experienced last week. It is genrally conceded that, if the market went into new high ground, which it did on Saturday it was bound to meet selling. Despite the selling that did appear in the market, the trade absorbed considerable cotton. A good deal of buying was being done by Japanese interests.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: October 3.72, January 3.84.

Grain Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Strong Liverpool cables due to partial confirmation of Russian government plan to abolish food rationing early next year and fair response in Winnipeg caused a minor upturn here shortly after opening, but stimulation was only temporary and the slight advance met renewed selling of same character which has developed on every hard spot for a week past. September liquidation became a factor and resulted in further widening of discount under December and later months. The news as a whole was moderately bullish, there being very heavy lake shipments out of Chicago, total over week-end being 1,600,000.

TRADE TRENDS BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUTOMOBILES—Retail sales of new passenger automobiles in the United States during July are estimated by R. L. Polk & Co. at 202,510, based on actual figures covering 23 states which normally account for 41.53 per cent of the country's total. The estimate is slightly higher than the 201,911 passenger cars sold in June.

ELECTRICITY—Domestic use of electricity for light and power is increasing at the rate of nearly 12,000,000,000 kilowatt hours a year, or more than the entire sales of the electric light and power industry 20 years ago, a survey by the statistical research department of the National Electric Light Association says. This figure is based on a summary of total sales to ultimate consumers for the first six months of 1931, which show an increase in residential use of 7.2 per cent over the corresponding period in 1930, and 22.7 per cent over the first six months of 1929.

LUMBER—Orders for lumber were within 1 per cent of production during the week ended August 8, telegraphic reports from 840 leading hardwood and softwood mills to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association indicate. Production by these mills amounted to 205,389,000 feet. Their shipments were 3 per cent above production. A week earlier 834 mills reported orders 5 per cent below and shipments 7 per cent above a total production of 207,691,000 feet.

RAILWAY EQUIPMENT — The Chicago Railway Equipment Company, a division of the Franklin Steel Works, has started work on 10,000 steel brake beams for the Erie Railroad Company, the largest order the Franklin, Pa., plant has received in three years. The contract will provide three months' work for one mill.

SHEET STEEL—Total production of sheet steel for the month of July amounted to 174,890 net tons, with operation at 46.3 per cent of capacity, an increase compared with production of 147,843 net tons in June, with operations at 40.3 per cent. Unfilled tonnage as of August 1 showed a decline to 203,358 tons, from 304,107 tons as of July 1.

SILVER—Bar silver continued unchanged at the opening of the new week, holding at 27 1-8 cents an ounce in New York, and 12 5-8 pence in London.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Adversely affected by Toledo bank failures and by stock market unsettlement, prices of all grains turned downward today. Wheat was also weighed upon by 3,006,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply, making a new all-time peak total, 223,949,000 bushels against 175,020,000 a year ago. Persistent liquidating sales carried September corn down to a fresh bottom for the season.

Wheat closed nervous 1-4 to 1 cent lower than Saturday's finish, corn 3-8 to 7-8 down, oats 1-4 to 1-2 off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

Lowest prices of the day in wheat and corn came after word was circulated that state militia forces at Toledo were being held in readiness to quell possible disorders.

Corn and oats dipped with wheat despite the fact that corn primary receipts were only 849,000 bushels compared with 1,503,000 a year ago, and notwithstanding renewal of drouth complaints from various sections of the corn belt.

Provisions were governed mainly by the course of hog values.

Wall Street Briefs.

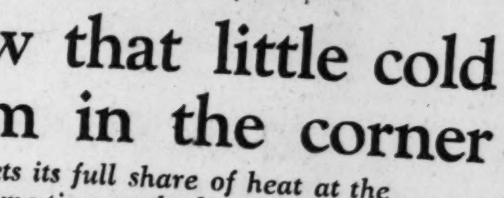

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Hygrade Food Products Corporation has purchased the business of the Sullivan Packing Company, of Detroit, a company with sales amounting to in excess of $5,000,000 annually. The purchase was made on a cash basis and included customers' accounts, brands, trademarks and good will, but did not include land, buildings or other fixed assets.

Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. plans to open four stores in Sears & Roebuck units within a month. Two stores will be opened in St. Louis and one each in Kansas City and Memphis.

The daily gold statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York today showed an increase of $2,000,000 in gold earmarked for foreign account. There were no imports or exports.

Returning from a two-month trip to Europe, Hubert P. Parson, president of F. W. Woolworth Company, said he found business conditions abroad, especially in France, showed some improvement. Commenting on the business of the parent company in the United States, he said that at the close of July the company's sales were less than half of 1 per cent behind last year, "and with a fair August we should be able to overcome this by the close of the month."

Aggregate net income for the first half this year reported by 335 typical industrial companies, amounts to $329,095,000, 48 per cent decline from the $631,733,000 reported by the same companies in the corresponding period last year, a survey by Standard Statistics Company says.

gets its full share of heat at the same time as the living room . . .

In the usual heating system radiators at a great distance from the boiler seldom get their share of steam. Likewise, those nearest the heater are oversupplied. That's uncomfortable, uneconomical and unnecessary. You can have your system "smoothed out", balanced, so that every radiator in the house, regardless of its distance from the boiler, gets heat at the same time and in the same proportion. It can be converted at a relatively small cost to an Improved Webster Type "R" System—the last word in heating efficiency and comfort. Call your own heating contractor today and have him explain this remarkable heating system. He will receive full cooperation from the Webster Branch Office in preparing his recommendations and estimates.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The bond market declined irregularly today, although it had a tendency to advance in the early trading. The average closing price of 30 representative corporate bonds was 93.1, a net loss of .2 of a point for the day.

The average of ten railroad issues was .6 of a point lower at 94.5, the equivalent of a new low record reached last Thursday. A long list of railroad bonds, which were the most active of the domestic issues, reached new low record prices and a still greater number closed lower for the day. Among the former group were: Baltimore & Ohio 4 1-2s of 1960, New York Central new 4 1-2s of 2013, and Southern general 4s.

Foreign obligations were highly irregular. Many of the sharpest fluctuations occurred in this group.

Public utility and industrial loans were less active than either the rail or foreign obligations and the downward trend among them was less marked.

Activity in loans of the United States government increased moderately and they closed firm.

Highlights of Wall Street

BY CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Speculative enthusiasm being generated in the stock market received quite a setback today when four banking institutions in Ohio announced their suspension. Word of the bank failures came at a most inopportune time from the viewpoint of those big speculative operators who for the last few days have been trying to encourage the purchase of stocks. The strong closing witnessed on Saturday had been expected to find reflection in a better and stronger market today, but enthusiasm for the rise was chilled with the official announcement of the bank closings in the middle west.

The unfavorable banking news dislodged stocks at the beginning of trading in such volume as to more than offset the accumulation of buying orders which occurred in brokerage offices over the week-end. American Can and United States Steel common broke sharply.

Transportation shares were also under pressure owing to the constant rise in opposition to the proposed freight rate increase. Losses in the industrials ranged from 2 to 5 points while the net declines in the rails ran from 2 to 6 points. Disappointment at the failure of the general market to continue upward also caused some speculators to take profits.

CASE BREAKS SHARPLY

J. I. Case, which led the general list upward last week, came in for considerable selling and closed with a net loss of more than 5 points. The ease with which this issue sold off left the impression that most of the advance last week was accomplished at the expense of the short interest.

A feeble rally occurred in the general list after midday, but the higher level of quotations induced additional selling and prices receded to what proved to be the lowest of the session. American Telephone & Telegraph was prominent for its heaviness in the afternoon selling and closed with a net decline of more than 4 points.

Apprehension relative to declaration of the regular dividend at the next board meeting has been dissipated and it is now believed that the next dividend declared by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. will be at the regular rate.

OIL SHARES STEADY

Relative steadiness was shown by the oil shares. Standard Oil of New Jersey, the recognized leader of this group, closed only fractionally lower. An advance in the price of Pennsylvania crude oil served to strengthen the belief that the recent measures adopted in Oklahoma and Texas to restrict production will be of material benefit in bringing about improvement in the oil industry.

An increased demand for stock of the Texas Corporation appeared due to the expected improvement in the oil situation in Texas and this resulted in an advance of half a point in the stock.

TWO $25,000 SUITS FOLLOW EXPLOSION

Two damage suits aggregating $50,000 were filed Monday in Fulton superior court against Wilson & Co. and the Atlanta Gas Light Company, as joint defendants, by two electricians as the result of an explosion said to have occurred at the Wilson company building at 475 Whitehall street on June 11.

The suits were brought by George E. Allen and J. A. Simpson, who allege that they were working at the Wilson concern when a lighted taper was thrown into an open oven where there was escaping gas and that the resulting explosion caused them personal injuries to the amount of $25,000 each. Negligence is charged to Wilson & Co. for an employe's action in throwing the lighted taper into the oven and against the gas company because it had inspected the oven earlier in the day and, according to the petition, had not found the alleged leak.

DULLNESS MARKS TRADING ON CURB

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Curb stocks declined irregularly today, but an equally significant fact was the dullness of trading. Sales totaled 220,000 shares compared with 270,000 shares in Saturday's two-hour session.

Such activity as developed today was concentrated largely among leading utility and a few well-known industrial issues. Electric Bond & Share was under pressure all the time and closed 1 3-4 points lower, one of the largest net losses among the active stocks. Cities Service, American & Foreign Power warrants and Utilities Power & Light common and B stocks ended the day lower. Duke Power jumped 5 1-2 points to 108 on a few transactions.

Aluminum of America and Aluminum, Ltd., suffered two of the largest losses among the industrials, 3 and 7, respectively. Philip Morris was active and firm. Woolworth, Ltd., lost fractions on sizeable sales.

Fluctuations among the oils were mixed. Standard of Indiana and Vacuum were moderately active and closed a little lower, as did Standard of Kentucky. Gulf and Galena were strong.

Atlas utilities was one of the most active investment trusts and it lost fractions after early firmness.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 68
By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Jason and Thoar traveled downward into the swamplands of Pellucidar. The two had become mutually attached to each other by their search for the beautiful Jana, whom, they believed, they would find in the lowlands of the Pheli people. Tarzan of the Apes, neither of them expected to see again. Yet all this while the ape-man had been living in the cave-city of the Clovi. As, obeying the command of Avan, the chief, Tarzan entered the dark cavern, a guard was posted before it.

These were ordered to keep Tarzan prisoner until the council had determined his fate. As the ape-man accustomed his eyes to the gloomy interior he saw it was of vast proportions. Upon pallets of straw, covered with hide, lay many warriors and a few women and children wrapped in slumber. In the subdued light coming from the entrance the ape-man silently moved along the cavern's walls, searching for the girl from Zoram.

There came to his ears a low whistle and moving in its direction Tarzan saw the Red Flower of Zoram. "You, too, are a prisoner?" she asked. "This, then, is our end! I do not know what they will do to you. I already know my fate, but I tell you, neither Carb nor any of his tribe shall have me!" As they talked, presently a warrior near them awakened and stretched himself. Walking around the cave he aroused the other warriors, saying to each, "Come, it is the time of the council."

Now in silence Tarzan and Jana awaited the doom that was to be pronounced upon them. Outside on the ledge the warriors sat in a great circle. There was much talk, boasting and argument such as even the lawmakers in this inner world thought necessary before a thing was decided. Suddenly Ovan, the chief's son, entered the cavern. Quickly he discovered Tarzan. Coming to him, the boy whispered: "The council has reached their decision. You, they would kill, and the girl goes to Carb, the warrior who captured her."

CHINA ASKS U. S. PRICE ON FARM BOARD WHEAT

Opens Informal Negotiations for Credit Purchase of Surplus.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Chinese government today began negotiations looking toward the purchase of farm board wheat for the relief of flood sufferers in the Yangtse river valley.

An informal inquiry was addressed to the state department to learn the amount of wheat available on credit terms. No definite proposition was included, however, either as to terms or quantity.

The communication, forwarded here by the American consulate at Nanking, was sent on to the farm board. The board controls more than 200,000,000 bushels of wheat.

While the board has had no opportunity to consider the informal inquiry of the Chinese government, Chairman Stone recalled today that he had held informal discussions with Minister Wu before the latter's resignation in which he outlined the terms acceptable to the board for wheat purchases. These took place several months ago.

Stone termed China the greatest potential market in the world for all commodities. He said, however, there must be continued improvement in its transportation system and a more stable government.

State department officials described the Chinese suggestion as having been on a "business basis," contemplating buying the undetermined quantity of wheat on credit. The grain stabilization corporation has sold several million bushels in the orient since spring.

AIR VIEWS

•••BY GENE HINTON•••

COUNCIL, preferring to let its finance committee look into the financial arrangements which have been perfected for the erection of a $50,000 administration building at Candler field, put off for another three weeks final decision on one of the most vital projects in the history of our airport. On the face of it, the proposition which has been tendered by American Airways, Inc., seems to be much more advantageous to the city than to the transport company which has agreed to advance the necessary funds. It is apparent that the city is unable to build the structure without outside assistance; not to accept such aid at a time when the very future of the airport is at stake and when another airport building project, involving $75,000, is being held up pending council's favorable action, would be the height of folly.

Major General James E. Fechet, chief of the army air corps, accompanied by several members of his staff, will land at Candler field in the neighborhood of 9 o'clock this morning, bound for Shreveport, La., and Galveston and Brownsville, Texas. Major General Frank R. McCoy, commander of the Fourth Corps Area, will join the air corps chief's party here and fly with it on its inspection tour of army centers in the south. General Fechet will fly in a Consolidated Fleetster, piloted by Lieutenant Oliver K. Robbins. His ship will be accompanied by another Fleetster, flown by Lieutenant Leland Stranathan.

On the tour which will leave Bolling field, Washington, shortly after daybreak this morning, General Fechet will be making probably his final inspection of the army's air activities in this area. The veteran flier (he pilots himself on many of his official trips) in a few months will be retired as head of the air corps after many years of loyal and conscientious service, and will be succeeded by Brigadier General Benjamin D. Foulois. The latter, who took a prominent part in the recent air corps maneuvers around New York, will assume the rank of major general when he takes over the post of chief, a few months hence.

Beeler Blevins, of the Blevins Aircraft Corporation, plans to take off Friday or Saturday in Asa G. Candler's Lockheed Orion and fly to the Lockheed factory at Burbank, Cal., where a radio will be installed in the speedy low-wing monoplane. The apparatus, which will provide communication from ground to plane but will give Blevins no opportunity to talk back to those sending out weather data and other useful information, has been ordered for some time and will be ready for installation when the Lockheed reaches the Burbank field. The receiving set is similar to those which have been installed in Eastern Air's mail planes.

Old-timers will be interested in the visit here tonight to V. E. Chenea, who will be remembered by them as the traffic manager of Florida Airways, Inc., which was inaugurated in the spring of 1926, flourished for a few months and then died, a victim to that era's lack of interest in scheduled air operation. When the inaugural plane made its first landing on Candler field in May, 1926, fully 15,000 Atlantans were jammed into the 1,500-foot triangular plot which then comprised the local airport. The plane took off on the first flight at Miami and Postmaster E. K. Large joined it at Jacksonville for the flight to Atlanta.

During its brief existence Florida Airways used OX-powered Travel Air biplanes for the carrying of the mail and numbered among its pilots at least two airmen who later became widely known throughout the country. These were Carl Ben Eielson, who lost his life during a rescue expedition to the frozen north, and Leonard Flo, who now operates a commercial flying service in Michigan and who is one of the country's best known pilots. Since leaving Atlanta upon the collapse of the pioneering route, Chenea served as assistant traffic manager of the Pan American Airways.

The air corps reserve hangar at Candler field, for the last six weeks a veritable beehive of aerial activity and industry, Monday was virtually depopulated, the last of the reserve officers in the camp which ended Saturday having wended their way homeward. Under the guidance of Lieutenant Raymond R. Brown, air officer for the fourth corps area, and Lieutenant Edward A. Hillery, of Fort Bragg, N. C., the three camps here established a composite record probably never before equalled in the history of southern reserve camps: every reserve officer was able to solo before the completion of his tour of active duty. This could have been accomplished only by the watchful interest of the two regular army officers and by the fact that those in training were given ample opportunity to fly. It is estimated that each officer in attendance here was given total solo "time" of 28 hours.

CITY PRIMARY DATE TO BE SET THURSDAY

Date for the city primary is expected to be set at a special meeting of the city democratic committee called for 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the city council chamber, it was announced Monday by Dr. Samuel Green, chairman.

Dr. Green said that an amendment to the rules extending the time until November 1 probably will be offered out of deference to the several ward reduction plans now pending in the general assembly. Present rules call for the primary before October 1. Dr. Green believes this would not give enough time for campaigns.

What city officials are to be nominated will depend on action of the assembly, because if the Key ward reduction plan is approved as voted by the Atlanta electorate there will be few up for election.

J. Hanson Tatum, city clerk, urged prospective voters to register. There are only about 11,000 registered at present as against 26,000 last year, the city's high-water mark.

Dr. Green said nepotism will be abolished among poll managers and also that relatives of candidates will not be permitted to serve.

"We are going to do everything possible to raise the primary beyond any possible just criticism," he said. "There are several papers which will help do this, and we feel they should be made effective this year."

FAMILY DESERTER FACES EXTRADITION

Extradition of Walter McEntire, 36, operator of a Cascade avenue restaurant, on charges of abandoning his wife and three children, who live in the Bronx, New York city, was granted Monday at a special hearing by Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. McEntire will be returned by Wiliam Kelley, member of the New York homicide squad who for several weeks has been connected with the office of the district attorney as a special investigator.

McEntire is charged with abandoning his family in 1928, for which he was given a suspended sentence of one to two years and a fine of $1,000, the suspension being held conditional on his good behavior and payment of $25 weekly to the support of his children. In February, 1930, he abandoned his family for the second time, it is charged, and came to Atlanta, where he set up a restaurant on Cascade avenue. He was arrested by city detectives and Kelley was sent to get him, but extradition was delayed several months. The charge constitutes a felony in New York state.

THREE ATLANTANS TO SHARE IN ESTATE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Captain William H. Graves, 98, retired Birmingham capitalist, who died July 29 at his summer home in Asheville, N. C., left an estate valued at $300,000, a part of which has been left to three Atlantans.

His will, made public here today, provides that $7,500 be given each of three sons of Mrs. Florida W. Smith, of Atlanta, grandsons of Captain Graves.

A granddaughter, Mrs. Eleanor Matthews Whitworth, Nashville, Tenn., also is to receive a similar amount. The remainder of the estate has been divided between other relatives here.

Graves, Edward Jr. and Addison Smith, beneficiaries in the will of the late Captain Graves, of Birmingham, are sons of Edward D. Smith, general counsel for the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. here, who was named as executor of the will. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are at present in Hot Springs, Ark. They reside at 19 West Pace's Ferry road.

BARONS 1; PEBBLES 0.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 17.—Birmingham and Little Rock went scoreless for 11 innings today before Joe Prerost, Baron outfielder, singled with the bases loaded to defeat the Pebbles, 1 to 0. Prerost delivered his blow after Bancroft worked Nugent for a walk, Moore and Susko grounded out and Weis and Gooch were purposely walked, filling the bases. It was Jimmy Walkup's seventeenth victory of the season.

NEAR PERFECT GAME.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 17.—(AP) If one man had not reached first base on a walk, Jim Soward, former Southeastern league hurler, would have hurled a perfect baseball game here today. He allowed no hits and no runs in a Pensacola City league game. Soward's team won, 3 to 0.

his string to 15 straight and a record of 24 out of 26. The big left-hander needs five more in a row to top Marquard's dizzy figures, which the Cubs finally halted in Chicago.

If Grove can win five in a row he undoubtedly will set the fanciest pitching mark the game has known, for he will then finish the season with something like 29 or 30 victories against only two or three defeats.

Mack's main cannoneer has at least two important records to shoot at and he may also be the first big league pitcher to win 30 games since Jim Bagby handed Cleveland 31 victories 11 years ago.

Changing Days.

There was a time when the home ball club had to be in the thick of the pennant race this late in the season to lure out as many as 20,000 fans. On Sunday the Giants were 9 1-2 games back of the Cardinals with only a few weeks left, and yet they not only drew 58,000 to the park but turned more than 5,000 away.

Here is a strong indication that baseball has moved beyond the exclusive thought of a home club pennant. There are more thousands today who are interested in high-class baseball, for the sake of the game itself, than ever before.

The Cubs played before 20,000 in Boston, although the Braves are far out of the race, struggling for a lean chance to finish at the bottom of the first division. One of the main answers to all this is an admission price from 50 cents to $1 with high-class talent in action.

The two British women tennis players who ceased firing abruptly after each had won a set in the eastern championship at least inserted some pepper into one of the few drab sporting spots of the summer. Larger and more rasping arguments are always worth the price.

SCRAMBLE IS SEEN FOR AMATEUR TITLE

word comes from Detroit to watch out for Koscis, the high school chap who recently beat Tommy Armour in the play-off for the Michigan open championship.

Lawson Little will make another bid for fame, and little Johnny Goodman, who continues to be the sensation of the middle west, will be the choice of many to win the championship.

Don't count Chicago entirely out of the championship. They have 22 golfers shooting in the qualifying round and fellows like Johnny Lehman, Don Armstrong, Jack Westland, Ira Couch, Dick Martin, Russ Martin, and a few others who know Beverly like a book and may flash through with scores good enough to qualify and then proceed to knock off a few of the favorites once match play gets under way.

There is one thing certain—no lucky golfer will win at Beverly. Every golf hole requires a series of golf shots. The rough is fair, but the traps are numbered by the hundreds and placed in spots where bad shots are always penalized and the greens must be stroked with a firm touch.

RED SOX 3; CHISOX 2.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Jack Russell and Bob Weiland shared honors of a stirring pitchers' battle today, but Pat Caraway's early ineffectiveness was fatal to the White Sox, and Boston took the final of the series, 3 to 2. It was their third win in the four games and enabled them to tie Chicago for sixth position.

Caraway was blasted from the mound in the second before anyone was out and Weiland went in to retire the next 20 batters in order. But Russell was seldom in trouble and pulled through to win.
